NEWS FROM Joliet prison, Illinois: One convict says the regulation price for getting "turned out" on account of "excellent moral character" is $300. He may exaggerate the amount. One prison guard took a convict, with money, "on a drinking bout to Chicago." He says he wanted to ingratiate himself with a "power house gang" in the prison; the convict, whom he had taken on a spree, threatened to "riddle me to pieces like Loeb was cut."

"MEN AND GODS in Mongolia," published by Dutton, is worth reading. Mongolians, under Jenghis Khan and other leaders, went conquering over Europe, almost made themselves masters of the world, would have done so had they been able to think as well as they could fight.

They might do that again, led by Japanese or Russians with flying machines instead of long-haired ponies.

AMONG THESE PEOPLE you are severely punished if you "pull out a woman's hair or tear the tassel from her hat."

In one Mongolian tribe, the magician's couldron is more deadly than that of MacBeth's witches. First, the magician must capture a serpent, "that had swallowed a young girl bearing her first child, unborn," then boil snake, girl and unborn child together.

MR. JOHN L. LEWIS, able leader of the miners union, promised his men platinum watches if they would stick to him. Next day the union increased his salary from $12,000 to $25.000 a year, which would let Mr. Lewis buy two platinum watches, one for each vest pocket. Mr. Lewis declined to accept the increase, telling the men for himself and other union officials, "your officers will carry on at their present salaries." The Associated Press reports "a large group of delegates had protested against the increases, pointing to the poverty of many miners."

There is no worse economy than underpaying good men.

ISADORE BLUMENFELD, nickname, "Kid Cann," accused of murdering Walter Liggett, Minnesota editor, refused to testify on Friday, an unlucky day. Amusing superstition in 1936 that once would have been taken seriously.

At the battle of Marathon, where they might have won immortal glory the Spartans were missing. It was a holy day, they could do no fighting until after sundown. Meanwhile, Persia was beaten and the first Marathon runner was on his way to Athens.

WHITE RENEWS HIS PLEDGE TO BRING INDUSTRY TO STATE

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Mississippi's industrialist governor, Hugh L. White, renewed his pledge to "balance agriculture with industry" in Mississippi today as he turned the first shovel of dirt to start construction of a shirt factory in Crystal Springs.

Governor White was not alone in predicting "the dawn of a new day in Mississippi" as this Copiah county city celebrated the coming of a textile plant which will employ 300 workmen.

United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, addressing the large crowd here for the "ground-breaking" ceremonies, agreed that "brighter things are in store for Mississippi."

The junior senator, speaking in the home town of his senior senate colleague, Senator Pat Harrison, with whom he "broke" ten days ago and threatened to fight against him in the senatorial campaign, did not mention Senator Harrison today.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON STOLEN FROM LIBRARY

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The youth who stole tomorrow's Sunday school lesson from the Sunday School Times, a weekly magazine on file in the public library, may be proficient in class tomorrow, but he or she will have to do considerable reconciling of conscience.

"Jesus Insists on Righteousness," happens to be the subject of tomorrow's lesson, according to Librarian Ethel O. Baker, who discovered that the lesson was missing.

ONE MAN KILLED, ANOTHER GRAVELY INJURED IN CRASH

SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE AND NUMBER OF BRUISES

Jack Murphy, Dazed By Blow, Wanders For Hours Near Scene Of Mishap

Chester Wagoner, 30, of Calhoun, was fatally injured, and Jack Murphy, who resides on the Cheniere road a short distance off the Dixie-Overland highway, was seriously hurt Saturday morning about 12:30 o'clock when the cars they were driving crashed head-on about seven miles from Monroe on the Ruston highway.

Wagoner died about 8:30 o'clock Saturday night at a local hospital.

Suffering from a severe fracture at the base of the skull, Wagoner was brought to the hospital in an ambulance about 1 o'clock Saturday morning. He was also bruised on the face and head and was suffering from an injury to his left hand. A spinal puncture was performed by the man's physician to relieve the blood pressure on the brain.

According to information obtained by State Highway Officers B. Poimboeuf and Gus Toombs, who investigated the accident, Wagoner and Murphy were alone in their cars at the time the collision occurred. Wagoner was rendered unconscious and Murphy was so badly dazed that he was unaware of what had taken place and wandered around for more than three hours before he appeared, about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, at the Calloway home on the Cheniere road, where he was put to bed and treated by a physician.

Murphy was said to be suffering chiefly from cuts and bruises and from a jaw injury, which was said probably to involve a fracture.

The first persons to arrive at the

DECISION ON TVA IS SEEN MONDAY

Members Of Supreme Court Are Believed Split In Opinions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Government officials expressed confidence tonight that the supreme court certainly would announce on Monday a decision—probably split—in the Tennessee valley act case.

They pointed to the 53 days that will have elapsed since argument of the dispute over the government's "yardstick" program to measure the proper cost of electricity to consumers.

Other New Deal cases this term have been decided from 20 to 34 days after arguments. The "gold clause" cases, last term, required only 39 days.

But only the justices and a few

HUNGRY WOLF PACK PURSUES FARM BOY WITH LOAD OF MEAT

DEVILS LAKE, N. D., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A farm boy reported today that a pack of wolves, gaunt with hunger, pursued him as he drove to town with a load of milk and meat today, but the speed of his horses carried him out of reach.

Raymond Rutten Crary told the story on his arrival here. As he was driving along the lake bottom seven miles from town, he explained, seven wolves, the leader a huge timber wolf, emerged from the brush and started in pursuit.

Crary's horses, frightened, broke in a run. The youth said that at times the wolves were so close he considered throwing out the supply of meat but the animals were outdistanced after a two-mile run.

Heavy snows and severe cold have hampered the wolves' rabbit hunting.

COURT FINDS BARTENDER GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Pete Boudreaux, a bartender charged with the night club slaying of Absie Cormier, 28, was found guilty today of "manslaughter as charged in the bill," by a jury of 12 in district court. The shooting which proved fatal to Cormier occurred last December 15 at the saloon at which Boudreaux worked near Toomey, La., on the Old Spanish Trail.

MID-WEST SNOW DRIFTS BURY CARS, HALT TRAINS

Snow storms preceding a sub-zero wave closed many highways and blocked railroad traffic in sections of the middle west. Drifts six to eight feet deep buried automobiles (top) near Algonquin, Ill., and stalled a gigantic snowplow that came to their rescue. Below, is shown a Chicago and Northwestern train blocked near Jackson, Wis., with 89 passengers aboard. All took refuge in a four-room hotel nearby. (Associated Press Photos)

SIX MEN ESCAPE KENTUCKY PRISON

Another Successful Break Made From Frankfort Reformatory

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Warden Elmer Deatherage announced tonight that James Morris and three other convicts who escaped with him yesterday from the state reformatory here have been recaptured and are being held at Beattyville. Deatherage said the fugitivs would be returned in the morning.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Six convicts escaped from the Frankfort reformatory here today, close upon the heels of the four who drove off in a taxicab yesterday and the killing of another convict by a fellow prisoner.

While the four who got away yesterday were being sought in the hills of eastern Kentucky, reports reached here that the six who got away today had been seen near Monterey in Owen county, and state police rushed to surround them.

The guards at the prison were augmented by state police upon orders of Gov. A. B. Chandler, who with Attorney General B. M. Vincent hurried to the place to investigate. Guards and employes were questioned during the afternoon by the attorney general under orders from the governor

EMERGENCY SESSION OF ALABAMA SOLONS CALLED BY GOVERNOR

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Proclaiming an "emergency" in Alabama, Gov. Bibb Graves tonight formally summoned the state legislature to meet in extraordinary session next Tuesday to consider revenue measures, reduction of automobile licenses, truck legislation and a division of the state's social security and labor programs.

Revenue measures certain to draw paramount attention at the session include a general sales tax bill and legislation to legalize the sale of whisky, beer and wine.

Under the broad terms of the call, all revenue measures may be passed by a simple majority. Measures not included in the governor's call require a two-thirds majority at extraordinary sessions.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSED BY SPINAL MENINGITIS

HARLAN, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—An outbreak of spinal meningitis in various sections of Harlan county today had closed schools in five districts, and caused quarantine restrictions to be placed upon public meeting places.

Reports here said 10 deaths have been attributed to the disease. Between 20 and 30 cases have been reported to Dr. W. P. Cawood, county health officer.

Weather Warmer Here In Spite Of Colder Forecast

Despite the fact that a cold wave was predicted yesterday for this section of the state, Monroe last night was enjoying one of the mildest days it has seen in some time. The forecast for the night had predicted a temperature of 12 to 20 degrees above zero.

At a late hour a chill wind had set up, indicating the cold wave would strike just a little later than expected.

Based upon the forecast made yesterday morning saying a freeze was headed this way, a later prediction said today's weather would be cloudy and considerably colder.

The maximum temperature for the 24-hour period ending yesterday morning was 59 and the minimum 34, according to Miss Kate Key, government weather observer.

PRESIDENT MAKES SPEECH TO SCOUTS

Thousands Of Boys Rally Around Standards To Hear Their Chief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Thousands of Boy Scouts throughout the nation rallied around their troop standards tonight to hear President Roosevelt usher in the second quarter of a century of scouting.

Speaking from the White House, the president—honorary president of the scouts—told them in a radio message that scouting taught them respect for law, resourcefulness and the way to health.

The Boy Scout movement was launched in Washington 26 years ago under the leadership of William Boyce of Chicago. Tonight hundreds of the capital's scouts assembled in historic Constitution hall to participate in a pageant depicting the growth of the organization.

Hundreds of other rallies were held in all parts of the country. In New York 6,000 gathered in the 102nd engineers' armory with their parents and friends for a "scout circus."

In his talk the president expressed

FIRE CHIEF RODDY'S CAR STOLEN SATURDAY NIGHT

Charles A. Roddy, son of Fire Chief Frank J. Roddy went to St. Francis sanitarium Saturday night to visit his wife and new-born daughter. When he returned to the hospital parking ground he discovered that his father's automobile, which he had driven to the hospital, was stolen.

The car is a 1936 model Buick sedan painted black and has Louisiana license number 276-465. Police officers were on the lookout for the automobile last night.

DUCE DECLARES WAR MAY COME

Says British Turned Colonial Conquest Into Possible World Disaster

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The Sunday Observer in an interview today quoted Premier Mussolini as saying the British "have turned a colonial war into what may yet be a world-wide disaster."

The interview was with Sir Arnold Wilson, a member of parliament.

Referring to the now dead Hoare-Laval peace proposal, Il Duce was quoted:

"I had already a cautious formula of acceptance as a basis of negotiation when the news came that you gentlemen in London who had praised Sir Samuel Hoare so highly in September had dismissed him with ignominy December 19.

"As a direct result of your action much Ethiopian and some Italian blood must be spent. You have prolonged the war. A great responsibility lies on you."

Sir Arnold said Mussolini "looked tired but robust." Stories, he continued, of "his impending decay or demise may safely be ignored," for he will "remain at the helm until the hand of death removes him."

Il Duce told him trade would not

OFFICES AT CAPITOL READY FOR ARRIVAL OF LOUISIANA SOLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Capital offices for Mrs. Huey P. Long were polished today in anticipation of her arrival to take the oath Monday as senator to succeed her late husband.

Mrs. Long's secretary, Earle J. Christenberry, who also was her husband's secretary, had Mrs. Long's office shifted from the first floor to the third floor in the senate office building.

Although her husband's activities required a suite of five rooms, Mrs. Long's regulation three-room office will be adquate, Christenberry said.

Christenberry said her two sons would accompany Mrs. Long here for the ceremonies attending her entrance into the senate, but that the older son, Russell, would return immediately to Louisiana State university. The younger son, Palmer Reid, probably will enter a military school in Virginia, Christenberry said.

GAS WELL COMPLETED IN HEART OF RODESSA AREA

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The United Gas Public Service company completed their Tyson No. 3 in the heart of the Rodessa oil field as a gasser today.

Operators said that either a mistake had been made in setting casing or that a sharp geological "saddle" had been discovered.

Washington Circles Shocked By Death Of Former Vice President

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD IN KANSAS ON NEXT TUESDAY

Ex-Statesman Left Indian Tepee To Scale Heights Of U. S. Honors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles Curtis, former vice president, who left an Indian tepee to scale the heights of American public office, died unexpectedly of a heart attack today at the age of 76.

For 40 years he had been in the thick of Republican political combat, and, despite his age, death came just as he was planning a return to the arena as champion of his old friend and fellow Kansan, Governor Alf M. Landon, for the presidency.

His passing shocked the capital. Expressions of regret from those now high in the government quickly attested a popularity which took no account of the party lines. President Roosevelt said he was "deeply distressed."

Senator Capper, also of Kansas, one of the first to call at the home which Curtis shared with his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, announced the funeral would take place Tuesday at Topeka. The body, he said, would leave Washington tomorrow night.

For several days Curtis had been suffering from a cold. This morning he seemed much improved, and, encouraged, Mrs. Gann went shopping. Sometime afterward, Curtis suffered a heart attack. A frightened maid phoned Mrs. Gann to return at once and called Dr. George E. Calver, congressional physician.

Both rushed to the shrubbery-surrounded house in Cleveland park, but the former vice president was dead before either arrived. Dr. Calver re-

LEADERS PREPARE SOIL BILL MOVE

Concentrate Energies Towards Pushing Plan Through Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Administration leaders concentrated all their energies today toward pushing the soil conservation subsidy bill through congress next week as the spearhead of a drive toward adjournment by May 1.

In the face of an amendment rush and an assertion by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, that the AAA replacement measure was not a farm bill but a proposal to "carry out the ideas of Tugwell and Wallace," Chairman Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, of the agriculture committee said he had plenty of votes to block an opposition recommittal move.

Smith added that the legislation would be sent to the house by Wed-

PEEK URGES SALE OF CROPS BEFORE SLASHING ACREAGE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—George N. Peek, former administrator of the agricultural adjustment administration, told the Southern Commissioners of Agriculture association here today the United States should try to sell its farm products before attempting to restrict crop acreage.

"As a nation," he said, "we have declined to trade. It does not follow that to increase our imports would add to the growth of exports. There is complaint of lack of dollar exchange, but there has been complete dollar exchange for the past two years, but it was not used to buy goods or pay off debts. It has been used to build up balances. The only method open seems to be to negotiate with country after another."

MAN ASPHYXIATED, MANY OTHERS MADE ILL BY GAS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Illuminating gas asphyxiated one man today and made nearly 50 other persons ill.

The gas killed Howard Murphy, a garage watchman, in a pipe break in the northeast section of the city. Peter Newell, 43, who was with him, was affected seriously.

KIDNAP EVIDENCE AGAIN QUESTIONED

Governor Again Says Effort Planned To Find All Guilty Persons

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, who reprieved Bruno Richard Hauptmann to permit a police search for possible accomplices, questioned again today the evidence used to convict Hauptmann.

In a formal statement before leaving for a hospital where he underwent an operation for removal of a nasal obstruction, the governor said New Jersey had assumed "full responsibility" for prosecution of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case to its conclusion and that every effort would be made to "bring all persons involved in this horrible crime to the bar of justice.

"Any unprejudiced person reading the statements and testimony of New Jersey's chief witnesses for the prosecution must be convinced if they were telling the truth," he said, "that there are other persons involved in this crime, and must agree that no enforcement agency is justified in 'holding up' while there is still so much to be solved in this case.

"If the statements and the testimony of these witnesses are unreliable—and it must be if there are no other persons involved in this crime—it then seems to me that it will be a great miscarriage of justice to send a human being to the electric chair upon evidence that was largely supplied by these people."

Once before—on January 17, the day following the 90-day reprieve—the governor listing reasons for reprieving Hauptmann, questioned "the truthfulness and mental competency of some of the chief witnesses for the state."

Asked if the new statement presaged a further reprieve when the present one expires next Saturday the governor's office said it did not. The governor was represented as unmoved from his previous announcement that no further reprieve would be granted unless he and Attorney General David T. Wilentz agreed one was necessary.

DOCTORS INCREASE DIET OF 15-OUNCE CALIFORNIA INFANT

Nancy Lee's ration of mother's milk was increased from 45 drops an hour to 75 drops every hour and a half. Lactose solution feedings were started, being administered between the milk feedings.

Hospital attendants said the six-day-old premature tot was holding her own, but that the critical period would not end for three or four days.

All food was administered through a rubber tube "life line" directly to the stomach. A medicine dropper previously used as a feeding instrument was abandoned yesterday.

GOVERNOR NOE IS GIVEN LICENSE PLATE NO. 1

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Governor James A. Noe announced today receipt of a letter from Mrs. O. K. Allen, widow of the late governor, congratulating him on his appointment of Mrs. Huey P. Long to fill the unexpired term in the United States senate to which Governor Allen had been elected.

Mrs. Allen also sent Governor Noe automobile license plates Nos. 1 and 2 "to be used on your cars as governor of Louisiana."

"This was discussed at the beginning of the year and Governor Allen expresed the wish that you have these license plates should he take his seat in the senate, and I am sure he would want you to have them now," Mrs. Allen said in the letter.

ATTACK QUICKLY PARALYZES RAIL, HIGHWAY LANES

400 PERSONS MAROONED IN KANSAS SCHOOLHOUSE

Mercury Drops Below Zero As Far South As Texas; Suffering Intense

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A blizzard, whirling along a wave of sub-zero cold, howled out of the west tonight in winter's bitterest assault of the year.

Racing 38 miles an hour across eastern Iowa bound for the lake states, it plummeted temperatures 20 to 30 degrees, paralyzed rail and highway transportation, and added from two to six inches of new covering on the two foot of snow already on the ground in that state.

Additional deaths, a general interruption of traffic schedules, new misery and suffering were reported all over the plain states as the mercury dropped under zero as far south as Texas.

The onslaught of the storm was so swift that 400 persons, attending a dedication, were marooned all night in a school house at Radium, Kas.

Further west, temperatures moderated after Friday's sudden storm brought Denver its coldest day since 1876—minus 25—and three deaths from highway accidents in that state.

But the western storm was due to reach Indiana during the night and speed on to Ohio, the central forecast office said.

Along the Atlantic coast, shipping was delayed by storms and New York was awaiting a blizzard predicted for Sunday, unless conditions changed.

A half dozen freight trains were buried in Iowa snowdrifts and as many or more through passenger trains were held up at stations while the storm raged. Only through trains moved in Nebraska, and rail service was seriously affected in southern Minnesota, and South Dakota.

Because of the drifts highways to the lignite mines in South Dakota were blocked and a serious shortage of fuel threatened towns in the northwestern section. Similar plights were reported many other places. Maitland, Mo., caught in its worst storm of the season without fuel, appeal to Gov. Parks who ordered two carloads shipped. Kewanee, Ill., bins were exhausted and miners found it difficult to get to work because of a heavy snow.

In Franklin county, Ill., however, one of the midwest's big producing centers, all but one colliery worked full blast.

Sub-zero readings dotted eastern states also. At Saranac Lake, N. Y., a village thermometer dropped to 26 below and then evidently quit trying, for it shot up to 42 plus. At Davis, West Va., it was minus 30, and at negro mountain CCC camp, 80 miles from Pittsburgh, 24 below. Among the points to register their record was Lemmon, S. D., -43. Pampa, Texas, reported 7 below and Maryville, Mo., another community facing a fuel famine, 10 below.

Pennsylvania saw coal prices rising as the temperatures dropped.

COUNT OF COVADONGA IS STRENGTHENED BY BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS

HAVANA, Feb 8.—(AP)—The 28-year-old count of Covadonga, strengthened by injections of the blood of commoners, appeared tonight to be recovering from a near-fatal attack of hemophilia.

Physicians reported that the count, who renounced his rights to the Spanish throne to wed a Cuban commoner, was resting easily after a good sleep.

Blood injections were continued during the day. These injections and a transfusion from two Cuban women and a Cuban man, they said, saved the life of the former crown prince.

GREASY VALLEY, Ark., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Francis Robersons of this little Logan county hamlet, are loyal New Dealers.

Their triplet sons, born Monday, today were named Franklin, Delano and Roosevelt. Dr. W. M. Wear, attending physician, said they are normal and healthy.

scene following the accident were Leonard Rice of Shreveport and Bryceland Windham, living on the Cheniere road. Rice summoned an ambulance.

Eugene Lutz, driver of the ambulance, said when he arrived at the scene of the accident, Rice and Windham were preparing to place Wagoner in their automobile to take him to a hospital. The men said they had looked around and had been unable to find anyone else in or near the wrecked automobiles, leading to the conclusion that Murphy had wandered away before they arrived.

Lutz said he had received a call for an accident said to have taken place only a short distance west of the Dixie tourist camp and that he thought of turning back when he failed to find any wrecked cars near the place. He decided, however, to keep going and drive five or six miles farther before reaching the scene of the accident.

Wagoner was in the sanitarium several hours before his identity was established. He was identified by his sister-in-law, Miss Esther Lenard, of Brownville.

Wagoner had been employed by the Louisiana highway department for about six years. Recently in this capacity he had been driving a caterpillar tractor.

Because of the difficulty encountered in establishing Wagoner's identity, his wife did not learn of the accident until late Saturday morning.

Highway officers had been unable to determine definitely what caused the collision. They said that fronts of both cars were folded up like accordions, showing the cars had met head-on at a rapid rate of speed.

Wagoner was driving his own car, while that driven by Murphy was said to have been owned by H. P. Carter, living on the Cheniere road.

The fatally injured man is survived by his mother, widow and three children.

Funeral services for Wagoner will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of relatives at Brownville, located at 2408 Jonesboro road. Reverend Strong of Calhoun will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. W. T. Hemphill of Brownville. Burial will be made in the Mount Olive cemetery.

The active pallbearers will be Dr. F. P. Rizzo, Dr. Irving J. Wolff, Percy Thompson, Judd Bryan, J. Q. Green, Ben Crawford, Fred Hill, Milton Coverdale and Mr. O'Quinn of Calhoun.

disappointment that the scout jamboree which was to have been held here last summer had to be cancelled because of an epidemic of infantile paralysis in nearby states.

He disclosed, however, that the scouts' national executive committee had fixed the early summer of 1937 as the time for holding the postponed jamboree which is expected to be attended by scouts from all over the world.

Speaking of the close of the silver jubilee year and the beginning of the 26th year of scouting, the president said:

"I have always believed in our scout training for the boys and young men of our country. It encourages them to get out into the open, to develop good health habits, to encourage initiative and resourcefulness. It affords opportunity for a great variety of useful services. It teaches respect for the law. It assists materially in the proper building of character and habits of life."

turned to the capital, called newspaper men and handed them a brief statement:

"The Honorable Charles Curtis, former vice president of the United States of America, died of a heart attack at 10:25 this date."

Meanwhile in the living room of the home, Mrs. Gann walked back and forth until immediate members of the family had been notified.

"He died easily," she said. "I'm so glad he didn't suffer."

Then she retired to her room weeping.

From the White House, President Roosevelt issued a statement:

"I am deeply distressed to learn of the sudden passing of my old friend, Charles Curtis. Whether they knew him as a senator, as the vice president of the United States, or as the man that he was in his own right, his legion of friends will remember him, always affectionately, and will mourn his passing."

"I was always fond of him," said Vice President Garner. "I was associated with him in the house and then the senate. He was a fine man and a good friend."

Curtis' successor as Republican leader, Senator McNary of Oregon, praised him as "a quiet and yet successful Republican leader" and a "popular and efficient officer when he was vice president." He added:

"He was an able and loveable character."

The present Democratic leader, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, called the Kansan "an outstanding factor in public affairs," while Speaker Byrns said "he rendered long and distinguished service to his country and was a splendid public servant," whose "death will be universally mourned."

Curtis' political career knew defeats as well as significant victories before the Roosevelt landslide swept him out of office with President Hoover in 1932. In an active lifetime, the high points were:

1884—Elected prosecutor of Shawnee county, Kansas.
1892—Elected to the house of representatives.
1907—Elected to the senate.
1912—Defeated to reelection.
1914—Returned to the senate.
1924—Became Republican leader of the senate.
1928—Elected to the vice presidency with Herbert Hoover.
1932—Defeated seeking reelection.

These dates sketch a saga of success, described by Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, today as an "epic of American opportunity."

Curtis was born in 1860, on a farm near north Topeka, the son af a Kansas pioneer, Capt. Orren A. Curtis who had married a girl of Indian descent. Curtis, himself was one-eighth Kaw Indian, the only person of such ancestry ever elected to the vice presidency.

Curtis was still an infant when his mother died and his wrinkled old Indian grandmother, Julie Poppin, daughter of Chief White Plume of the Kaws, took him in charge. He spent his boyhood on the Kaw reservation. He liked that life so much that once, later, he wanted to return to it but was dissuaded.

At 15, he left the reservation. An expert hand with horses, he quickly found employment as a jockey on Kansas race tracks.

After a year or so as a jockey, he went to school, supporting himself by driving a hack in the evening, and then studied law. As county prosecutor, he crusaded against vice and achieved such a reputation that he was readily elected to congress.

WOMAN COLLAPSES

Leona Newman, negro woman living in West Monroe, was taken to St. Francis sanitarium in an ambulance about 11 o'clock Saturday morning, after she had collapsed on the sidewalk in front of a West Monroe drug store. She apparently was suffering from ptomaine poisoning, as she had eaten some sausage she said "didn't taste right" a short time before.

Army Hopes To Take Jar Out Of Plane Nose-Overs

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Army, borrowing an idea from the dare-devil's polo automobile, hopes soon to take the jar out of airplane nose-overs, thus saving the necks of its pilots.

A board of officers, who sat in the cockpit of an old pursuit plane's fuselage while a crane flipped it onto its back, has submitted its report and recommendations to Washington, officers at Wright Field said tonight.

A cradle, resembling the high curved runners of a sleigh, was attached to the nose permitting the fuselage to be turned over without damage to the front sector.

A rigid skid brace over the cockpit, lined with several inches of sponge rubber, eased the shock when the plane was turned over and crashed onto its back.

They sought to determine ideal cabin dimensions for a safety view for flying personnel in low-wing, single-motored monoplanes.

The board also considered a change that would permit quick variation in the distance between the pilot's seat and the top of the cockpit. Instead of designing cabins, as now, to accommodate the largest airmen, the seat would be constructed with an adjustment feature permitting it to be lowered or raised in the same manner that an automobile drivers' seat may be pushed forward or backward.

nesday at the latest. House farm leaders cleared the way for consideration by Thursday, apparently regardless of whether the senate acts before that.

President Roosevelt again went over the question of taxes to finance the new farm program, this time with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director.

The May 1 adjournment deadline discussed on Capitol Hill today, although tentative, was welcome news to those facing reelection campaigns. No date is too early for them, some said, especially those who are not so sure of their constituencies.

Privately, some leaders said a definite adjournment date hinged largely on whether the supreme court throws out any more New Deal acts. Such occurrences to date have invariably led to legislative substitutes.

The Smith-Jones bill to authorize federal subsidies to farmers directly or through states which set up soil-improvement programs conforming to basic principles outlined by the secretary of agriculture is one substitute. Railroad pension and farm mortgage moratorium laws enacted last summer were others.

FIVE LEADERS OF 'DOPE' RING ARE HELD UNDER BOND

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Five men claimed by federal operatives to be the leaders in the southwest's largest narcotic ring, were charged today with violation of the narcotic laws and held on bonds aggregating $47,500.

One of the five, Joe Luke, was arraigned here before United States Commissioner W. F. Carothers. The others were charged before United States Commissioner W. Noble Carl at Galveston.

Arrest of the suspects, from whom federal agents said they purchased more than three pounds of narcotics having a retail value of approximately $30,000, smashed the ring, James J. Biggins, district supervisor of the federal narcotic bureau, said.

Luke's bond was set at $15,000 by Commissioner Carothers. The men charged in Galveston and their bonds are:

Michael Arcangelo, 38, $2,500.
Andrew Lago, 39, $10,000.
Frank Pinachio, 49, $10,000.
Oreste (Roscoe) Celli, 49, $10,000.

Luke, a former boxer, was charged with sale of 7,887 grains of a narcotic; Arcangelo with sale of 15 ounces of a drug; Lago with sale of 10 ounces of drugs, and Pinachio and Celli were charged jointly with sale of eight ounces of narcotics.

ELDERLY CHINESE COOK TO BE SENT TO ASYLUM

Loo Ming Wu, 74-year-old Chinese cook who was interdicted by Coroner C. L. Mengis last Wednesday following his incarceration in the parish jail for observation as to his sanity, is to be transferred to the state asylum at Pineville Monday, the coroner said yesterday afternoon.

The Chinese is suffering a derangement caused by advanced age, the coroner said. Loo was employed in a downtown Chinese cafe.

In ages to come, when electric power will be as cheap as water is now, with tide power and sun power harnessed, there will be no food or over-population problems.

EVERY EVENT in his past life did NOT pass in review through the mind of Ray S. Ansley when he found himself caught in an automobile 14 feet below the ice that covered Lake Erie.

"I thought of nothing," said he, "except how to get out." He did get out.

trusted attaches knew definitely whether there would be an opinion on the government's right to sell power in competition with private utilities. A split decision has been freely predicted. During the arguments Justices Sutherland, Butler, Van Devanter and McReynolds questioned the validity of the government's experimental projects.

The nine justices held their regular Saturday conference today, but it was considered extremely unlikely the TVA ruling was discussed. Unless the procedure was unusual, the decision was reached some weeks ago. Ordinarily, the case would not be taken up a second time.

After an agreement is reached on a decision, the chief justice—if he sides with the majority—either writes the opinion himself or assigns someone else to do it. If some of the justices dissent, the oldest in point of service either prepares the minority opinion or asks one of his colleagues to do so.

RACE RELATIONSHIP DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Race Relationship day will be observed by negro churches in Monroe today. Similar services will be held in most other cities and towns of the south.

While all churches of the race will observe the day, Martin's temple, 1904 Adams street, will hold exercises that will continue throughout the day. At the Sunday school hour at 9:30 a.m., W. B. Clarke, well known Monroe attorney, will deliver an address, while at 11 o'clock, Fred Williamson, managing editor of the Morning World and News-Star, will be the speaker. At 3 p.m., Capt. G. W. Whitaker, of the Salvation Army, is to be the speaker.

CREW OF WORKMEN LEAVE FOR GROUNDED STEAMER

The boat struck a sand bar several days ago during a heavy fog, but attempts to refloat it were delayed because of bad weather.

H. C. Renaudin, local agent for the New Orleans and Vicksburg Packet company, operators of the boat, said he did not know whether it could be successfully raised.

California has the oldest weather records of any state. These are the annual growth rings in the ancient Sequoia trees.

ACTOR SEEKS TO BREAK CONTRACT

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Filmland's recurrent headache—a star in rebellion—was throbbing again today because of red-haired James Cagney, the screen's "tough guy."

Cagney, who three years ago "walked out" on the movies until he won from producers a salary he believed commensurate with his popularity, now has gone into court to protect his box office following.

It is an old, but no less troublesome story for the producers. Ten years ago Rudolph Valentino started the first serious skirmish between players and the business office. They have been breaking out spasmodically since.

Cagney filed suit to break his contract with Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., charging he was working in more pictures than the contract specified. He contended his popularity—which now earns him a reputed $160,000 a year—would be impaired by so many pictures. He wants the right to seek employment elsewhere.

SIX MEN ESCAPE KENTUCKY PRISON

to "make a thorough investigation and pull no punches."

Vincent, whose inquiry was behind closed doors, said it had established that Jess Leasure drove the truck in which the six rolled through an open gate from the prison chair factory.

The six were named by John Yerkes, chief aid to Warden Elmer C. Deatherage, as Leasure, 26, sentenced from Bell county for store-house breaking, and given a life term under the habitual criminal law; his brother, Logan Leasure, 21, serving four years for house breaking; Vernice Griffin, 26, sentenced to life from Madison county for murder; Chester Campbell, 23, serving life for murder in Jefferson county, and Lawrence Taylor, 21, serving two terms, life and five years, for robbery from Kenton county, and Oscar Pearson, 28, serving life for murder in Jefferson county.

First reports were that five men had escaped today, but prison officials could not be certain until they had checked up the 2,500 men in the place.

ROBBERY SUSPECT TURNED OVER TO CADDO OFFICIALS

PARAGOULD, Ark., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Louisiana authorities obtained custody here tonight of F. M. "Pumpkin Jack" Barfield for trial at Shreveport in the robbery of the bank of Gilliam, Nov. 18, 1932.

Obtaining extradition papers from Governor Futrell at Little Rock, Sheriff T. R. Hughes and Deputies Will Prudhomme and Paul Weeks came here, took Barfield into custody and started their return trip to Shreveport. They planned to spend tonight in Little Rock.

Hughes said Barfield probably would be given trial in the Gilliam holdup within the next few weeks. The officer said Cashier James Rabb of the Gilliam bank had identified a picture of Barfield as the man who held a gun on him during the raid.

Police Chief Henry Brown who arrested Barfield several days ago quoted him as admitting the Gilliam robbery. He also was wanted for crimes in Texas and Oklahoma.

REPORT SERIOUS LABOR SHORTAGE

Skilled Workmen In Great Demand, Say Industrial Executives

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A serious shortage in skilled labor due to the business uptrend was reported today by the nation's industrial executives.

Though hundreds of technical jobs were opening, trained men could not be found to fill them, a three day conference of the business leaders disclosed.

The shortage was described as most acute in the automobile and machine trades, although felt by industry in general.

The situation was summed up by Alvin Dodd, of New York, executive vice president of the American Management association, sponsor of the conference on personnel and industrial relations problems.

"Industry is facing a serious shortage of skilled workers," he said. "The pinch is already being felt, and will grow more acute as business continues on the upgrade.

"The situation effects not only finely skilled workers, but skilled workers and semi-skilled workers.

"Industry is running around trying to train men to fill these jobs, but the problem is not yet solved."

The labor shortage, discussed under several headings by the 700 executives at the conference sessions, was due largely, Dodd said, to the economic crisis that threw skilled workers out of good jobs into poorer ones or onto the relief rolls.

When skilled work was offered them again, both the reemployed and the unemployed were dulled to their old tasks.

FUNERAL OF PROMINENT OIL MAN SLATED TODAY

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Funeral services are planned tomorrow for John Bird, 53, prominent in the development of north Louisiana oil fields, who died at his home of a heart attack last night after a three-months illness.

Born in Ripley, Tenn., Mr. Bird came to Shreveport shortly after the discovery of the Caddo oil field. In 1918, he was among the first operators of "Gusher Bend," the present Bull Bayou oil field of Red River parish. Later, he and his brother, Thomas Bird, erected the Marine Oil refinery at Cedar Grove.

He is survived by his widow, the former Lucille O'Daniel, a brother, Thomas Bird, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Dalsasso, of San Antonio, Texas.

Destitute Child Found Suffering From Pneumonia

Taken from a garage at 206 Georgia street, where his mother and two other children were living in destitute circumstances without food or fire and with scarcely any clothing, J. L. Loftin, 9, was taken yesterday to St. Francis sanitarium at the point of death, suffering from an attack of double pneumonia.

The case was brought to the attention of a local physician, who procured admittance for the sick child to the sanitarium after it was reported that the mother, Mrs. Virgie Loftin, whose husband was a former linesman and who died about three months ago, was unable longer to doctor the child, and had been unwilling to ask for assistance.

Neighbors who discovered the condition under which the family was living, declared that Mrs. Loftin and her three children had moved into the vacant garage a short time ago, and that the widow was unable to provide food or medicine for the sick child. The children were said to be almost naked, and during the present cold weather had had no fire or other means of warming the garage.

The physician stated yesterday that the sick child was suffering from double pneumonia but that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

In the meantime neighbors have taken the mother and the children into their homes. The family is said to have practically no means of support at the present time.

BIRTHS

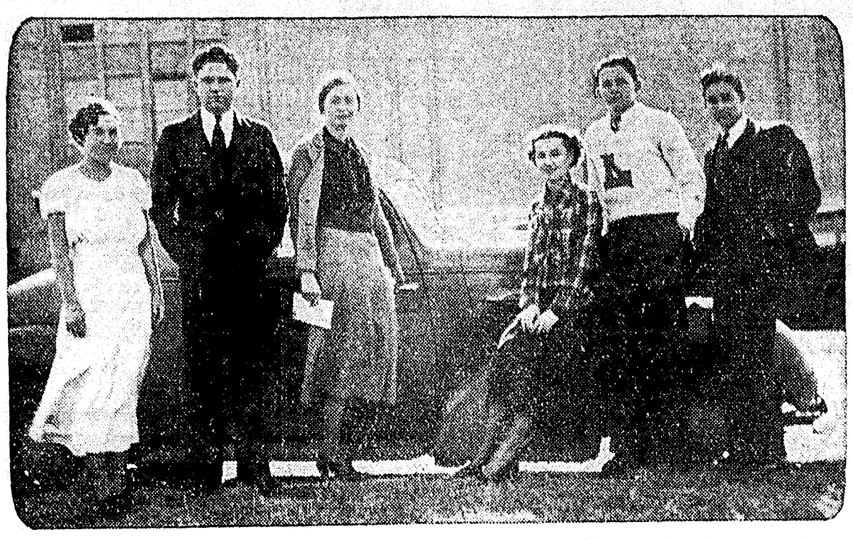
A son was born January 30 to Mr. and Mrs. Mary Lee, 406 Ludwig avenue, West Monroe. The baby was named James David.

THE 'WOLFE PACK' AT N. E. C.



Northeast Center of Louisiana State university boasts one of the most efficient zoology departments in state college circles. The department has more than 150 students and is instructed by Miss Kathryn Wolfe. Several students are employed in the department to grade notebooks and papers, assist in experiments and perform various odd jobs. Miss Wolfe and her group of assistants are familiarly designated "The Wolfe Pack." In the picture herewith, members of "The Wolfe Pack," reading from left to right, are Rosa Mae Fuller, Manard Holt, Miss Kathryn (Big Bad) Wolfe, Willene Boxley, Jimmie Cunningham and Billy Burford.

Father Describes How He Trained Musical Genius

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Ruth Slenczynski, 11 years old, hailed on both sides of the Atlantic as a wonder child at the piano, today heard her father describe her as a deliberate attempt to produce a musical genius.

After the Polish-born father, Josef Slenczynski, a violinist, returned to his adopted America from the World war wounded, he said he realized his own active musical career was ended.

He deliberately determined, he said in an interview, to marry and have a child who should "carry on" under his teaching. The qualifications he sought in a prospective mother included:

1. She should be sturdy and healthy that the child might have strong hands, wrists, lungs and heart he deemed necessary for a strenuous musical career.

2. She should be non-musical, or at least not musically trained, as he intended to have charge of the child's education.

3. She had to be a non-career woman, content with home and children.

4. And she had to be a good cook.

He said he found this combination in a New York stenographer of Polish descent, who became Mrs. Dorothy Slenczynski. Ruth, named for Slenczynski's mother, was born in Sacramento, Calif.

The father enumerated the highlights in the career of the sturdy, dark-eyed youngster, as follows:

"She knew the rudiments of harmony and theory at the age of three. She made her debut in Berkeley, Calif., (now the family home) the next year.

At her debut in Berlin, she was six; in Paris, seven, and in New York, nine.

She is now on her third American tour. Last month she played with the Metropolitan Symphony.

She finished grammar school grades at seven years under private tutors. She speaks French, German and English.

In Paris at present with Mrs. Slenczynski are two more children, Helen, eight, who wants to be a lawyer, and Gloria, seven, who also is musical.

But Slenczynski said he would not concentrate on Gloria's career as he had on Ruth's.

Slenczynski travels with his daughter. She plays in Orchestra hall here Monday night.

Exhaustive tests have proved that most highway accidents are caused by too sudden and forceful application of rear wheel brakes.

City Briefs

Slow progress is reported on the construction of the new tuberculosis sanatorium at Pine Top, on Bayou D'Arbonne, because of the bad weather, G. B. Cooley, president of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association, stated Saturday. Construction work on the entrance is progressing and will be completed with a few more days of good weather, it was said.

A large number of applications for permits to operate buses and other motor vehicles under the requirements of the new federal statute which places them under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission, were prepared and mailed out to Washington, D. C., Saturday from the office of H. J. Fernandez, manager of the Monroe Traffic bureau. The deadline for their receipt is February 12.

J. L. Heath, Jr., supervisor for Ouachita parish of adult education schools which are conducted as a WPA project, is ill at his home with influenza.

C. E. Maroney, district director for the WPA federal business census that is being taken, reported Saturday that good progress is being made. Every place of business in Ouachita and 14 other parishes of northeast Louisiana is being solicited in order to obtain data. The canvass in Ouachita parish is now about 50 per cent completed, Mr. Maroney said. Progress in the other parishes is also progressing satisfactorily, Mr. Maroney said.

The Jackson parish police jury is scheduled to meet Monday at Jonesboro, at which time more definite plans will be made concerning the construction of a new courthouse to replace the one wrecked last month by an explosion. At the present time two Monroe architectural firms are engaged in the preparation of plans for the new building that is proposed for erection. The firms are those of H. H. Land and J. W. Smith and Associates.

The special bonus claims office in the basement of the courthouse was closed Saturday after approximately 1,500 World war veterans had filed their applications for the bonus, it was announced yesterday. H. B. McClendon, veterans' service officer, will reopen his office on the second floor of the courthouse for the filing of applications on Monday. It is reported that most of the veterans in Ouachita parish who are entitled to receive the bonus have made their applications, and the work will probably be completed at the end of this week.

TO DRILL 4 GAS WELLS IN BED OF OUACHITA

Public notice of plans to drill four gas wells in the bed of the Ouachita river in Morehouse parish has been announced by Lieut.-Col. Lunsford E. Oliver, district United States engineer. The announcement states that application to drill has been filed by J. E. Farrell and others of Fort Worth, Texas. Persons wishing to protest or propose changes are urged to forward them, before February 14.

TWIN CITY MEN NAMED ON STAFF OF GOV. NOE

Fred R. Mitchell, of West Monroe, and P. M. Atkins of Monroe, have been commissioned as colonels on the staff of Gov. James A. Noe. They left early in the week for Baton Rouge, where they have remained to transact business connected with the state.

The two men were directors of the recent political campaign which resulted in the election of administration candidates. Col. Atkins handled the Monroe office and Col. Mitchell the West Monroe campaign office immediately prior to the holding of the primary on January 21.

Both are members of the board of commissioners of Louisiana Training institute.

Embarrassing The Missionary

One could imagine a missionary going from this country to Africa, calling on the headman of some remote native village, and getting into some such dialogue as this:

Missionary: "I have come all the way from America to tell you and your people about our God—to bring you the glad tidings."

Headman: "Just what is the proposition?"

Missionary: "Simple enough. We of the church believe in one God, all-powerful, all-wise, ever-present, all-loving. We believe in expressing our love for Him by keeping the commandments, which, substantially, are as follows: We must love Him with all our minds, with all our hearts, and with all our strength; and we must love our neighbors as ourselves."

Headman: "It sounds good. Do the people in your country do all those things?"

Missionary: "Some do."

Headman: "How many believe in your kind of faith and live it?"

Missionary: "About fifty per cent belong to churches. About twenty per cent of those who belong attend and about two per cent of those who attend are conscientiously courageous in the discharge of their Christian duty."

Headman: "Is Italy a Christian nation?"

Missionary: "She is classed as such."

Headman: "Yet Italy has wilfully invaded Ethiopia to take away territory from our brothers there; and recently Italy was reported as expressing great joy because her army had killed ten thousand Ethiopians in one battle. Is that true—and is it Christian?"

Missionary: "It is true; but it is not Christian."

Headman: "As to your own country: Is it true that in many of your large cities, in the very shadow of your large churches, there are negroes living in more sin, more want, more disease and more dirt than here in darkest Africa?"

Missionary: "Yes, it is true."

Headman: "And hasn't your nation a shameful record of mistreatment of your Indians? Didn't you forcibly appropriate California and Mexico from Mexico? Aren't you known as the most lawless of civilized nations? Aren't you notorious internationally for political corruption? Isn't it true that you have hordes of gangsters, kidnapers and other vicious people doing harm to their fellows? What has your religion done for your country? What are your churches doing for your country? What have you to offer us? How do you expect your religion to save us when it does not save your people?"

Missionary: "All you say is true and more—much more. But here is what I offer you and your people: I offer you the way to eternal salvation. I offer you and your people the same chance that all of our people have had offered them. I am bringing you the Light, that you may have the privilege of shaping your course. We do not consider it our duty to drive our people a certain way but we do consider it our duty to give every person information about the right way. Then he can choose his path. And he must take the consequences of his choice."

Headman: "In other words, you are bringing us the glad tidings in the hope that, heathens though we are, we will take your great teachings to heart and be better Christians than your people are; live better lives and maintain better communities than your people do; and save ourselves from the punishment toward which most of your people are heading."

Missionary: "You have stated the case exactly."

PARTY REVOLTS IN PAST

Consequences of defections from major political parties in times of party stress again become subjects of discussion because of the threat of Al Smith to "take a walk" if the conduct of the next Democratic national convention does not suit him.

The most discussed "bolt" from the Democratic party in comparatively recent years was that of gold Democrats from Bryan in 1896. They couldn't stand the pledge of Bryan and Stevenson to work for the remonetization of silver "without the consent of any other nation." Incidentally, the Republicans declared for a bimetallic standard by international agreement, "which we pledge ourselves to promote." Those Democrats who wished to satisfy ideas of party regularity voted for Palmer and Buckner, but they might as well have taken a walk. They cast only 132,000 votes out of 13,000,000.

The greatest bolt was that of Theodore Roosevelt, who was as much dissatisfied with his political protege, William H. Taft, as Smith ever was with his protege, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Theodore and his friends said many harsh things about "Will" even as Al does about "Frank." The revolt of Theodore resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency. "T. R." got more than 4,000,000 votes out of 13,896,000, and about 2,000,000 fewer than Wilson. Taft got about 3,500,000, but only eight electoral votes. What the rebellion of Smith against Franklin D. Roosevelt will mean is to be told.

The president is as sure of renomination as was Taft. Theodore Roosevelt had a program for his Progressive party. Smith also has a six-point plan.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

A WINTER SONG

Let the gales of February
Howl across the wintry prairie;
Old man crow sits in a tree-top
Keeping out a weather eye.
You will not catch him repining,
He can find the silver lining
And he caws serene contentment
While the gale goes raging by.
He is calm and keen and clever;
He defies the drifting snow.
Still, I do not think, however,
I should like to be a crow.

Mr. Blue Jay does not worry
Though the snowflakes swirl and flurry,
He can gather withered berries
When there's nothing else to eat.
Any food at all tastes pleasing
When his hunger he's appeasing,
Even though it's a potato
He has picked up on the street.
He is always bright and cheery
Although lowering is the day.
But although he's never weary
I'd not like to be a jay.

Sparrows stay here all the season
For some undiscovered reason,
Picking up their meals in places
Where a dinner may be found.
You can see the rascals gaily
Wolfing scraps of garbage daily,
Grabbing bread or meat or crackers
Anywhere they may be found.
They are gallant little chirpers,
But their intellects are narrow,
And the slickest of usurpers
Is the keen-eyed English sparrow.

Was Uncle Sam Hasty?

By BRUCE CATTON

The United States has taken quite a beating in connection with its attemps to make something of the giant dirigible, and after the Macon fell into the sea off the California coast it was generally admitted that the beating was final and permanent.

Now, however, the ghost of the big sky liner is gliding through the clouds once more. The committee of scientists appointed last March by Secretary of the Navy Swanson reports that Uncle Sam quit too soon. The group wants to see more dirigibles built, and believes that continued experimentation will show that these monster airships really do have a useful function to perform.

Practically all of America's experience with the huge rigid dirigible has been confined to the navy; and it is not an experience which the navy recalls with pleasure.

First there was the Shenandoah, ripped to pieces in a line squall over Ohio. Then there was the Akron—bigger, stronger and safer than the Shenandoah—and the Akron was torn to bits by a storm off the Jersey coast. Last of all was the Macon, which was in its turn an improvement on the Akron; and the Macon, like the others, ran into weather that was a little too much for it, and fell into the sea.

With that dismal record, it is hardly surprising that the navy department feels like doing all of its flying in airplanes hereafter.

Yet this report of the scientists is something that can't be laughed off. These men had no ax to grind; they are, furthermore, men who know what they are talking about, and they have had ample opportunity to study the question from all angles.

When they announce, then, that it is their sober belief that big airships like the Akron and Macon can be built and operated with reasonable assurances both of safety and of usefulness, they must be listened to. When they say that it would pay the country to build more of these craft, and experiment thoroughly until airship potentialities and limitations were fully known, their statement demands respect.

After all is said and done, the Germans seem to be able to use these giant airships without dropping them into the ocean. Our techincal skill should be at least equal to that of Germany; our willingness to experiment with a spectacular new form of transportation should be fully as great.

It is hard to avoid the feeling that the big rigid dirigible will yet play an important part in man's conquest of space and time. The report of this committee of scientists compels us to consider the whole question from a fresh viewpoint.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Into the hurly-burly, the constant strain, and the partisan bitterness of the capital, there sometimes comes a touch of comic relief which greatly relieves the tension of life here.

Much of the comedy is unconscious. Frequently it is Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas who introduces such wit and humor as is obtained by design. Maverick has an idea that laughter and ridicule are important weapons.

Thus, when Maverick defended the Indian Bureau against an attack led by McGroarty of California which had slashed the bureau's salary budget from $469,000 to $25,000, the Texan mixed in his hard facts and refutations with—

"I looked through records last night and studied about Indians, and dreamed about them. Some of them scalped me in my sleep, but it was only a dream. Let us not consciously and while wide awake scalp the Indians."

What! Cheat The Indians?

Scott of California then introduced an amendment to forbid teaching or advocating the legislative program of the American Liberty League in Indian schools.

"I rise as the champion of the freedom of speech in defense of the American Liberty League," said Maverick. "Does the gentleman mean to tell me he intends to deny the pure doctrines of James M. Beck and his pal, Newton Baker, who received $50,000 to decide the TVA before it came into court, and the doctrines of other impeccable and self-righteous citizens for the du Ponts and the holding companies, from being taught to our Indian children?

"Does the gentleman mean he would prevent the teaching to the Indian children of the doctrine of Mr. "Sixty Grand" Shouse, who gets salary and 'allowable expense' of $60,000 a year? Indians know a lot about horses—they probably know about Twenty Grand—but they should know the du Pont horse known as Sixty Grand . . .

"I get sick over all this name-calling; I am only calling names so I can get in the swim. It sounds as foolish as when Al Smith yelled about the road to Washington and the road to Moscow.

"In passing, I would remind my Republican friends, and some of my others, that when Benedict Arnold walked out on America to the British, on the British sidelines there was applause and loud cheering. But it did not last long; the British soon had sick faces, and got sick of Arnold, too, and he looked like a poor, hungry, deserted prairie dog, neither fish, fowl nor animal, with no friends this side of paradise.

"No, Mr. Scott, I would let even the Liberty League talk. Would you deny these gentlemen who claim to be sole guardians of the Constitution the right also to be guardians of our Indian children?"

A Departure In Reports

Probably destined to become famous as a departure from the routine, dull committee reports is Maverick's one-man minority report against the bill permitting certain American officials to accept medals bestowed on them by some Latin American governments.

"Had I earned a foreign medal in the late war against the German Imperial government," said he in the printed report, "when we entered the war to end wars—there now being no wars and with democracy thriving everywhere throughout the world—I suppose I should have worn it. But this bill ought to be defeated.

"Congress can legislate and debate on medals and titles of nobility. This should give us pride. It appears we cannot legislate on the welfare of those who live from the soil—(and all humanity does)—for that is a mere local matter—hence, the welfare of 125,000,000 people is not within our scope.

"Nor can we provide naturally even for minimum decent labor standards to protect states as against each other, or for millions of workers on whose lives and purchasing power the welfare of the nation, and business, depends. . . .

"But we can dress our officers in foreign medals from foreign governments; and that proud power we must jealously guard, and if we permit all our powers to be usurped, as appears likely, we can devote much of our time to decorations. Thus we can pass our time. . . .

"Unless we assert ourselves, we shall become a decoration ourselves. . . . We shall cease to be meddlers—interfering with the prerogatives of the Mystic Nine—and become medallers."

A Sarcastic Ending

After that much sarcasm, Maverick proposed a foreign decoration for every farmer, every unemployed person, every starving person, that they may "die in glory." And, "For Every Unfortunate Citizen—a Medal," since "it's probably unconstitutional to give them anything to eat, whereas congress clearly has the bemedalling power."

YOUTHS INSTRUCTED AS PLAYGROUND LEADERS

Filling a well defined need, playgrounds for the children of West Monroe will be provided without cost and trained supervisors will be in charge of the work which will be conducted under the sponsorship of the National Youth administration. Rev. E. E. Huntsberry will be in general charge.

Supervisors for the playgrounds will be recruited from the ranks of boys and girls who are at least 19 years of age and not more than 26 years. They will be thoroughly trained for their activities. None of the youths will be permitted to work more than two hours daily and for their services they will be paid $19 monthly. Work will be so arranged as not to interfere with attendance at school.

The recreational projects will be of much variety and will include tennis, volley ball, soft ball and other kindred amusements. Vacant lots throughout the city will be utilized, the owners granting the use of the land without financial remuneration.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE JOHN BULL TREE—This tree in Walton Hall, England, grew out of a peachstone which, accidentally thrown away, happened to fall into the center hole of a discarded grindstone in the grass. The tender stem of the growing peach tree at first filled up the hole. As it developed, it did not strangle, but instead, vigorously raised the stone from the ground wearing it like a collar. Orators usually compared the tree to England, in allusion to the gigantic national debt with which the country was saddled. That is why the tree was called the John Bull Tree.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

MIAMI, Fla.—Miami Musings: This is Broadway with palm trees, sunshine, moonshine, mayhem and Minsky's. . . .

Both the town and the climate are equally balmy.

Although Miami is now the sunny playground of the east, visitors from Manhattan are easily distinguished by their night club pallor. It is impossible to get in touch with anyone in the morning because he's been out late the night before and is sleeping it off. It is just as futile to try him in the afternoon because he's gone off to Hialeah to play the ponies. And after dark, he is night clubbing.

The dance bands play "Moon Over Miami" on the quarter-hour and "The Music Goes 'Round and Around" gets second rating.

Popular headliners of Broadway share the program down here with racing greyhounds. Such notables as Georgie Jessel and Norma Talmadge made a joint personal appearance the other night at a fashionable kennel club. Turtle racing, by the way, did not turn out to be a Miami sensation. Too slow. But the population, permanent and transient, young and old, follow the hoss and doggie results, hourly.

Like a Cecil B. DeMille production, any enterprise in Miami that is not super-colossal, is snubbed cold. . . . A million dollars is written over every structure and if you don't trust that figure after a record inspection, the place will settle for half.

Hotel guests are transported to their destinations in autogyros or triple-decker, streamlined busses, gaudily painted, that look as though the end of the world has arrived.

South Broadway

Miami after dark? This stunning, sun-baked city of the south may be 1,500 miles from home, but Broadway and 42nd street is just around the corner. Hang on, then, for the Miami merry-go-round—

Earl Carroll is operating the lavish, tropical Palm Island club with a revue that contains more beautiful girls that a gent can leer at in a glance. There, I spotted the Misses Belle Baker, Sophie Tucker and Ethel Merman, three popular Broadway songstresses, the other night.

From Seventh avenue and 50th street, which is around my way up north, they've transported the French Casino, intact with all the pretty dolls of the Folies Parisienne, for a similarly named place down here. I blinked twice when I entered, for Miami's French Casino is an exact replica of the cabaret a thousand and a half miles away.

I found Laurence Schwab, the musical show man, lolling on the sands in front of his palatial house and George Sanchez, the Cuban sugar-king, who is one of the best-paying customers of New York night clubs, leaning nonchalantly against the Town Casino club's bar (the same Town Casino club management, incidentally, that operates in Manhattan).

Buddy Rogers is leading a band in one of the niteries and expects Mary Pickford, whose name has been linked with his more than once, to arrive one day this week. Libby Holman, I'm told, will be here shortly to sing at a local night club. Jack White, the pleasantly deranged comedian, is around.

Prince Rospigliosi, a noble playboy, gets about to the smarter joints and the old friends I've met at the various indoor playgrounds include: The dancers, Ramon and Rosita, at Ira's Supper club; Frances Fay, the turbulent songstress, at the Pavilion; Paul Sabin, the orchestra maestro, at the Town Casino, and that youthful, graceful stepper, Madeleine Northway and Georges Danilip, at the Fleetwood Hotel's inviting Hangar club. Lucienne Boyer, the French chanteuse, had just cleared out, and the shapely Andrea Marsh had just arrived at the Beach and Tennis club, to enchant the spenders with her figure and voice.

Miami's Minsky Minded

Miami's greatest box office draw? Minsky's, of course. Both the brethren, Herbert and Morton, have personally escorted to this southern resort an entire company of strip girls and low comedians. But they are advertising in the local papers for chorines, "No Experience Necessary," naturally. Two shows a night (8:30 and midnight) for the burlecue and the Florida vacationists flock to this ribald entertainment in droves.

Among those present in Miami at the moment, besides the aforementioned well-knowns, are Joseph Widener, the racetrack king, Bert Wheeler and Sally Haines, Nancy Carroll and Quentin Reynolds, H. H. Rogers, Jr., George Marshall, the socialite; Carolyn Nolte, the pretty warbler; Park avenue's Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dodge, and Jack Ardis, whose matrimonial mixups are frequent matters for the front page. General Cornelius Vanderbilt's yacht is resting quietly at the Miami-Biltmore.

So you see how things are in this great resort of the south. The trick is to discover a face that you haven't seen sometime, some place, before.

Real Estate Transfers

S. C. Waits, operating Waits Bicycle house, at 129 South Grand street, has sold his business to R. H. B. Gibson of Little Rock, for a consideration of $2,500, according to a deed filed Saturday in the clerk's office.

STORE ROBBED AGAIN

For the second time within a week, a grocery store at 612 Thomas street which is owned by Sidney Elliott, negro, was robbed, and a quantity of cigarettes and vanilla extract taken, according to a report filed with the police Saturday. The burglar effected entrance into the store early Saturday morning, using an axe to break the lock off the front door. After leaving the store the intruder forgot his axe, which was found by police who investigated the robbery.

JURY AND SCHOOL BOARD TO DISCUSS TAX PROPOSAL

BASTROP, Feb. 8.—(Special)—A joint special meeting of the Morehouse parish police jury and the parish school board will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss a plan presented to both bodies last week by representatives of a newly formed organization known as the Louisiana Tax Adjustment association.

The plan, as presented to the police jury, contemplates the inauguration of a movement to have the state assume the bonded indebtedness of all parish bodies in Louisiana. This contemplated legislation is expected to be introduced at the next session of the Louisiana legislature in May.

The police jury and the school board have been asked to endorse the plan and contribute toward the expenses of the association. The police jury was asked to make a contribution of $250 and to contribute to the association one-half of the interest paid for one year on its bonded indebtedness, provided the plan is carried to completion as contemplated. The representative of the association who presented the plan told the police jury that more than a half a dozen parishes have endorsed the proposal.

PARISH WELFARE WORK IN LASALLE REPORTED

JENA, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Mrs. Kate Campbell, head of the parish welfare work, which is financed by a one-cent gasoline tax, supplemented by parish and federal funds, filed her annual report recently. The work of this relief agency started on January 10, 1935. Mrs. Campbell was assisted last year by Miss Lucille Honeycutt and Mrs. Sarah Drewetta and Mrs B. T. Goodwin. A total of 411 applications were received during the year of which 270 were approved for relief and eight were pending at the close of the year. A total of 200 white persons and 23 negroes were receiving relief at the close of the year, with 21 children included in the families Fifty-three were receiving mother' aid, four were blind, 101 were over 6 years and 60 were handicapped other wise.

Total receipts of $19,210.78 were handled by the organization last yea of which $16,727.60 was spent for direct relief, $1,236.66 went for othe expenses and $1,291.52 remained o hand at the close of the year. Th gasoline tax yielded $9,323.54 and th remainder came from various othe sources.

LEGIONNAIRES TO ENTERTAIN CHIEF

Ray Murphy, National Commander, Will Be Honor Guest Here

The L. B. Fauk post of the American Legion Thursday will be host to Ray Murphy, national commander, who will arrive over the Missouri Pacific railroad at 9:05 p.m., from Little Rock. He will be met at the station and escorted by legionnaires and a mortorcycle escort to Hotel Virginia. At 9:30 p.m., he will be the guest of honor at a special meeting held on the hotel roof.

The meeting is not only for men of the legion but also for all former service men of the World war, Veterans of Foreign wars, United Spanish-American veterans and to all citizens of Ouachita parish, to whom a special invitation has been extended. City and parish officials, members of all luncheon clubs, Masonic organizations and the chamber of commerce are especially invited to be present, according to Bill Perhamus, commander of L. B. Faulk post.

Accompanying Commander Murphy will be his aide, Boyd Stutler, assistant publicity director of the national legion headquarters.

State departmental officials who will attend the meeting include Jack Sichterman, department commander, Roland Cocreham, department adjutant, and E. L. Gladney, fifth district commander.

Following the meeting on the roof, Commander Murphy will be taken to the memorial legion home at Forsythe park, which ranks as one of the finest of the kind in the south, for an inspection of the building.

The commander will remain over night, and on Friday morning at 8 a.m., a breakfast in his honor will be served in the Cameo room of the hotel. This breakfast is for men of the legion only.

The distinguished guest will leave Monroe by automobile for Alexandria Friday morning at 9 o'clock, where he will visit the veterans' hospital, and a luncheon will be served in that city by the legion post of Rapides parish. Following the luncheon, he will leave for Shreveport, where he will remain over night and will leave for Tyler, Texas, the following noon.

Mr. Perhamus urges all members of the fifth district to make a special effort to come to Monroe as guests of the post here to do honor to Mr. Murphy. The post is out to make a record for attendance, and all are asked to wear their legion caps.

The post here has just been informed from Frank E. Samuel, national adjutant, that it has won the "special citation" for most distinguished service for the accomplishment of the post in enrolling the equivalent of the 1935 membership for 1936 on Armistice day.

Legend Of Mexican Miracle Painting Of Virgin Is Told

By Anthony Gibbon

Above the high altar in the basilica of Guadalupe, six miles from Mexico City, encased in a frame of solid gold and surmounted with a gold crown emblazoned with precious stones, hangs the miaculous painting of the Virgin of Guadalupe, patron of the Mexican Indian and a shrine to which hundreds of thousands flock every year from every part of Mexico.

Many tourists from Monroe have visited the city of Mexico in recent years and made the excursion to the basilica of Guadalupe. Viewing the painting they have perhaps wondered about the legend which for more than four centuries has fed the devotion of the Mexicans and won a place in the national life which even recent religious persecution in that country has been unable to undermine or destroy.

Through the centuries eminent scientists and painters have closely examined the painting, which after four hundred years seems as fresh as the day when, according to the legend, the image appeared miraculously on the serape or blanket of the poor Indian, Juan Diego. The nature of the pigments which make up the bright blue and gold and silver and the other incidental colors of the picture have never been determined and the only point on which those who have examined it are unanimously agreed is the fact that the pigments are unknown to any school of painting. All efforts to explain the picture from a scientific standpoint have failed and today it hangs above the high altar of the basilica gleamingly fresh behind the heavy glass which protects it, an enigma to some, a miracle to many.

The story of the picture is dear to the hearts of all Mexicans and the quadri-centennial celebration of the apparition of the Virgin of Guadalupe again recalls the strange tradition which has provoked a profound influence in the lives and faith of the Mexican people.

It was shortly after the Spaniards had effected the conquest of Mexico and the friars had established the early missions, according to the tale handed down from generation to generation, that a Mexican shepherd named Juan Diego was tending his flocks on the hill of Tepeyac. He had recently accepted the Christian religion and the glow of his new found faith burned in his simple breast.

Suddenly he was startled by the appearance of a woman whose mantle was covered with stars that shone brightly and around whose head an aureole of light shed a glory which all but blinded him. In a gentle voice the woman spoke to the Indian and told him not to be frightened.

"I am the Mother of God," she said, "and I have come to my people with blessings for those who love me."

Juan Diego fell to his knees and covered his face with his hands. The vision spoke again.

"Go you, my son, to the archbishop in Mexico and tell him that it is my wish that he should build a shrine on this spot which is holy ground so that my children may have a place to gather and sing the praises of my Son. Here they will find peace and many blessings."

Juan Diego in a faint voice responded and promised to carry out her behest. But surely his excellency the archbishop will not listen to me, a poor Indian," he said.

"Go in peace, my son, and tell what you have seen. I go now." And to the accompaniment of ineffably sweet music the apparition vanished, and Juan Diego found himself alone and bewildered on the slopes of Tepeyac. With troubled heart he hurried down the hill and made his way to the city of Mexico.

Arriving at the episcopal palace, he tried vainly to gain an audience with the archbishop. For hours Juan Diego waited in the outer courts of the building until a kindly monk at last consented to lead the Indian shepherd into the ecclesiastical presence.

Falling on his knees, Juan Diego described the vision which had come to him. But the archbishop, wise in the ways of the newly converted Indian listened skeptically and after admonishing Juan against disturbing him at his labors with such a child's tale, dismissed him.

Sadly Juan Diego returned to his sheep but his simple heart yearned to carry out the wishes of the glorious woman who had called him "son" and whose gentle voice still resounded in his heart.

Once more Juan tended his sheep and again the apparition appeared before him in all its splendor. Again Juan hid his face in his hands and terror gripped his heart, for he feared the consequences of his failure. His own bloody heathen gods, which he had rejected when he was Christianized, would surely smite him dead, had he failed to carry out their commands. How then, he reasoned, could the Mother of the only true God do less? But his fears were dispelled immediately when the vision again spoke and the gentle accents soothed the terrors of his savage breast. Once more the apparition instructed Juan Diego to return to the archbishop and repeat her command.

"And as a sign, my son," said the Virgin, "from this hour your uncle who is at death's door lives again." This to Juan was indeed a miracle for, he reasoned, how could this woman know that his uncle was dying when his uncle lived miles away on the other side of the city. And again to the strains of angelic music the vision slowly vanished and Juan hurried to the city. But first he visited his uncle's house and there he found that his relative had indeed completely recovered from his illness at about the time that he was on Tepeyac hill holding converse with the apparition.

Juan Diego hurried to the archbishop's palace and on this occasion boldly presented himself for admission. Perhaps the good monks were out of patience at that particular time, but the legend records that Juan not only failed to see the archbishop but was administered a beating with rods for his insistence and audacity.

This second failure determined Juan that if he should again be confronted by the Mother of God he would not hesitate to ask that she give him a sign which would convince the archbishop of Mexico of the authenticity of his story.

On the alert for the reappearance of the vision Juan tended his sheep on the hill of Tepeyac and when the lady again stood before him he was perpared.

"Why have you not carried out my wishes, Juan?" the vision chided in a gentle voice.

"Nay holy Mother, I tried hard to see the archbishop but I was driven away from his house with sticks," Juan replied in his own defense.

"I know my son. But never fear. You shall have the sign which you require to convince him of my wishes. Gather the roses which are growing on the hill and take them to the archbishop."

Juan Diego was bewildered. "But roses do not bloom here in December, holy Mother." The woman smiled and her hand pointed to the ground at her feet. There to Juan's astonishment was a cluster of beautiful roses the like of which he had never seen.

"Gather the flowers, Juan and place them in your mantle, but do not show them to anyone except the archbishop. Do not be afraid, my son, but carry out my command." For the last time the angelic strains were heard and the vision disappeared, and Juan with trembling fingers plucked the roses and filled his mantle.

Arrived at the archbishop's palace the monks would have driven him away again, but Juan in a firm voice stated that he brought flowers for his excellency. The monks were curious to see the flowers and endeavored to persuade the Indian to let them look at them. This he refused steadfastly to do, but maintained that the flowers which he brought were the most beautiful roses ever seen. The monks scoffed at the statement that roses should be growing at that time of year, and would have driven him away but for the timely appearance of the archbishop himself.

"My son, you do wrong to disturb me again," said the archbishop. "However, since you are here I will see you." The dignitary motioned away the angry monks. "What is that you carry with such care?" Juan advanced a few steps.

"These," he said, "are roses from the hill of Tepeyac which the Virgin told me to pluck and bring to you as a sign that she has really appeared to me and that you are to obey her commands."

The archbishop smiled. "Let us see the roses, my son and if it is as you say, you may be sure that I, the humble servant of our Blessed Mother, will carry out her wishes." Joyfully Juan opened the blanket. And then the beholders fell back in awe.

Instead of the flowers which they expected to see, they saw the likeness of the woman whom Juan Diego had described as having appeared to him in the three apparitions. That is the tradition.

The fact remains that a picture, authentically four hundred years old and apparently as fresh as it was originally, still appears on the rough texture of an Indian's blanket that now hangs above the high altar of the basilica of Guadalupe where millions have venerated it through the past four centuries.

INDIANS MEET L. S. U. 'B' BOXERS HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

CENTER MITTMEN ANXIOUS TO WIN TILT WITH TIGERS

Redmen Expected To Be In Good Shape For Eight-Bout Card

Mittmen of Northeast Center of L. S. U. will be hosts to a "B" team of boxers from Louisiana State university this week-end, when the two combinations clash in Center's third ring venture of the season at the Neville high school arena Friday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The Indians, still incensed over what they termed "robbery" at Shreveport last Wednesday night, when they lost a heated match to Centenary, came out of the skirmish with no ill effects, other than the injury to Sammy Bono caused by a foul blow, and are anxious to show the boys from "headquarters" how L. S. U.'s junior college scrappers fight.

Eight bouts are tentatively scheduled for the meet and it is hoped by Coach James L. Malone that Bono will be back in condition to fight by Friday. Bono's record of four years without a defeat held good at Shreveport when he won on a foul from Willard Dean, but the injury has slowed him down and he may find the going tough if he attempts to enter the ring again before complete recovery.

Should Bono be available he will be matched with Levis, L. S. U. 175-pound star, Levis fought in the feature match at Louisiana Tech Friday night but was knocked out by Don Wiley, Tech star, with a hard body blow.

Another boy well known to Monroe ring fans will be included on the program. He is Morris Bohrer, 115, former Bolton high school star, who appeared here several times as a prep school mittman. Bohrer will meet "Bumps" Gormley in what should be one of the best fights on the program. Gormley has won one fight and lost another this season Bohrer's most recent battle resulted in a draw with Eddie Wojecki, Louisiana Tech trainer and coach.

The tenative schedule as carded yesterday will be: 115-pounds, Morris Behrer of L. S. U. vs. "Bumps" Germley of Center; 125-pounds, Kinda of L. S. U. vs. Lyle Garretson of Center; 135-pounds, Bradford of L. S. U. vs. Jack Beckett or Al LeBlanc of Center; 145-pounds, Sullivan of L. S. U. vs. "Red" Reynolds of Center; 155-pounds, Brouillette of L. S. U. vs. Louis Freard or Jack Gremillion of Center; 165-pounds, Pitcher of L. S. U. vs. Frank Moseley or Kenner Day of Center; 175-pounds, Levis of L. S. U. vs. Sammy Bono of Center; Heavyweight, Campagno of L. S. U. vs. "Bully" White of Center.

After this week's battles the locals will prep for the Louisiana Tech mittmen, whom they meet at Ruston on February 18.

SOFTBALL GROUP TO MEET MONDAY

Players And Fans Invited To Open Discussion Of 1936 Plans

Team managers, players and others interested in softball in Monroe have been invited to attend a general meeting to be held tomorrow night at the Monroe Recreation department hall. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss means of operating two softball leagues here this season. The meeting was called by several agencies interested in the game, including the Y's Men's club, sponsor of the Twilight league for the past five years, and the Monroe Recreation department, which backed the City league last season.

The Twilight league held a meeting last Wednesday night but no definite plans were made for the coming season. It was first decided to send questionnaires to the 1935 team managers, seeking suggestions for the operation of the league this year, but the athletic committee of the Y's Men's club later decided to participate in the general meeting Monday night.

The City league had tentatively set a meeting for this week at which time the circuit would be organized for the 1936 campaign, but several club managers decided to forego organization plans until after the general meeting.

Several leaders of both leagues have expressed a desire that the two circuits be sponsored by the same organization and that the same commissioners or board of control function for both leagues. These leaders also have proposed that one league have strict eligibility rules, such as the 25-year-rule in effect in the Twilight league last season, while the other circuit would be thrown "wide open."

It was announced that a full discussion would be sought at the meeting tomorrow night and all persons interested in softball have been urged to attend and express their wishes in the organization of the two leagues.

Tech And Centenary Cage Teams Clash In Ruston Monday

Sports Chatter

BY GEO. V. LOFTON

A NEW GAME

Code ball—no relation whatever to the NRA—has invaded Louisiana, thanks to Kite V. Caudell, educational adviser of the CCC camp at Forest Hill.

Mr. Caudell has laid out a Code ball course at Forest Hill and he believes it not only is the only course in Louisiana, but the only one in a CCC camp in the entire nation. He has pioneered the game in this section and the CCC lads have taken to it like ants to a sugar bowl.

The game was originated by Dr. Edward Code, of Chicago, and has been aptly termed "poor man's golf." It has become popular in public parks and playgrounds throughout the north and east, but so far has failed to invade other sections. However, it's a comparatively new game and Code ball fans predict a wave of popularity for the sport as soon as the public becomes aware of its possibilities.

Code ball is played with the feet. A field is utilized and holes are laid out at distances varying from 50 to 100 yards. Each hole has two tees or "kick-offs." After the ball is booted from the kick-off, which must be accomplished with the toe of the shoe, the approach shots are made with the entire foot, from heel to toe, with a graceful sweep, if possible.

The course at the Forest Hill camp consists of seven holes. The game follows the same fundamental principles of golf, although it's a sort of combination of golf and soccer. The idea, of course, is to kick the ball into the hole in the fewest number of boots.

There should be several intriguing angles to the sport. One wonders, for instance, what a player does when he kicks his ball into the rough, and it bounds back into his face. If he were a golfer he'd break his club and cuss, but we suppose he'd have to be content with cussing in Code ball.

SHORT AND SNAPPY

Page Mr. Ripley. In the Brown Paper Mill-Hermitage basketball game Friday night, player No. 6 (Monk) made the sixth point for Hermitage. Player No. 7 (Cuthbertson) followed with a foul shot, making point No. 7. A minute later, player No. 9 (Richardson) made point No. 9. To top it all, Cary Phillips, Brown manager whose number is 14, scored the Brown club's 14th point to tie the score at 14-all. . . You'll probably read about the lady who won the slalom title in yesterday's Olympic events. That one stumped us, too. A slalom is a ski race against time in a zigzag downhill course between upright obstacles, usually flags. At least, that's what Mr. Webster says it is . . . Six Cardinal rookies who will report to Manager Frisch this spring stole 263 bases between them in the minors last year.

Ted Cox and "Biff" Jones are neighbors again. Cox goes to Stillwater to take over the Oklahoma A. and M. coaching job. Jones is at Norman, where he tutors Oklahoma U.'s football team. Stillwater and Norman are about the same distance apart as New Orleans and Baton Rouge . . . Now that the Southern conference has adopted the "Graham plan," we wonder what Wade of Duke and Snavely of North Carolina will do. Even if they have fat contracts for the next few years, these gents like winning teams, and they can't be produced with "Graham plan" material . . . If you like action, drive over to Ruston Monday night and see Tech's basketball team play Centenary. When these two teams tangle, something's happening all the time, one way or another.

Texans are already booming Matty Bell, S. M. U. mentor, for one of the coaching jobs in the annual all-star-pro game at Chicago next fall . . . Texas and Arkansas, the two teams which are being touted as title threats in the Southwest conference grid race next season, are now fighting it out for the lead in the circuit's basketball race. . . . The defeat of Discovery yesterday will scramble the dope for the rich Santa Anita handicap. . . . Jack Kearns claims Mickey Walker is the greatest fighter he has ever seen. Lest you forget, the same Mr. Kearns once managed Jack Dempsey . . . Most of the major league baseball stars are getting in shape ahead of time with their jobs in various baseball schools about the country.

FORMER HURLING ACE DIES IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—James H. (Jimmy) Dygert, baseball pitching sensation of a quarter of a century ago, died here today from pneumonia at the age of fifty years.

Dygert was a member of the famous New Orleans Southern association team of 1905, yellow fever year in this city, when the local team was forced to play its entire schedule on the road and won the pennant.

Dygert wos one of the early spitball pitchers who rose to major league baseball and won fame. Because of his excellent record on the New Orleans team, Dygert was purchased by Connie Mack in 1905 and he then starred on Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

He remained with Philadelphia in the league until 1911 when he was sent to Baltimore and returned to New Orleans in 1913 where he developed a sore arm and lost his pitching effectiveness.

After giving up baseball Dygert became a repair foreman for New Orleans Public Service, Inc., and held this position until his death.

Dygert was a native of Utica, N. Y. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Clara Castaing, of New Orleans and three children.

DISCOVERY FIFTH IN ANITA FEATURE

Time Supply Wins $7,500 San Antonio Handicap Before 45,000

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Time Supply won the San Antonio handicap today, with Pompey's Pillar second and Ariel Cross third.

Discovery, the favorite, was fifth.

A record Santa Anita crowd of 45,000 witnessed the upset of Discovery which had been expected to make a two-horse race against Cavalcade. But Cavalcade was scratched because of a hoof injury.

Time Supply, owned by Mrs. F. A. Carreaud, set a new track record for the mile and one furlong of 1:49.2, one-fifth of a second better than the mark of Riskulus last year.

The winner took the lead at the start, yielded it at the half to Prince Abbott, but regained it quickly and went into the stretch four lengths ahead of Ariel Cross.

Time Supply paid $9, $4, and $3.60 for a $2 ticket. Pompey's Pillar paid $19.20 and $7.60 and Ariel Cross $4.

CAPACITY CROWD EXPECTED TO SEE OLD RIVALS MEET

Gent-Bulldog Cage Tilt To Be Followed By Fights Thursday

RUSTON, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—All of that stored-up college spirit which local sports fans have been holding back for use when Centenary college and Louisiana Tech meet athletically will have its chance to be released here Monday night.

The Shreveport Gentlemen and the Techmen will have a basketball game here that evening, and the word is being spread that "a good time will be had by all," win, lose or draw.

Mention of the word "Centenary," with "Tech" on the other side of the "vs.," for many years has done more to stir up a sports atmosphere in north Louisiana than any other word has been able to do. The proximity of the two institutions and the sports following of each school account for the widespread interest accorded their athletics relations.

With both Tech and Centenary belonging to the S. I. A. A., their meetings have the additional advantage of conference importance.

Although the Techmen for the last several years have not been able to defeat the Centenary cagemen, the local quintet often has come close to victory. For instance, last year, the Techsters lost two basketball games to the Gents, with margin being three points in each instance.

The Tech basketeers have just returned from their first road trip of the season, in which they won three conference tilts and lost one S. I. A. A. game. They trimmed Southwestern Louisiana institute at Lafayette, Mississippi college at Clinton, and Millsaps at Jackson. They lost to Mississippi State Teachers college at Hattiesburg, 39-36.

Previously, Louisiana State Normal was the only S. I. A. A. opponent to claim a victory over the Techmen in four conference games played in Ruston. Tech's local successes include defeats of Millsaps, Mississippi State Teachers and Mississippi college.

With only two conference lickings out of eight games to date, the Techsters will tip-off with Centenary here Monday night with their conference rating to defend.

The battle between the Gents and Tech is expected to be the hardest fought engagement on the locals' schedule. A record-breaking crowd is anticipated. The game will start at 7:30 p.m., and the price of admission will be 75 cents, including tax.

Tech is booked to return a game with Centenary's cagemen in Shreveport on February 14.

Aside from their basketball relations, the Techmen and the Gentlemen are scheduled to come to blows in the boxing ring in two meets. On February 13, the local mittmen will meet a Gent squad in Shreveport, and on February 24 the two institutions will box in Ruston.

Following their victory of 5 1-2 to 2 1-2 over a "B" team from Louisiana State university here Friday night, there has been a rise in the stock of the Tech glove wielders.

While a complete lineup of the Tech boxers for the Centenary meet in Shreveport next Thursday is not yet available, Coach Eddie Wojecki stated Saturday that the following Tech mittmen are likely to oppose the Gents.

Wojecki, 118 pounds; Charles Hoover, 125 pounds; Don Wiley, 160 pounds; "Chic" Pipes, 175 pounds, and "Wimpy" Giddens, 200 pounds. The boxing mentor said that either James Coody or Jess Odom would be the local entrant in the 145-pound class. Possibilities for the 135-pound division are J. D. Holstun, John Black and Bill Gill.

United States consumption of Naphthalene, a product best known to the public in the form of moth balls, has increased rapidly in recent years due to the ever-widening use of this product in industry.

NEYLAND RETURNS TO COACHING JOB

Tennessee Mentor Happy To Be Back With His Football Squad

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—His face bronzed by a Panama sun, Major Robert R. Neyland arrived in Knoxville today to spend the next five years seeking victories and fame for the University of Tennessee football team—and incidentally, $12,000 yearly for himself.

It was a return—a happy return—to the scenes of his great triumphs as a football coach, where from 1926 through 1934, his master-built teams reached renown with a record of 76 victories, 7 losses and five ties.

Last year, Neyland away on an army assignment in Panama, the Vols cracked up, dropping games to five of their strongest rivals. An SOS call went out to Neyland from fans and alumni with an offer of a five-year contract at $12,000 annually.

Neyland retired from the army on his own application after 24 years' service, and today he, his wife, and their two sons, Bobbie, 6, and Lewis, 2, motored into town from New Orleans.

"It's great to be back in Knoxville with friends, and with the football team again," the 43-year-old army engineer smiled.

"I don't think I'll ever go back with the army again," he commented. "It's football from now on."

Neyland said he was anxious to get to work moulding the 1936 Volunteer football machine.

"I plan to start spring football practice as soon as the weather breaks," he said.

Major Bill Britton, who succeeded Neyland as head coach last year and his former assistant, has signed a one-year contract to return to his old job as end coach.

Neyland said he "hoped to have" Col. Paul B. Parker, now Tennessee's athletic director, "back as line coach."

Mammoth Stadium Planned For Army-Navy Grid Tilts In National Capital Setting

By Dillen Graham

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A huge stadium seating 80,000—one that likely would be the battleground of many Army-Navy football games—is planned for Washington.

National capital parks officials declare the stadium would be part of a large civic sports and recreation center proposed for southeast Washington along the Anacosta river.

Plans call for the stadium project to embrace a national guard armory, a giant drill field, tennis courts, playgrounds, baseball and football fields and provision for water sports and boating in the Anacostia.

Report In April

C. Marshall Finnan, superintendent of national capital parks, said a final report on the project would be submitted to Secretary Ickes in April.

The interior department is expected to prepare a bill for congress giving legal authority for erection of the stadium and providing for its operation by a government agency. Lack of immediate authority to build has slowed plans for the stadium's construction, officials disclosed.

The chief object is to provide a sports and recreational center for Washingtonians, particularly for youngsters, but officials have considered the probability that the Army-Navy game would be held here often.

There is no large stadium in Washington now. The American league baseball park, autumnal site of major football games, seats only 35,000 and, of course, is not primarily adapted for football.

Navy Plays In Baltimore

Lack of a suitable field has been a factor in the failure of the United States Naval academy to schedule games here. Next season, for instance, the sailors play Yale and Notre Dame in Baltimore. Park officials feel that a large stadium might induce Navy to play one or more games here every fall with the Army-Navy classic coming here every two or three years.

With six local colleges that play Friday night and Saturday, officials believe there would be no difficulty renting the stadium and that it would be a self-liquidating project.

Plans call for the building of a permanent grandstand seating 40,000 and for the erection of temporary bleachers holding another 40,000 on the opposite side of the field for major games.

Air transport service between the Panama canal and cities in South America has been speeded up, the time between the Canal Zone and Montevideo being reduced from four and one-half days to three and one-half days.

OUACHITA GIRLS GO INTO FINALS

Play Old Union Sextette For Dual State Cage Championship

JUNCTION CITY, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The girls' basketball team of the Ouachita parish high school of Monroe, La., and the sextette of the high school of Old Union, Ark., went into the finals of the annual dual state tournament here tonight.

The final game of the boys' division of the tournament was being played late tonight by teams from Jena, La., and Old Union.

The girls' final was scheduled to begin about midnight.

In games during the day, the Ouachita parish high school sextette defeated Myrtle Grove, Ark., 30 to 14, and defeated Junction City, 36 to 20.

The Old Union girls beat Louann, Ark., 40 to 7, defeated Lawson, Ark., 35 to 7, and won a 36-to-16 victory over Strong, Ark.

In the boys' division, Old Union trounced Lawson, 18 to 7, defeated Wyatt, 17 to 15, and earned a 23-to-18 victory over Coushatta. Jena beat New Hope 10 to 9, defeated Norphlet 20 to 16, and trounced Junction City 28 to 18.

Boys—Coushatta 23, Choudrant 7. Sandyland 17, Strong 8. Wyatt 14, Mount Holly 9. Coushatta 20, Castor 11.

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR IS ENTHUSIASTIC FAN

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 8.—(AP)—President Frank L. McVey of the University of Kentucky was recovering today from the buffeting he received last night sitting beside Governor A. B. Chandler at the Kentucky-Alabama basketball game, which Kentucky won, 41 to 34.

Governor Chandler, who at one time was a coach at Centre, outdid the undergraduates in the vigor of his own private cheering section. A crowd of 3,000 saw the game, one of the best of the season here.

NEVILLE BOXING SQUAD TO MEET ARCADIA TUESDAY

Tigers Expected To Chalk Up Sixth Victory Of Campaign

The Neville high school boxing team, which won another easy victory Friday night from the Lake Providence Tigers, will face the Arcadia high school Hornets here Tuesday night at the Neville auditorium in the locals' only home meet of the week. On Friday night the Neville mittmen will give the Lafayette Lions, whom they defeated earlier in the season, a return match at Lafayette.

The match with Arcadia will begin at 8 o'clock, and will be the Bengals' first engagement with Arcadia since Sam Jones and George Manteris battled for Neville. The Hornets are reported to have a fairly good team this year, but as usual the powerful Neville team is expected to come out on top and add their sixth straight victory.

Pat Cole and Ernest Pierce are leading the Bengals in victories won this season, and are due to repeat Tuesday. Cole, who is fighting at 98 pounds, has not been defeated this year, his first with Neville, and he has five victories to his credit. Pierce, 118, has been drawing some tough customers every time he has been matched, and has had to fight hard for everything he got. However, in four fights he has won four times. Marvin Spaugh, a whirlwind 112-pounder, and Tom King, 113, have not been beaten either this season, both having won three engagements.

The two Tiger "Shortys," Lavelle Green and Howard Earl, are other Neville top-notchers. Green has lost only one fight, his first of the season, but he has won three other scraps since then, two by knockouts. Earl has a similar record of one defeat and three victories.

Darius Crews, 165-pound state champion, Milo Mattinson, 118, and Walter Brady, 145, have two victories and one defeat for each of them. Crews lost his first fight of the season, showed a little improvement to win a decision in his second and then topped it off Friday night with a knockout in the first round over Malcolm Lightsey of Lake Providence.

Opponents have been hard to find for Neville's heavyweight, Harry Snyder, 180, but he has been matched twice, winning both times. In each instance Snyder was outweighed several pounds and was handicapped in reach.

BURMAN AND BATH SIGNED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Those old ex-battery mates, Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, are going to glare at each other from opposite corners of the ring after all.

Red Burman, Baltimore red head, managed by Dempsey, and Hank Bath, Fort Morgan, Colo., heavyweight protege of Kearns, were matched today for a ten-round battle in the Chicago stadium next Friday night. They were scheduled to box in Madison Square Garden a month ago, but the New York state athletic commission held it up pending clearing of a reported difficulty Kearns had with the California commission.

Bath, an Apache-like youngster, weighing 188 pounds, made a stunning impression in his sensational 10-round fight with Billy Treest, a thunderbolt from Batavia, Ill., two weeks ago. Pierced three times along the route, Bath got up to make a courageous finish.

D. MASUR & SONS

Quality Of Present Day Heavies Assures Louis Of Long Reign

By John J. Romano

Joe Louis has certainly showed up the caliber of the heavyweights performing as champions during the past seven years. Since the retirement of Gene Tunney the fans have had to bear with Max Schmeling, the first ever to win the world's crown sitting down; Jack Sharkey, a temperamental boxer whose flashes of good work was more than blocked out by irrational outbursts and general poor form; Primo Carnera, a circus freak, more or less, with bulk rather than ability to recommend him in any company; Max Baer, a playboy who really could fight if he wished, but who exchanged a million dollars for a mess of pottage in the form of a good time; and James J. Braddock, whose redeeming features are sincerity of purpose and courage.

Add them all together and you have the most pitiful group of masqueraders taking money under the false pretense of being genuine champions.

Joe Louis has been working as a professional a trifle more than twenty months. During that time he has shown more to convince the public that as fighting men, the champions and topnotchers for nearly a decade have been a craven crew with more ambition and ability to collect money than for fighting ability.

Louis admits he took more punishment as an amateur and in his early professional fights than he did in his last five fights put together, when Carnera, Baer, Levinsky, Paolino and Retzlaff were beaten before they entered the ring. Louis credits Carnera and Paolino with trying to fight back. Neither man is overly bright, and while they did their best they were not smart enough to take the easiest way out. Instead they stood up and were cruelly beaten before the referee stopped the one-sided massacre.

Quest For White Hope On

The quest for a white hope is in full swing. Judging from the manner youngsters are being matched and permitted to take unnecessary punishment it will be a long time before Joe Louis' dominance of the class is threatened. All the Detroit bomber has to do is sit back and allow the hopes, or dopes as they have been called of late, to eliminate each other and he can go into retirement much sooner than he plans.

A case in point is that of Frankie Connelly and George Brescia, who fought at Madison Square Garden recently and gave the fans as much to shout about as the never-to-be-forgotten Jack Dempsey-Luis Firpo thriller. There were no knockdowns, there was no title at stake, but for pure and simple slugging of the pier 6 type, the fans have not seen the like of it in years.

Connelly is a real Irishman. Nothing phoney about his name, size, heft or punching power. He has had a nice string of kayos and while appearing to carry too much fat around the middle, Pat Kenneally, who remembers Jim Jeffries when the former boilermaker started, claims Jeffries was built on the same lines and did not begin to flatten out his stomach muscles until after he had been fighting some time. Kenneally saw a big resemblance between Jeffries and Connelly in the manner in which the Bostonian whipped out a long left or hit sharply with the right. Connelly wrought plenty of damage whenever he connected with the right, even though he lost the decision to Brescia.

The point overlooked by the fans and the willing battlers' "smart" managers was the fact that both young men were compelled to take punishment a far-seeing and more humane mentor would have avoided. In the first round Connelly's left ear gashed blood from a sharply driven right. Another blow cut a deep gash over his left eye. Hasty ministration during the rest period staunched the flow of blood somewhat. It only required a light tap to reopen both wounds. Instead Brescia turned loose a blow with all the power of his 208 pounds behind it, and thereafter Connelly looked as if he had just come through the battle of the Marne. Even in his battered condition, Connelly managed to stagger his foe with well directed rights to the heart and several hard punches below the belt. Instead of stopping the fight and giving the young men a chance to meet at some later date, both managers shouted insane instructions to their charges and permitted the slaughter to go on.

Seconds At Fault

The writer does not mean to encourage fighters to "retire," as is done in Europe. The point is that Connelly, handicapped from the start from a severe blow on the ear and a cut over the eye, might have been permanently injured by another blow or faulty ministering of a caustic application to stop the flow of blood. Any reputable physician would have thought twice before attempting to sear the wounds with adrenalin, or whatever was used, in the short period allowed between rounds. Yet those hardy seconds, who have plenty of nerve when the other fellow is suffering, took that chance and laved the wounds with a liquid soaked sponge and dried it with a towel that had been used to dry off a sweated body.

Contests in which far less blood was let and the wounds not so serious have been stopped by the referee and the fans did not protest. But here was a case of two promising young men, hard hitters to boot, who were permitted to slug away for the full eighteen minutes without a let-up.

Johnny Buckley, who was Jack Sharkey's manager, and who was in Connelly's corner during this slaughter, was sorry after it was over. But that did not heal the wounded head or soothe the spirit of Frankie Connelly who carried a patch over his eye and a wad of cotton on his ear for a week or more.

Luigi Soresi, who handles Primo Carnera, did not check his enthusiasm or his shouted instructions to Brescia, who, heavy and out of condition, fought on his nerve to meet Connelly's repeated charges with nerve-inspired left jabs.

Performances such as these between two of the best young men in the east is all that is necessary to guarantee the unchallenged reign of Joe Louis as the best heavyweight in the world. They kill each other off!

TORRANCE BEATEN BY NEW ENGLAND SHOT-PUTTER

L. S. U. CHAMPION FINISHES SECOND IN BOSTON EVENT

Venzke Beats Mangan In Close Finish In Hunter Mile Feature

By Bill King
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Gigantic Jack Torrance of Louisiana State, the world's greatest shot-putter, suffered one of the few defeats of his brilliant career tonight. His best throw in the Boston A. A. meet's 16-pound event landed five and a quarter inches behind the winning toss of 51 feet 2 1-2 inches, made by Dimi Zaitz, Boston college's New England champion.

Tony Geniawicz of Dartmouth, the I. C. 4-A. titlist, placed third with a 47 feet 10 3-8 inch toss and Harry Niblock of the Lynn Y. M. C. A., the sectional A. A. U. ruler, also competed in this all-champion contest.

Gene Venzke, the Pennsylvania star who has been trailing the crack milers for some 20 races, gained his first major victory of the season tonight. He fought off Joe Mangan's stirring bid and raced to the Hunter mile tape in 4:14.4, the fastest indoor time ever recorded in Boston.

Mangan, who led Venzke and the world record holders, Glenn Cunningham, in last week's Wanamaker mile, was a yard behind Venzke when the bell sounded for their last turn about the 12-lap Boston garden track. The former Cornell star launched his closing spurt in the backstretch and pulled almost even with Venzke on the final turn.

Venzke managed to hold his slim lead during the blistering dash to the finish line and he had about three inches on Mangan when he snapped the tape.

There were only two other starters in this 47th renewal of the Boston Athletic association's featured event, Glenn Dawson of Tulsa, Okla., who finished third about 30 yards behind, and the national intercollegiate champion, Archie San Romano of Kansas State Teachers college, who was a half lap away when Venzke gained his thrilling and unexpected victory.

San Romano, Venzke, Mangan and Dawson raced in that order for eight laps. Venzke and Mangan jumped the field on the ninth and Dawson pulled up into the show position on the tenth turn about the track that was reconditioned for this event.

Mangan, noted for his blazing finish, made a magnificent bid for victory as he came around the final turn and tore into the flat but the victory-starved Quaker was determined to repeat the smashing victory he registered in this event last year. Tonight's time of 4:14.4 wiped out the Boston record of 4:15.2 made by Joey Ray in this race back in 1925.

Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse's Olympic hope, thrilled the 10,000 crowd by forging his way into the lead with two laps to go and racing on to a 12-yard victory over Herman Stewart of Amherst in the 600. He was clocked in 1:15.9. Two New Yorkers followed them home, Milton Shandler in third place and Timmy Ring, former Holy Cross star, last.

Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist university, expected to set a new world record tonight in the 45-yard high hurdle, was nosed out by Phil Good of Bowdoin in the final. Good equalled the indoor mark of 5.8 seconds in each of his three flights over the timbers. Ed Siegel of Brooklyn, gained an eyelash triumph over the two great negro stars, Eulace Peacock of Temple, and Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette, in the Briggs 50-yard dash, in 5.6 seconds.

Peacock was the broad-jump winner with a 23 feet 6 3-8 inch leap, three and three-eighths inches better than the best try made by Stanley T. Johnson of M. I. T.

Ray Sears of Butler university and Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. repeated their Millrose games duel, the former winning the Billings two-mile event by five yards in 9:22 flat. There were nine starters in this race but the only other finisher was Frank Nordell of Cleveland, who lost about 40 yards when he halted to assist Harold Manning of Wichita, Kan., after they collided during the second lap.

The sky-rocketing negroes, Albert Threadgill of Temple, and Cornelius Johnson of Los Angeles Compton junior college, jumped 6 feet, 7 inches to deadlock the high jump. George Spitz of the New York A. C. finished in third place, an inch lower.

Pole vault honors were captured by Eldon Stutzman of Syracuse who soared 12 feet, 6 inches, a quarter-foot higher than the runner-up, Oscar Sutermeister of the B. A. A.

Holy Cross, while gaining its 11th straight victory over Boston college's quartet, turned in the fastest team mile of the games, 3 minutes, 24.8 seconds, just before Chuck Hornbostel, former Indiana star, set a new meet record for the Billings "1,000" by defeating Harry Williamson of North Carolina university by five yards in a 2:13.8 race. Hornbostel, last year's winner here, was third, behind Williamson and Bill Ray of Manhattan when he started the final lap.

U. S. Hockey Team Beaten By Italians; Bob-Sled Star Hurt

OLYMPIC CAGERS TO PLAY OUTSIDE ON GRAVEL COURT

And The Contests Will Go On As Scheduled, Rain Or Shine

LAWRENCE, Kas., Feb. 8.—(AP)—United States contenders for the Olympic basketball competition at Berlin next summer had better pick out a nice, quiet graveled street and start practicing, and do at least part of their rehearsing on rainy days.

For, instead of using a smooth maple surface in a big gymnasium, the Olympic teams will be forced to play out-of-doors on a gravel court, with the possibility that in case of rain they'll just let it rain and play regardless.

Dr. F. C. Allen of the University of Kansas, newly elected director of the U. S. court forces, has received a letter from V. Bouryschkine, athletic director at the American School of Paris, explaining conditions under which the Olympic competitions will be held. Allen and Bouryschkine have been corresponding for several months regarding the latter's proposal to bring a European basketball team to this country.

"Play in the Olympics will be on gravel," Bouryschkine wrote. "This presents several difficulties such as the impossibility of a good dribble, accurate long shots, or, in case of rain, a slippery ball. Also, the referees are unusually strict on pivots, and very often call them traveling. There is no center line, and any stalling and freezing of the ball is perfectly legal. Most teams play man-to-man defense, and a fast running attack through deep passing and double crossing."

Bouryschkine asked Allen if the American team planned to reach Berlin in advance of the Olympic games, which are set for August 8-14, inclusive.

Allen also received information much of the same nature from Clarence Oakes, Kansas newspaper man who has just returned from a tour of Europe. All basketball is played out-of-doors on courts of gravel, or some bituminous compound. The Olympic basketball games are scheduled for the afternoons.

The American entry will be chosen through a series of nationwide elimination tournaments.

MAROONS SCHEDULE GAMES WITH FLORIDA

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Major Ralph Sasse, athletic director and head football coach, today announced a change in the state college football schedule which calls for a game with University of Florida at Gainesville, December 5, instead of Maryland at Jackson.

The Maroons have a two-year contract with Florida and according to Major Sasse, the 1937 game will be played in Jackson.

"After signing for a game with Maryland we had an opportunity to get a two-year contract with Florida, a conference team, and Maryland officials, who agreed to play us this year largely as an accommodation, were gracious enough to release us," Major Sasse said.

The State-Florida tilt, which will end the season for both teams, is the big home game for the Gators in 1936 and the only other conference team scheduled to be played at Gainesville being Sewanee.

Signing of Florida gives the Maroons five conference games, the others being Alabama, Sewanee, Louisiana State, and Ole Miss.

SHIBE ILL

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. John J. Fralinger said today Thomas S. Shibe, president of the Philadelphia American league baseball club, remained in a serious condition, although showing marked improvement the last two days.

Dr. Fralinger said he expected a crisis Monday. He said liquid food was administered yesterday for the first time in four days.

Shibe is suffering from a heart ailment. He returned to Philadelphia after being taken ill in Florida. He entered a hospital Wednesday.

L. S. U. WALLOPS GREENIES AGAIN

Louisiana State Gains 49-26 Victory Over Tulane Quintet

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Hitting their stride in the second period after playing their old rivals on even terms in the first, Louisiana State university's cagers tonight defeated Tulane, 49 to 26.

The victory made it two straight for L. S. U. over the Tulanians, as the local quintet won by smiliar score last night.

The game was deadlocked, 23 to 23, at the half, but L. S. U. got out in front and stayed there in the second period.

NEVILLE TENNIS CARD ANNOUNCED

Tiger Racquet Team Prepares For Opening Match With Arcadia

The 1936 tennis schedule for the Neville High school netters includes six matches, according to an announcement made yesterday by C. W. Paine, coach. The Bengals are already hard at work for the meets and will open their campaign here next Friday against the Arcadia high school Hornets.

The present schedule includes two matches each with Arcadia, Natchez, Miss., and Bolton of Alexandria. All three of these schools are boasting strong teams this year, it was reported, and can be expected to give the Bengals some tough fights.

With the exception of two players, the Neville aggregation is the same as that of last year. Elimination matches will begin tomorrow for the Arcadia meet and the players will be ranked according to the outcome of the qualifying events.

Coach Paine reports that on a whole the Neville squad is in good shape with the exception of Clyde Paine, captain, who suffered an ankle fracture recently. Captain Paine is defending singles champion of north Louisiana. With Paine in the No. 1 position, the remainder of the Neville rankings will probably be Richard Sackett in No. 2 position, either Billy Bendel or Noel Learned in the No. 3 place, either Louis Milner or Fred Culpepper in No. 4 position.

The complete schedule is:
Feb. 14: Arcadia, here.
Feb. 28: Arcadia, there.
March 7: Natchez, here.
March 14: Bolton, here.
March 21: Natchez, there.
March 28: Bolton, there.

YANKEE TEAM IS UPSET VICTIM IN BRUISING BATTLE

Italy Wins 2-1 In Overtime Periods; American Sled Crashes

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 8.—The United States suffered two major reverses in the fourth winter Olympics today as the hockey team, strongly favored to reach the finals, bowed to Italy in a stunning upset, and Donna Fox, pilot of the leading four-man bob-sledding team, narrowly escaped serious injury in a spectacular crack-up on the Olympic chute.

These developments overshadowed such other competitive results as Canada's third successive victory in defense of its hockey crown and the smashing triumph of Germany's Christel Cranz in the slalom and the combined downhill-slalom skiing championships for women.

America's hockey defeat, a shock to the experts, came in a wildly exciting, bruising game that went to two extra ten minute periods before Giovanni Scotti scored the goal that gave the Italians a 2-1 victory.

For the first time, the Americans found their unpopular but highly effective body-checking matched by the opposition. As a result tempers were on hair-triggers throughout the game. Ill-feeling cropped out early and stayed late while partisans in the crowd, biggest that has yet turned out for the hockey, alternately jeered and cheered.

The defeat, first for the United States in three matches, left in doubt the final standing for the first round-robin series.

American Olympic officials tonight overruled the desire of Fox to participate tomorrow in the final practice runs for the four-man competition, now scheduled for Tuesday.

"I expect to be all right," Fox said. "It was a painful tumble but I'll get over it."

On behalf of the committee, Dietrich Wortmann told the Associated Press: "We want Fox to rest tomorrow. We have another fine man in Francis Tyler and he will be assigned to the wheel of Fox's sled for tomorrow's workouts."

Fox suffered minor injuries to his hand and knee and his three American teammates were badly shaken up when their sled overturned on the final curve of the hazardous Olympic bob run during a practice spin. Fox, an undertaker in New York's Bronx, was taken to a hospital, but physicians said he would recover in time to participate in Olympic competition.

The accident, one of several that marked the reopening of the chute for practice, came on the final curve of the course. Fox lost control when the sled struck a soft spot and overturned.

Max Bly and James Bickford of Lake Placid, N. Y., and Richard W. Lawrence, the other members of the team, were thrown heavily onto the ice and hard-packed snow but escaped injury.

Lawrence told the Associated Press that a badly constructed approach to the curve where the sled spilled was chiefly responsible. He said the ice squares built into the curve start too suddenly, making it difficult to control the sled at high speed. Later Olympic officials promised to re-construct the approach in accordance with American wishes.

A half dozen other spills marked the practice descent of both four-man and two-man teams.

The American four-man sled piloted by J. Hubert Stevens of Lake Placid, N. Y., was clocked in 1:30 and 1:24.32 in two trial runs while Fox's crew was caught in 1:27 in its first trip down the chute. These times were eclipsed by at least a half dozen outfits from other countries.

America's two-man teams, officially named today, made good showings in trial runs in the afternoon. Alan Washbond and Ivan Brown of Keene Valley, N. Y., were timed in 1:30.64. Richard W. Lawrence of Branchville, N. J., and Gilbert Colgate, Jr., of New York, in 1:29.76.

Although Canada wound up its first round-robin hockey series with a perfect record, the Dominion stars ran into stubborn resistance from Austria and were hard pressed to win by a 5-2 count.

Fraulein Cranz, youthful member of a prominent Freiburg skiing family, made a show of the field in winning the slalom and combined tests.

The German girl made the two descents of the tricky, zig-zag slalom course in total time of 2 minutes, 22.1 seconds to beat her nearest rival, Mathe Grasegger, also of Germany, by more than 11 seconds.

Fraulien Cranz's victory in the slalom event, coupled with her sixth place in the downhill test yesterday, gave her the combined crown with a total of 97.06 points.

Elizabeth Woolsey of New Haven, Conn., and Helen Boughton-Leigh of Cleveland and London led the American team of four but were outclassed by the Europeans. Miss Woolsey finished 19th in the combined event and Mrs. Boughton-Leigh 18th in the slalom for the best American showings in these tests.

Germany, picking up 36 points in the slalom and combined events, took a wide lead in the race for the unofficial team championship with 58 points. Norway was second with 28.

U. S. TEAM UPSET

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Olympic ice hockey competition was thrown into turmoil today when the highly regarded United States team received an unexpected setback at the hands of the fighting Italian sextet while Canada, three times wearer of the Olympic crown, was chalking up its third straight victory.

The battle raged fierce and long before the Italian, defeated by Germany in their only other game, won, 2-1, after two extra periods. The prolonged battle kept the largest afternoon crowd of the winter games in the stadium long after dark.

The deciding goal came two minutes before the end of the second ten-minute extra period after both teams had counted within three minutes of each other in the third session. Mario Zucchini, Italian spare, tore down the ice and drove the puck at Tom Moone, American goal tender, from close in. As the disk rebounded off the goalie's pads, Giovanni Scotti with a lightning-thrust shoved the puck into the net.

Runnersup To Lawson Little Enter Texas' 'Junior National Amateur'

David Goldman (right) of Dallas, Texas, and Walter Emery (left) of Oklahoma City, who finished second to Lawson Little in the national amateur golf tournaments of 1934 and 1935, respectively, are expected to compete in the annual invitation tourney of the Houston, Texas, Country club, an amateur event starting February 19. Because of the select entry list, this tournament has come to be known unofficially as the "junior national amateur." Acceding to the demands of the feminine mashie-wielders, officials added a bracket for women this year. Among the leading contenders will be Mrs. Dan Chandler (shown above with Emery and Goldman), a Texan former champion of old Mexico.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—The pacebeaters of the amateur golf parade start their 1936 campaigning February 19 at the annual Houston Country club invitation event where simon-pure celebrities will gather for competition in one of the southland's oldest tournaments.

This crack event, which annually draws many of the nation's greatest shot-makers, could be styled the junior national amateur because of its all-star entry list. The runnersup to Lawson Little in the last two national tournaments are entered this year.

Moreland To Defend

Gus Turner Moreland of Peoria, Ill., a United States Walker cup star, who will defend his title, will find a dazzling array of sharp-shooters ready to match shots in the struggle for this year's crown.

Johnny Dawson of Chicago, 1933 champion, has advised officials he will compete and that he hopes for another chance at Moreland, whom he beat for the title in 1933.

David Goldman of Dallas, 1934 national amateur finalist, will lead the Dallas golfers into Houston. Among the Dallas linksmen is Reynolds Smith, sensation of the 1934 national amateur who went to the semi-finals and established a record by winning five consecutive extra-hole matches.

In addition to Goldman and Smith, Dallas will send Harry Todd, Texas amateur title-holder and former western junior open champion; Rufus King, the chap who gave Lawson Little a great battle in last year's national amateur; Jack Munger, former national interscholastic champion and twice a national amateur semi-finalist; O'Hara Watts, former Southwest conference champion, and many others who have commanded the headlines of golf.

Freddie Haas and Fred Odom, New Orleans, plan to enter. Edwin McClure of Shreveport; Walter Emery of Oklahoma City, 1935 national amateur finalist, and Ed White of Bonham, Texas, national intercollegiate champion, are others ready to challenge Moreland for the championship.

Women's Competition Added

Because of the demand, tournament officials have announced the addition of a woman's flight this year, and this special event is expected to attract many of the southland's best players, including Betty Jameson, former southern champion; Mrs. Dan Chandler, former champion of old Mexico, and many others.

WISCONSIN ROW UP TO REGENTS

Committee To Report Its Findings To Entire Board On Feb. 14

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The destiny of the University of Wisconsin athletic department, shaken by dissension between Football Coach C. W. Spears and Athletic Director Walter Meanwell, rested with the board of regents today.

A five-man subcommittee of the board concluded hearings last night and announced it would report its findings to the entire board at a meeting February 14.

Two hours of testimony by Spears ended the inquiry into the athletic department's troubles, brought to light last December when Football Captain-elect John Golemgeske admitted he circulated among the players, and later destroyed, a petition asking for the coach's removal. He said the circulation was encouraged by Dr. Meanwell.

Spears denied charges by Football Trainer William (Billy) Fallon that he ordered a brandy-coffee mixture given players between halves of games in 1932 and that he played men he knew were injured.

Questioned concerning conditions under which he came from Oregon to Wisconsin at a salary he said was lower, Spears said he understood he would be given consideration for the athletic directorship, then vacant. The athletic council, however, appointed Meanwell, for 20 years basketball coach at Wisconsin.

Spears said that after the poor football season of 1933 he turned down an offer from another school because he believed Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the university, would support him for director.

STERLINGTON STAR SIGNS WITH CATS

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 8.—(AP)—With six players signed, the Fort Worth ball club will put contracts in the mail Monday to 23 additional Cats, it was announced tonight by Business Manager Cecil Coombs following an all-day conference with Field Manager Harry McCurdy.

Four of the six signed athletes are semi-pro stars picked up by Coombs on the recommendation of scouts. They are:

LEON PETTITT BACK WITH CHATTANOOGA

Pettitt recently returned his major league contract unsigned, asking for a boost in salary.

Previous to his connection with the Washington club last season, Pettitt was a star member of the Lookout mound staff, winning 40 and losing 20 during the 1932, '33 and '34 campaigns.

He won eight and lost five last year with the Senators, being used to great extent as a relief hurler.

AMERICAN LOOP HAD 6 100-GAME CATCHERS IN '35

National Receivers Were Heavier Hitters Than Junior Circuit's

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—For some reason current baseball rosters show that catchers in the American league are much more durable while those in the National pack a heavier punch.

With backstops capable of averaging 100 games a season generally in the minority it's noteworthy to find six American leaguers in this class on the basis of 1935 records.

Only Cleveland and Philadelphia lacked a 100-game man. Only three National league catchers worked in 100 games last season.

Mickey Cochrane, who combines managing the world champion Detroit Tigers with a major share of the backstopping, has the best record of any receiver in either big league for durability. Mickey has appeared in more than 100 games per season for 11 years in a row. He will tie Ray Schalk's record if he adds another "century" to his collection, which he expects to do.

Cochrane's nearest rival is Gabby Hartnett, burly slugger of the Chicago Cubs, who passed the 100-game mark last season for the tenth time. Gabby also was the leading sticker among the catching regulars, with a mark of .344, one point higher than Ernie Lombardi of the Cincinnati Reds.

Virgil Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will double up this spring while Bill DeLancey is on the shelf, and Gordon Phelps, picked to replace Al Lopez with the Brooklyn Dodgers, are other heavy-hitting backstops on the National league list.

American league catchers make up in class what they lack in fence-busting ability. Cochrane's all-around play with the Tigers made the difference between a fourth-place club and a pennant-winner. Rick Ferrell of the Red Sox, who caught 131 games last year, is one of the smoothest workmen behind the bat. Luke Sewell was one of the main reasons for the excellent showing of the White Sox and Rollie Hemsley's comeback, under Rogers Hornsby's tutelage, was one of the sensations of 1935. Both caught over 100 games, Hemsley's total of 141 being tops in either league.

Bill Dickey has been jinxed repeatedly by injuries but when he is in shape the New York Yankees have no backstopping worries. Cleveland, badly handicapped by weak catching last season, hopes little Frankie Pytlak has recovered his health sufficiently to handle the No. 1 job.

Washington has a slow but hard-hitting young catcher in Cliff Bolton. The Athletics probably will replace the aging Charley Berry with the strapping Frank Hayes, recalled from Albany, for first-string duty.

The New York Giants rely on Gus Mancuso, who caught 126 games and had a good year in 1935. The aggressive Lopez should be the solution to Boston's long standing problem behind the plate. Pittsburgh obtained Al Todd, from the Phillies, to share the receiving with Tommy Padden. Earl Grace meanwhile has been shifted from the Pirates to give Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies a hand on the receiving end.

"...and to think I was afraid!"

"...a hundred dollars seemed so much I was afraid I could never pay it back. Then a neighbor told me how you lend cash to people who are working, so I came to you. I got the money I needed and you have made it so easy for me to repay I don't know why I was ever afraid."

If you need cash don't be "afraid," either. We lend $300 or less to single and married people on their own signatures and allow up to 20 months to repay, so write, phone or come in TODAY.

COUNT ROSSI TO MEET M'NAUGHT IN MAIN EVENT

ITALIAN MATCHED AGAINST CLEVER CANADIAN YOUTH

Bruscato Hopes To Get Tough Opponent For Kopecky Wednesday

Count Rossi, the long-haired, bewhiskered Italian who made his local debut against Floyd Byrd, rugged Kentuckian, last week, will return to Roosevelt stadium as a main event performer Wednesday night when he tangles with Don McNaught, clever Canadian youngster, on the weekly wrestling card at the local orena.

Rossi made quite an impressive debut last Wednesday night. Booked as a mild-mannered "nobleman" whose dignity would not permit him to sink to the tactics of an ordinary barrelhouse wrestler, the Count turned out to be slam-bang grappler whose methods parallel those of Wild Red Berry, Joe Kopecky, the Masked Marvel and others who have won fame as outstanding exponents of the roughhouse style of crushing skulls.

Even Rossi's appearance is impressive. He sports a bushy crop of hair that would delight any barber who ever owned a pair of shears. He has a goatee that is correctly trimmed to its finest point. Out of the ring, he effects the true Continental manner, beret, monocle and all.

Rossi claims his title is no phoney. He was born in Rome and came with his family to America in 1912, settling in California. He had parts in several motion picture productions and at one time was trainer for Wallace Beery.

The Italian weighs 174 pounds and is powerfully built. He demonstrated that he has picked up plenty of tricks in the wrestling ring by giving Byrd a thorough going over. He used his fists freely, pulled hair, gouged eyes and twisted fingers in true villainous style.

McNaught has had unusual success against the rough boys and Promoter Charlie Bruscato decided to give him another tough assignment. Don has absorbed plenty of punishment in the local ring during the past couple of months, but he has demonstrated that he can "take it" and still wage an interesting battle against the meanies. The youngster knows lots of holds and has had enough experience to match his science against anything the rough lads have to offer.

Promoter Bruscato also announced yesterday that he had signed Joe Kopecky, everybody's enemy, for the semi-final match. The promoter is attempting to book a tough, experienced grappler for the wild Bohemian. Kopecky was disqualified last week for excessive fouling of McNaught and almost started a riot at the stadium when he and the fans jawed back and forth at each other.

JONES' TEAM OPENS GRID WORK MONDAY

NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones will lock himself up with 13 lettermen and a host of squadmen next Monday afternoon and it will be football season again on the Oklahoma university campus.

There will be six weeks of strenuous spring practice.

The lure is the hope of a 1936 Big Six championship. Jones came here as head coach too late last year to conduct spring practice.

This year it will be a serious business.

Gates of the practice field will be locked to all except players, coaches and the press.

"Our chief problem will be to develop reserves," Jones said today. "Also we must find backfield men who can serve both as quarterbacks and ball carriers. We must develop left tackles and devote much attention to our end situation."

OLE MISS DEFEATS MAROONS, 48 TO 42

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi evened the series with Mississippi State's basketball team tonight but it took two overtime periods to win, 48-42.

Ole Miss led at the half 24-20, but Armstrong's two field goals tied the score, and until the regulation period ended at 40 all, the score was tied eight times.

Armstrong looped in a long goal in the first extra period and Clay got one for Ole Miss, leaving the score deadlocked at 42 at the end of the extra five minutes.

State failed to score in the last extra period and Ole Miss got three field goals.

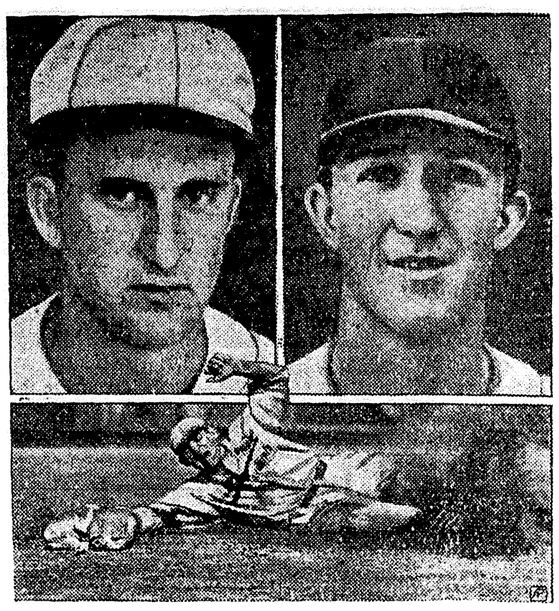
Cleveland Rated Only A 'Dark Horse' In 1936 Flag Race

Gas-House Gang Lines Up Six Rookie 'Sack-Swipers' To Pal With Pepper Martin



Among the rookies ready for their 1936 debut with the St. Louis Cardinals are half a dozen lads from the minors who averaged 44 stolen bases in their respective leagues last season. Lyle Judy (right) set a world record of 107 base-thefts while with the Cardinal farm at Springfield, Mo., in the Western association last year. The second-ranking bag-pilferer going up to the Cardinals is Lynn King (left), who swiped 35 sacks while playing outfield with Houston's Texas league club last year. They will team with Pepper Martin (shown in action), who led the National league in stolen bases in 1933 and 1934 and placed second in this department in 1935.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—National league catchers may find they have fallen among thieves when they meet the 1936 model gas-house gang of St. Louis.

To accompany the base-stealing genius of the veteran Pepper Martin—second among National league bag pilferers last season and first the two years before—the Cardinals have added six rookies whose talents run to larceny on the base paths.

The six averaged 44 stolen bases per man last summer.

Lyle Judy, who stole 107 for Springfield, Mo., in the Western association, to break the world record last season had considerable to do with the high average, but all the rookies finished near the top in their respective leagues.

Next to Judy comes Lynn King, Houston outfielder who swiped 35 sacks to equal the Texas league record.

Pat Ankenman, shortstop from Columbus, O., was third among American association "thieves" with 21 stolen bases, and 27 steals by Stuart Martin, Asheville outfielder, earned him fourth place in the Piedmont league.

Louis Scoffic and Eddie Morgan are a base-stealing pair from Bloomington, Ill., of the Three-I league. Morgan grabbed 30 bases to take second place in the league and Scoffic was third with 23.

The newcomers will be shooting at Pepper Martin's place of supremacy among Cardinal base stealers, but Pepper has demonstrated his ability to lead fast company. He picked off 20 bases last season, 23 the season before and 26 in 1933.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

A soured and saddened man is Mr. Moe ("Cholmondeley") Berman, late of Broadway, New York, but now of London, and disgust stamps his face as vividly as the inch-square green checks on his ultra-English tweed suit.

Moreover, Moe is bewildered. He is hurt.

As a charter member of the Bronx Cheer Club and the "In-theBag" fraternity, back home, Moe guesses he knows his rights and not only his rights but also the proper decorum for an irate prize-fight customer when the referee gives what Moe calls a cheesey decision.

For years, he has been calling them. "As I seen 'em," added Moe, and he shrugged gloomily. "But now—"

But now he is practically ready to give up his British accent, painstakingly acquired since his arrival a short time ago.

A Misunderstanding

"I don't unnastan these limeys," he said. "They don't spenk my language."

Moe's misunderstanding arose at Royal Albert Hall, when the referee gave Tommy Farr, of Wales, a dubious decision over Tommy Loughran, the veteran "Philadelphia Phantom," who—as the critics afterwards agreed—gave young Farr a boxing lesson for 10 rounds.

The decision stunned even Farr's most ardent supporters. The crowd gasped. But with well-bred English reserve, they merely murmured polite surprise.

"Boo-oo!" said Moe, on a foghorn note. It was, he said later with a touch of pride, undoubtedly the most spine-chilling Bronx cheer he had ever uncorked.

Slowly, the crowd took it up. Jeers and hoots leaped from dozens, then scores, then hundreds of throats. Moe led the chorus.

"Robbery!" he screamed, and looked around. The chorus missed its cue.

"In the bag!" bellowed Moe, prodding the bowler-hatted individual next to him. The bowler-hat started to murmur something, but Moe cut him off with a deafening cry:

"Frame-up!"

'A Bit Thick'

It was then that Moe learned the difference between Bronx and Britain. The bowler-hatted individual addressed him:

"That's a bit thick, old chap," he said, "Rummy decision, and all that. But 'frame-up,' you know. Really—"

It simply, Moe learned, isn't done. Back home, yes. But not in England.

British sports writers, commenting on the fight, guardedly agreed with Moe.

Loughran himself told the Associated Press man, in his dressing-room just after the fight: "I thought I was so far ahead that out of a spirit of English 'fair play' I didn't try to cut him up. If I'd been fighting in a Latin country I could have understood a decision like that, but I didn't expect to get it in England."

WALL AND VARE TO FINALS AT BELLEAIR

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen B. Stetson, of Philadelphia, former national champion, was eliminated from the annual February women's golf tournament today by Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., 4 and 2.

Hardly tested since the tournament opened, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, the United States title-holder, entered the finals against Miss Wall.

Yourthful Betty Edwards of Dallas, Texas, held Mrs. Vare even for six holes, but succumbed, 5 and 4, to the latter's steady play.

TEAM PICKED TO WIN IN '35 HAS LITTLE BACKING

Improvement Of Other Teams Leave Indians Without Much Hope

CLEVELAND, Feb. 8.—(AP)—At this time last year the Cleveland Indians were the popular choice of the baseball experts to win the American league pennant. Today Cleveland is rated as a dark horse in the 1936 race with only a slight chance of upsetting Detroit and Boston.

The failure of the Indians last season was due to injuries, illness and internal troubles. The Indians' mound staff, rated so highly in the preseason dope last years, fell apart when Frank Pytlak's health failed and the peppy little catcher was forced to quit the game.

The team's internal troubles seem to have been remedied with the displacement of Walter Johnson, Steve O'Neil, Johnson's successor as pilot, is popular with the players and the fans in Cleveland. He has put new spirit into the team. Just look what he has done with Pytlak.

Pals From Toledo

Pytlak and O'Neil worked together in Toledo and long have been close friends. It just about broke O'Neil's heart to see the little fellow slip out of the picture last year. Even in "retirement" Pytlak reported regularly to O'Neil seeking advice and informing him of the progress he was making in his fight to regain his health. O'Neil built up the catcher's spirit with encouragement. The rest was easy. Now Pytlak boasts 18 added pounds and is itching to don the big mitt and chest protector.

The improved condition of the Indians' catcher has given Cleveland's pennant hopes a big boost, for in condition Pytlak rates with the best receivers in the game.

The Indians are also counting heavily on the return of Louis (Bozie) Berger to the form that stamped him as one of the finds of 1935 until an arm injury forced him out late in the season. It was hurt as he made a fast underhand throw and benched for weeks.

"It hasn't given me a bit of trouble," Berger says. "Of course, I haven't done a lot of throwing, but there was no pain the few times I threw a ball."

Roland Logan, the Rex Sox trainer who spends the winter looking after George Washington university athletes in the national capital, is one of Berger's close friends and Bozie says he plans to work out with Logan and let him look over the arm and give it the attention it may need.

Resting And Hunting

Berger is enjoying a long rest, living with his mother at Rosslyn, Va., across the Potomac river from Washington. He did quite a bit of hunting last fell and took in a lot of football games.

Several afternoons a week he devotes to coaching the basketball team at Fort Myer, a cavalry post near his home. He was an all-Southern conference guard during his college days at the University of Maryland and says he gets a great kick out of coaching the khaki-clad lads.

Berger scales 190 pounds, which means he will have to shed about five pounds in the training period. He feels that he should do better in 1936 with a year's big league experience under his belt. His confidence, based on last year's work, he figures ought to add 40 points to his batting average, bringing it up to the .300 mark.

MOREHOUSE TOURNEY IS SLATED THURSDAY

BASTROP, Feb. 8.—(Special)—The annual basketball tournament to select the two teams to represent Morehouse parish at the district rally to be held in Ruston will take place in Bastrop next Thursday. The tournament will be played in the gymnasium of the Bastrop high school, beginning next Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock and all boys' basketball teams in the parish are to take part.

The boys' cage teams to take part in the tournament are Bastrop, Bonita, Collinston, Mer Rouge and Oak Ridge. The preliminaries will begin at 1 o'clock and continue until 5 o'clock. The two final games will be played Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The two best teams will then enter the district rally to be held at Ruston on February 20 and 21 as representatives of Morehouse parish.

RUTH TO 'COMMAND' OLYMPIC BALL TEAM

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Leslie Mann, executive vice-president and secretary of the Amateur Baseball Congress of the United States, today completed negotiations with Babe Ruth for the former home run king to serve as commandant of the United States' amateur baseball delegation to the Olympic games.

He also will sit as chairman at the convention of nations when the world Olympic baseball congress will be organized for future Olympic baseball competition.

Baseball has not yet been officially admitted to the Olympic program, but the United States will send two teams to Berlin to stage a demonstration game next summer.

PATTY BERG WINS BILTMORE CROWN

Minneapolis Girl Beats Marion Miley To Cop Second Golf Title

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The meteoric career of 17 years old Patty Berg, Minneapolis' red haired school girl, hit another high point this afternoon as she won the fourth annual Miami Biltmore women's amateur golf tournament.

In drizzling rain swirling along on cold, gusty winds, the plucky youngster, one down at the end of the morning 18, paraded through 15 holes of the afternoon round in one stroke under par to defeat Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., 4 and 3, in the 36 hole final.

It was the second straight victory in Florida for the Minneapolis youngster, who took up golf five years ago and improved so swiftly she reached the final of the 1935 National.

Last week at Punta Gorda, she defeated more experienced golf stars to reach the final, where she upset Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Miami, five time Metropolitan champion.

Miss Berg's game was ragged during the morning round. Tee shots and woods found sand traps at three fourths the holes and one long putt after another hung at the lip of the cup. She needed 87 strokes, five over par, for the round and found herself one down to the tall, brunette Miss Miley, whose medal figure was also 87.

This afternoon, however, Patty won the first in par to square matters, halved the next in bogey figures and bettered par one stroke at the third to go one up. She was not headed thereafter, as pars and birdies that atoned for bogeys clicked monotonously from her clubs.

Her medal card for the out nine this afternoon was 39 against 44 this morning, while Miss Miley needed 45, one more than her 44 of the morning. Miss Berg was even par for the last six holes of the match, the Kentuckian slipping two over.

JENA CAGE MEET TO BE HELD SATURDAY

JENA, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The annual LaSalle parish basketball rally is scheduled to be held at the Jena community center gymnasium beginning at 9 a.m. next Saturday. Jena, Olla, Urania and Good Pine will have senior boys' teams entered and these schools, with the addition of Nebo, will enter senior girls' teams. Nebo, Tullos and Fellowship will enter junior boys' and girls' teams. Considerable confusion resulted at the tournament last year due to the fact that numerous grammar school teams were entered. This year a tournament will be held at a later date for teams of this class.

The Jena Giants have practically clinched the parish championship with wins over practically every team in the parish. The Giants have lost only one game this year, to Harris, the state champions. They have piled up a total of 611 points to 319 for opponents and have won 14 of 15 games played.

Individual stars of the team include M. J. Haynes, who is probably the best guard who has played here since "Sparky" Wade, Fred Lees, Wilfred "Gopher" Gaharan and Woodie Doshier, an all-state man last season. Don Steen of the Olla Tigers is also expected to be a star in the tournament.

Jena is scheduled to meet Bolton high of Alexandria at the local gym on Friday, February 14.

NET ASSOCIATION AWARDS TOURNEY DATES AND SITES

New Orleans May Get Australia-Cuba Matches In Cup Play

By Bob Cavagnaro
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—An abortive attempt to return the intercollegiate championships to grass courts from clay was decisively beaten today by a two to one vote at the 45th annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

By a proxy vote of 30,125 to 16,325 the meeting awarded the tournament for the second year to Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill. Awards of dates and sites for all other 1936 championships were speedily approved, as well as a plan to revive the national interscholastic singles and doubles championships this year. The latter probably will be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., next September.

The Davis Cup committee, which held a separate meeting, failed to act on the allocation of ties in the North American zone. Holcombe Ward, chairman, said intense rivalry for the holding of the Cuba-Australia and United States-Mexico matches has developed in the south and southwest with New York, Philadelphia and Los Angeles bidding for the anticipated final between America and Australia.

To the end of making some headway in determining the assigning of the final match, a special committee inspected the facilities of the Germantown Cricket club, where America lost the Davis cup to France nine years ago. The committee, however, declined to comment on its findings there.

Although the approval of the other nations must be sought, Ward hinted strongly all Davis cup competitions in this country will be played on clay.

The skirmish over the intercollegiate tournament was precipitated by Philadelphia delegates and supported by Julian S. Myrick, former president of the U. S. L. T. A. Prior to last year, the tournament had been played on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket club here from 1900 to 1934.

Other tournament awards follow: Men's, women's and veterans', Sept. 3-12, West Side club, Forest Hills, L. I.; national doubles, Aug. 24-29, and public parks, Aug. 17-22, both Boston; clay courts, June 15-20, Chicago; 1937 men's-women's indoor, March (dates undecided), New York.

Walter Merrill Hall, first elected in 1934, and all other 1935 officers were re-elected.

Houston, New Orleans, Atlanta, Kansas City, Memphis and Nashville have applied for the first cup ties with the Texas city considered an almost certain choice for the U. S.-Mexico match. New Orleans and Kansas City are regarded as the stronger contenders for the Australia-Cuba tie.

Ten carved chairs representing various California missions have been presented to Santa Clara university.

CODY OPENS FLORIDA GRID WORK MONDAY

ATLANTA, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Spring football practice at the University of Florida will get under way Monday afternoon, Josh Cody, newly-appointed head coach of the Alligators, said here today.

In Atlanta for a basketball game between his Vanderbilt Commodores and Georgia Tech, Cody said he would leave Sunday morning for Gainesville, rejoining the Vanderbilt team the latter part of next week.

Lewis Hardage, who has been named as Cody's assistant, joined the Florida coach here this afternoon.

KLEIN TAKES HIS SECOND PAY CUT

Player Who Kicked When Offered $30,000 In 1934, Gets $12,500

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles "Chuck" Klein, who kicked up quite a fuss before agreeing to accept $30,000 for his baseball labors in 1934, took a second straight salary cut today by signing a 1936 Chicago Cub contract for $12,500.

After some correspondence with his Cub bosses, who tried to get him for years and then succeeded by paying $125,000 to Philadelphia for his contract in the fall of 1933, the big outfielder decided to take the offer. Under the Cub bonus system, he will have a chance to boost that salary if he approaches anything near the form that made him one of the greatest hitters in the game at Philadelphia.

Klein, except for a flash here and there such as his winning home run in the fifth game of last fall's world series against Detroit, has been a great disappointment since joining the Cubs. Because of injuries and a downright dislike for the architectural makeup of Wrigley field, home of the Cubs, the former Philly home run king has suffered his worst batting slumps. In 1934, he played in 115 games and hit .301 after a great start; last season, he batted but .223 in 119 games, winding up the season on the bench. If his slump continues, his batting average may come close to the bowling marks he is hanging up on his Indianapolis alleys.

Klein's signed papers brought all but four of the championship Cubs in the fold. All except Outfielder Augie Galan, Shortstop Bill Jurges and Pitchers Larry French and Bill Lee have signed. Galan is the only one of the quartet who has definitely advised the Cub office that his 1936 contract is unsatisfactory.

BOXING TOURNEY TO BE HELD AT MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Southeastern Amateur Athletic Union's annual boxing tournament, which will serve as divisional competition in the Olympic games trials, will be held here March 17 to 21, a committee announced here today.

It will be the first time that Memphis has been awarded the meet, Brill Willis, general chairman of the committee, said entries already were being recevied.

The National A. A. U. Olympic trials will be held in Cleveland.

Willis said entrants were expected from Mississippi State college and the University of Mississippi, Vicksburg, Miss., Pensacola, Fla., Bauxite, Ark., Fort Benning, Ga. Helena Ark. Little Rock, Ark., Nashville, Tenn., Earle, Ark., Tupelo, Miss., Jackson, Tenn., Dyersburg, Tenn., and possibly other points.

Monroe Man Given New Lease On Life By The Gly-Cas

Kidney And Stomach Disorders Had Filled Mr. Liles System With Poisons, Highly Nervous, Dizzy, Couldn't Sleep; Then Gly-Cas Amazes.

"Never before have I seen a medicine do its work so quickly and thoroughly as this new Gly-Cas," said Mr. John W. Liles, 503 Stone avenue, Monroe, well known local gentleman in charge of the V. F. W. Club rooms, recently in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city:

MR. JOHN W. LILES

"Gly-Cas is a remarkable medicine to get one up to par," continued Mr. Liles, "My friends have noticed a remarkable improvement in my condition since I began this new herbal remedy. Over a period of years chronic constipation had filled my system with poisons, affected my stomach and generally upset my system. I was unable to eat a single meal without great discomfort for I was sure to suffer with bad attack of indigestion after eating. My kidneys did not function properly, was extremely nervous and it was difficult for me to rest well at night. Before I had heard of Gly-Cas I resorted to practically any medicine that was suggested to me—but met with the same results—failure. But once I began Gly-Cas my health was soon restored."

"I urge all sufferers to try this new Gly-Cas since it has done so much for me," said Mr. Liles, "I am now able to enjoy the foods I eat without fear of becoming ill. I sleep soundly the whole night through, arise in the morning with a clear head instead of that awful dizziness. My former pep and energy has been restored and I have actually been given a new lease on life by this new Gly-Cas. Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever found that did exactly as it claimed to do."

So it goes—another case right here in Monroe where Gly-Cas accomplished the seemingly impossible after all else tried had failed.

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard St., Monroe, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Badminton, Old-New Game, Becomes Major American Sport

By Jimmie Donahue
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

Poona is one of the fastest growing indoor games in America. Never heard of it, eh? Well, badminton is the name by which we know the sport that is sweeping the country.

Badminton is played outdoors, too, especially in Hollywood, but the secret of its success in America is that it comes closer than any other game to giving tennis players a satisfactory indoor game.

Indeed, Jack Purcell, the Canadian professional badminton champion, gave up a tennis career that promised a berth on the Dominion Davis cup squad to take up the faster sport.

Purcell probably is the finest badminton player in the world. He recently defeated D. C. Hume, English champion, 15-3, 15-10, and Jess Willard, the American star, 15-10, 15-2.

To get an idea of how slowly the game caught on in the United States, you must first realize that the first badminton club in the world was organized 58 years ago in New York, when bustled ladies and frock-tailed gentlemen gathered together to bat the "bird" back and forth.

But the sport is much older than its American history. It was played in India centuries ago. It was introduced to modern civilization in 1873 by English army officers on furlough in their native land. They demonstrated the game at a house party in the home of the duke of Gloucester.

Widely Played In England

The sport then was known as shuttlecock, or battledore, but on the occasion of its inaugural in England, it was named badminton, after the duke's estate.

Poona, shuttlecock, battledore, or badminton, the game's getting along. England has more than 2,000 clubs, and more than 250,000 play the game in that country. There are nearly 100,000 participants in Canada, 15,000 of whom come under the Canadian Badminton association's jurisdiction.

The game has progressed in the United States to an extent where there are associations operating in four sections—Metropolitan New York, New England, Middle States, and Pacific coast—with 25,000 members.

The reason the sport has become popular only in the last few years is that devotees had a hard time convincing skeptics that it wasn't as simple as those old parlor games, spin-the-pan, parchesi, dominoes, or tiddly-winks. Once one of these diehards takes part in a game, however, he is convinced that badminton is one of the most strenuous sports extant.

The writer first became acquainted with the game three years ago on a fishing trip to Hudson, Ont. There, in the wilderness surrounding Mike Ament's camp, was a court on which unlucky anglers could take their spite out on the "bird," or shuttlecock.

A wisp of a girl invited me to play. The bird whistled around my ears and out of the reach of my racquet. I was soundly drubbed, and gained respect for the sport.

Swat Shuttlecock

Badminton is played on a court 17 by 44 feet, with a net five feet high strung across the center. The racquet is smaller than the one used in tennis. The server performs much in the manner of a tennis player, except that the bird must be hit from below the waist. It is hit with a twist motion. The bird has a cork body about an inch in diameter. Quills of a Czechoslovakian goose are stuck in the top of the cork.

So arranged, the bird can be made to do all sorts of deceptive movements. The drop shot, which plummets to earth right after crossing the net, is the most disconcerting to a player figuring on a back court return.

Only those points scored by the server counts. He bats the bird across the net. If the opponent misses it during the volley, a point is scored for him. If he misses it on his serve, no point is scored, and his opponent serves and attempts to score. A regulation game generally consists of 15 points in singles, and 21 in doubles.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Aircrafts led a late mild rally in today's brief stock market session. Various mines, rubbers, oils and specialties also improved. Gains were mostly fractional at the steady close. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

The list stumbled over considerable profit-taking in the first hour, but did not give much ground. Selective demand appeared near the finish.

Cotton was somewhat higher most of the day, while grains did little. Bonds were a trifle better than steady, with U. S. governments mixed. Foreign exchanges were quiet, although the majority hovered around the gold export point.

Among the better acting shares at the finish were Douglas, United Aircraft, Sharon Steel, U. S. Steel, Auburn, Goodyear, Goodrich, Coca-Cola, United States "A," Cerro De Paso, Standard Oil of California, Delaware & Hudson and American Telephone. An advance of some 22 points was recorded by Homestake Mining on a few transfers. Aside from Auburn, the other motors were about unchanged, as were the majority of the utilities and rails. There were a number of minor declines.

Wall Street sentiment was still on the constructive side, but a number of commission house customers were said to have adjourned to the sidelines pending the meeting of the supreme court Monday and a possible decision on the TVA.

Further small gold shipments did not seem to excite the financial district unduly and there was no noticeable revival of inflationary psychology.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Stocks steady; list resists realizing. Bonds fractionally improved; governments irregular. Curb narrow; utilities edge ahead. Foreign exchanges quiet; gold monies at export levels. Cotton higher; domestic and foreign trade buying. Sugar quiet; commission house liquidation. Coffee quiet; trade selling.

CHICAGO—Wheat strong; crop damage reports. Corn firm; sympathy with wheat. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs strong to shade up, top $10.45.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—In a quiet week-end session today, cotton prices worked up to small net gains ranging from 3 to 6 points.

The advance was a slow, point-to-point affair and resulted more from a scarcity of contracts than from any impressive buying interest in the market.

Traders wishing to be out of the market over the week-end furnished most of the buying impetus through short covering and profit-taking purchases.

March ended the week at 11.12, May at 10.79; July at 10.56, Oct. at 10.27 and Jan. at 10.28.

Latest word from the capital reported little progress in legislative plans for cotton and this uncertainty tended to restrict dealings to abnormally low levels.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged early today. Local refiners seemed willing to pay last prices of 3.30 for spots but there was nothing offered in nearby positions below 3.35 and the only sale confirmed was 28,700 bags of Puerto Ricos concluded late yesterday for March shipment at the 3.35 level.

Futures were a shade easier under scattered local and commission selling but the volume of business was small and trading mostly in the way of evening up for over the week-end adjournment. March contracts sold off from 2.37 to 2.36 and July from 2.40 to 2.39, closing at the lowest with the general market 1 to 2 points net lower. Sales were only 1,300 tons.

Refined was quiet and unchanged at 4.65 for fine granulated.

100 FAMILIES WITHOUT RADIOS TUNE IN ON AIR

OWINGS, S. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Approximately 100 families, without radios of their own, have a radio hookup here that may be used as a telephone system when not "tuned in" on the air.

Zed Vaughn, of Green Pond, set up a loudspeaker system and wire from his radio to homes of the neighborhood. He decides what should be "broadcast" over the hookup, and charges a rental for its use.

By shouting into their receivers, persons on the line may "telephone" as far as 15 miles.

All the neighbors, however, can listen to the conversation.

INDUSTRIAL REVIEW TWIN CITIES

OLDSMOBILE HAS MANY FEATURES

New Models Embody Safety, Comfort, Performance And Economy

An automobile can only be as good as its features.

Every modern car should have every feature which has been proven important to safety, comfort, performance and economy.

This was the statement of D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile vice president and general sales manager, in outlining what the car manufacturer means by "features."

"In the 38 years which have elapsed since Oldsmobile built its first car in 1897 there have been literally thousands of suggested changes," he said. "Many of them have become approved parts of our cars. Hundreds of others have been tried, found wanting, and discarded.

"Today there are certain definite features which should be incorporated in every car. First are those which provide safety. In this high speed age we must make every automobile as safe as is humanly possible.

"Second are features which provide comfort, make long rides enjoyable, take the bumps from the road, and give new conveniences to the passengers.

"Next are those advantages which make the engine perform more smoothly, add to its acceleration, give it power on long grades as well as on level straight-aways.

"And last, but not least, those features which mean greater gasoline mileage, less oil consumption and less wear and tear on the car.

"Oldsmobile believes that all should be incorporated in a modern motor car. Citing just a few of those proven advances which cannot be left off an up-to-date car, one thinks first of brakes in connection with safety.

"Hydraulic brakes have been proven to be the surest, swiftest stopping brake by millions of miles of driving experience. Hydraulic brake-equipped cars do not swerve to right or left when pressure is applied. The solid steel top, too, is a safety advance of major importance. It serves not only as protection over the heads of passengers but lends great strength and rigidity to the entire body.

Safety glass is another feature which adds greatly to safety, and is standard equipment on all Oldsmobiles. Center control steering and knee action wheels make the car more easy to control in an emergency. These and a score of other features Oldsmobile has built into its 1936 cars to provide safety.

"Knee action wheels probably have added more to the passengers' comfort than any other feature of recent years. Scientific distribution of weight, combined with knee action and the ride stabilizer, has aided greatly in giving a better balanced, more comfortable ride. Deeper, wider seats, comfortable upholstery, Fisher no-draft ventilation to give fresh air in all sorts of weather—all these have contributed largely to comfortable touring—and Oldsmobile has them all.

"In speak of performance, Oldsmobile may well be proud of its power plants. Smooth running, lively in acceleration, providing all the speed that is necessary at any time, with ample power to climb the steepest hills, Oldsmobile's engines are noted for their dependability and all around efficiency.

"Economy may be obtained in many ways. Upkeep, perhaps, is uppermost in the mind of an owner. Upkeep includes the cost of gasoline and oil and tires and repairs. Through improvements in carburetion and manifolding, and adoption of a new vacuum fuel saver, Oldsmobile has increased gasoline mileage. Oil consumption has been reduced by constantly improving various parts of the engine, the latest advance being the use of a new specially hardened lightweight aluminum piston. Repairs have been minimized by the use of quality materials, and precision manufacturing in every part of the car. And in recent years tire mileage has been materially improved by new processes of manufacture and by lightening the brake load through the use of more efficient brakes.

"Those are features—just a few of the features which Oldsmobile believes should be built into every modern automobile—and which are found on both the 1936 Six and Eight in the Oldsmobile line."

AMPLE ROOM HERE

USE OF WINTER OIL IS STRESSED

Proper Lubricants Are Necessary For Perfect Motor Operation

Many motorists, unaware of the important differences between various grades of motor oil, are continuing to use heavy summer lubricants despite cold winter weather to the severe detriment of their cars, it is pointed out in an automotive winter driving bulletin issued today.

That this neglect not only endangers the mechanical efficiency of the car, but will also make the car harder to start and more difficult to operate, is pointed out in the bulletin which says:

"Oils for summer use are made heavy in body that they will remain efficient at high temperatures which tend to make oil become too thin. If left in the crankcase during the cold season, such oils may become too thick and fail to circulate properly to moving parts. This may be the source of hard starting troubles and invariably means excessive engine wear. All manufacturers of lubricants recommend particular grades of oil for different seasons and these recommendations should be followed if the driver wishes to insure the satisfactory and efficient operation of his car."

It is often the case that the motorists allow too long an interval between crankcase drainings, the bulletin continues. This also, is apt to be the cause of serious motor trouble and mostly repairs. Even the best grades of oil, containing a minimum of decomposable natural impurities, become contaminated during the course of operation. Water, gasoline, road dust and minute metal particles are most common cause of oil contamination.

"Water in the crankcase is caused by the condensation of water vapor in the clyinders. It should be remember, that for every gallon of gasoline that is burned, more than a pound of water is produced which normally finds its way out through the exhaust. In winter, when the motor is operating at low temperatures, this water vapor condenses in the cold cylinders and seeps down into the crankcase, diluting the oil."

Gasoline finds its way into the oil through "blowby" down cylinder walls past the piston rings, the bulletin declares. The amount of fuel that gets into the crankcase depends largely upon the conditions of pistons, piston rings, and cylinder walls, as well as the conditions under which the car is operating. Cold weather starting which necessitates the use of the choke, and too rich a mixture during operation, serves to bring about seepage of gasoline into the crankcase. A diluted lubricant is inefficient, and conditions of winter driving which brings about this dilution necessitates more frequent changes of oil during the cold season.

Just as a diluted oil is inefficient, so is dirty oil inefficient and harmful to the car, according to the bulletin. "Dirt is an engine's worst enemy: it can grind down moving parts almost as effectively as an emery. Minute particles of road dust, and metal from bearing, ring and cylinder wear, find their way into the oil and cause trouble. The use of the proper grade of oil, and recognition of the importance of oil change, will do much to prolong the life of the car and make winter driving more pleasant."

WILLYS AGENCY GOES TO GARAGE

Boyce-Kendall, Also Gets Harley-Davidson Motorcycle Line

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Boyce-Kendall garage as agents for Willys automobiles and Harley-Davidson motorcycles. The new models will be on display in the building of the local concern.

The new Willys cars are noted for their safety, performance and low operating cost. It is claimed that up to 35 miles can be driven on a gallon of gas. The bodies have new modern lines and are finished in beautiful new colors. The upholstering in the new Willys is of high quality and will withstand exceptional wear.

A demonstrator will be maintained by Boyce-Kendall for use in showing the distinctive features of the Willys. A telephone call to 247 will bring a car to your door.

In acquiring the agency for Harley-Davidson motorcycles Boyce-Kendall garage will show the new machines and will have mechanical parts necessary for all repairs. A repair department has been added to service this new line.

BLAMES HOOVER FOR RETIREMENT

Former Labor Bureau Official Says Hoover Didn't Like Figures

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Ethelbert Stewart, connected with the United States bureau of labor for 45 of his 78 years, said today he was retired in 1932 because "President Hoover didn't like" his employment figures.

Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics during the last 12 years of that period, came here from his home in Washington to spend the winter Smilingly, he discussed his former work.

"Among many other things," he said, "we were gathering the volume of employment and the volume of the payroll.

"I said the volume of employment was rapidly going down, and down and down. But Lulius Klein of the department of commerce, was always saying things were going up, and up and up."

Stewart declared "as a matter of fact, I never crossed him. I didn't think it was necessary. We just kept right on with our figures in the labor bureau.

"But Mr. Hoover got mad about it. And then Mr. Doak—W. N. Doak was the secretary of labor at that time, and he and I had been quite friendly—suddenly he began to get mad, too.

"I told him we hadn't changed our figures to suit any administration since I'd been in the bureau over a period of 45 years, and I'd be damned if I was to do it now."

He said he was retired June 30, 1932.

Stewart explained "of course they weren't my figures personally. I got them from manufacturers and employers."

DUTCH SAILOR, CUPID, UNCLE SAM IN MIXUP

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Uncle Sam and Dan Cupid have different ideas about the affairs of Themotheus Slemensma, curly haired, blue-eyed sailor.

Slemensma, a native Hollander, told immigration authorities he came to this country 13 years ago. Six months ago, he said, he met the "girl of my dreams" in the Louisiana bayou country.

He was detained by immigration authorities when he arrived here on the tanker W. F. Burdell as being in this country illegally.

"I want to straighten this thing out with the government so I can stay and get married," he said, "I'm willing to do anything to stay here. If I can't, then I will tell her and see if she can't go with me."

IMPERSONATES OFFICER, SEIZES SLOT MACHINES

GULFPORT, Miss., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Displaying a badge and operating under the guise of official authority, an unidentified man has been seizing slot machine in some of the counties of the state, it was learned today from Mayrant Adams, deputy state tax collector following his return from Jackson.

This man, the deputy state tax collector said, had been reported visiting places of business in Carroll and Holmes counties and in the section south of Meridian where he displayed a badge and demanded that slot machines found operating be turned over to him.

Although authorities have been given description of the man and names used by him in his operations, they have as yet been unable to apprehend him, Adams said.

FIRM DISTRIBUTES BIG DIVIDENDS TO EMPLOYES

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Proctor and Gamble company today distributed nearly $600,000 in 1935 dividends to several thousand workers under its profit sharing plan today. President Richard R. Deupree promised each worker a week's vacation with pay.

The vacation plan, affecting about 7,000 workers in the United States and Canada applies to factory workers paid by the house who have been in the company's employe since May 1, 1934.

'ROOSEVELT CLASS' TO BE INITIATED HERE

Stonewall lodge, Knights of Pythias, will conduct a special class to be initiated on February 13, which will be known as the "Roosevelt class." Ten are already approved for this class.

President Roosevelt, as announced recently, will be inducted into the Pythian knighthood on February 19, in Washington, D. C.

YOUTH DIES WEEK AFTER FINISHING HIGH SCHOOL

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Joseph Wall died today of a foot infection just a week after reciving his high school diploma in his hospital room. Joe wanted to be a doctor. He had planned to start a pre-medical course in the fall at Trinity college.

FORCE WPA CREW TO RESUME WORK

They objected to the dismissal of Joseph Horvath, 25, a member of the project workers' union.

The men gathered around a timekeeper's shanty voicing their protests. Two patrolmen, with the machine gun, forced the men to return to their jobs.

Horvath asserted he was dismissed by his foreman who told him he was a "union agitator." Horvath said he reported the incident to Ben Gray, business agent of the union, who visited the project today.

"Is this Georgia or is it Ohio?" Gray asked in protest against the machine gun. "We committed no act that would justify such methods by police. We made a peaceful protest."

JUDGE CONSIDERS ELECTION TANGLE

Takes Under Advisement Suit Arising From Police Juror's Race

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—District Judge Thomas F. Porter took under advisement today the ward three police jury candidate mix-up as to who is who in the second primary set for March 3.

Attorney T. Arthur Edwards argued that the court had not jurisdiction over the parish Democratic xecutive committee rulings, as a party matter, hut the court then overruled exception.

Edwards appeared for W. S. Goos and Ernest J. Oliver, who claim the nomlnatlin as two high men of 16 candidates in the first primary under ruling of the Democratic committee.

Five members serve on the jury from ward three.

The committee ruled that the next six men to Goos and Oliver in the first primary should enter a run-off.

The basis for the court hearing was a mandamus suit filed by Calvert (Kelly) Andrus, who ran ninth in the first race, seeking to force a run-off among the ten highest in the first race with five to be elected. This would put Andrus in the second primary.

Under the 1922 statute, Norman Anderson, attorney for Andrus, argued that the state supreme court had sustained in a previous case the position maintained by Andrus.

METHODIST MEN WILL HOLD WEEKLY MEET

The Men's club of the First Methodist church will hold its February meeting at the church annex Monday at 6:30 p.m., when a luncheon will be served.

The chief speaker of the evening will be S. E. Dodd, teacher of the men's Bible class. The entertainment fature will consist of vocal selections by Mrs. Clyde Sanders.

After the meeting the regular meeting of the board of stewards of the church will be conducted.

BAPTIST CHURCH MEETING SLATED

Workers' Conference Will Be Held At Jonesboro Monday And Tuesday

JONESBORO, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The workers' conference for district No. 2 will be held Monday and Tuesday at the Jonesboro Baptist church with Rev. J. L. Dodge, local pastor, as leader. The district includes six associations with 112 churches.

Among the out-of-town speakers will be Dr. E. L. Carlson of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, who occupies the chair of Old Testament interpretation at the seminary. He is scheduled to speak twice each day during the two-day session. In the morning he will deliver an inspirational address and in the evening he will give a missionary address.

Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe, will also take a prominent part in the conference. He is the leader of the conference of pastors and will speak each morning at 10 and 11 o'clock. He will also deliver a stereopticon lecture each evening at 7 o'clock.

Dr. C. E. Autrey of the First Baptist church of Ruston, will deliver a Bible exposition each afternoon at 2:15 o'clock and will have charge of the special program for young people.

A feature of the conference will be the attendance of Dr. Daniel Rosoff and his family. The Rosoffs are converted Jews who are now engaged in evangelistic work. Dr. Rosoff will deliver an address each afternoon at 3 o'clock assisted by his son, "Papie" Rosoff. Mrs. Rosoff will play the piano while members of the family render musical selections during the conference.

Free entertainment will be provided by the local church to those attending the conference and to visitors, and all pastors in the district are specially invited to attend the sessions.

SUSPEND GUARDS IN DEATH PROBE

Road Official Also Punished In Investigation Of Prison Mishap

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Two prison guards and a road official were under suspension today as Governor Bibb Graves awaited reports on possible criminal negligence in connection with the fatal burning of 20 negro convicts in a truck near Scottsboro.

Road Superintendent L. E. Gibbons and Guard F. H. Middlebrooks and Phil Wasson were under suspension while the governor took steps to compensate the families of the prisoners who were burned to death when a drum of gasoline caught fire in a truck in which they were caged.

The executive said he had found the prisoners were on their way to clear highways. It was against the rules for gasoline to be carried in the truck, he said, but it had been done on this occasion because most of the trucks at the convict camp were frozen up.

He said he had learned from the two negroes who survived the holocaust that some of the prisoners had poured some gasoline from the large drum into a smaller can in order to have some to aid in starting fires while they worked.

Some of the gasoline was spilled in this transfer, he said, and one of the negroes ignited this when he lighted a piece of paper to warm his hands

Guards Middlebrook and Wasson stopped the truck at once and unlocked the rear door in time to save two of the prisoners but the others were trapped in the front of the cage

CHADRIC BONDS COLVIN

DUBACH, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Chadric Bonds Colvin, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Colvin, died Thursday at Start. Besides his parents, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Colvin of Start, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barham of Bernice. Funeral services were held Thursday at the First Baptist church with Rev. R. B. Middleton officiating. Interment took place in the Hamilton memorial cemetery.

GAS, OIL FIELDS HAVE QUIET WEEK

No New Producers Brought In; Progress Reported On Tests

No new producing wells were reported last week in the gas and oil fields of north Louisiana, according to the report of the department of conservation, minerals division. The severe cold weather has served to halt active progress on many tests. A number of new locations, however, were made.

The report in detail is as follows:

Grant Parish

Ouachita Parish

Section 31-19-4 east, United Gas Public Service, Fee 85.

Section 31-19-4 east, United Gas Public Service, Fee 86.

Progress on drilling tests was reported as follows:

Winn Parish

Richland Parish

Section 10-17-6 east, Arthur H. Wray, Slocum No. 1, shut down at 600 feet.

Lincoln Parish

LaSalle Parish

Morehouse Parish

Section 9-20-4 east, J. E. Farrell, State of Louisiana, No. 10, set five and one-half inch casing at 2,065 feet.

Union Parish

Section 2-20-3 east, Interstate Natural Gas company, Spencer No. 7, set six-inch casing at 2,092 feet.

Section 29-21-4 east, Southern Carbon company, Grayling No. 7, set six-inch casing at 2,057 feet.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Eighty-five years ago Monday, the Illinois Central Railroad company received a charter from the state of Illinois to operate a line from Cairo, on the Ohio river, to the northwest corner of the state, with a branch line to Chicago. The total mileage was 705 miles, more than twice the mileage of any other railroad then existing in the country.

This was a stupendous project for the time and many Illinois men of national note, including Abraham Lincoln, were interested in the project.

On this afternoon at 2 o'clock, a special program to commemorate the anniversary will be given over WMAQ, Chicago, and other chain broadcasting stations.

Monroe is interested, as the Illinois Central in 1926 leased the old V. S. and P. railroad and thereby secured a line through from Jackson, Miss., and the main line, to Vicksburg, Monroe and Shreveport.

'DARE DEVIL' STUNT POSTPONED FOR WEEK

The Dare-Devil "Death Dodgers" thrilling stunt show, sponsored by the American Legion, which was slated for Stovall's park Saturday and today, is postponed for a week. It will be given at Stovall park next Saturday and Sunday.

The inclemency of the weather was the cause of the postponement, it was announced by Bill Perhamus, legion post commander.

DODSON DEBATERS WIN

DODSON, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The Dodson debating team scored another victory when it defeated the Atlanta debaters in the high school auditorium recently. The local team has defeated every debating team in Winn parish, according to Miss Thelma Stovall who has instructed and coached the Dodson debaters. The recent victory gave the local team a score of 100 per cent for the season. Those composing the Dodson debaters are Miss Mary E. Stovall, Miss Rupert Hughes, Walter Grisham and Eric Walls.

Parties Are Informal And Bright During Month Of February

Visitors In Monroe Widely Entertained

Severe Winter Weather Compels People To Lay Aside Spring Frocks And Return To Warmer Garments

By Eve Bradford

The winter solstice is at hand. Sensible people put aside those gay little Spring bonnets, purchased during a low moment, when warm weather seemed at last to have arrived, and quite forgot their vanity in their effort to keep warm. Bulging sweaters were donned and hats pulled down in a most unbecoming manner to protect ears that were prone to flirt outrageously with his majesty, the frost king. Those swanky tailored suits with white pique shirt fronts, were all put away and the old reliable winter coat again came into prominence. Whimsical as a woman, the month of February is giving us a menu much too diversified for the ordinary human being.

Parties are very informal and bright in this off-season month. People drop in casually and no one dresses up. Hearth fires glow brightly and bridge tables never lack the necessary foursomes.

Friends of the Malcolm Biedenharns look forward to those charming little supper parties in their beautiful new home. There will be four more. Two already having taken place. Those who have been fortunate so far to receive one of those much sought after invitations issued by lovely Francesca are: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. White, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Biedenharn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Paine and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis.

A flurry of informal social affairs followed in the wake of Mrs. Edward Matteson's arrival in the city the first of the week. Mrs. Matteson, always Dollie Hudson to girlhood friends, deserted the ice-bound shores of New Jersey for her own sunny southland. Imagine her disappointment to find the beautiful japonicas in the gardens of Sycamore hall, where she romped and played as a girl, dropping their heads after an unprecedented winter blast swept over Louisiana.

Another charming visitor in the city is Mrs. W. Sanders of New Iberia. She is toasting her toes before the leaping flames in the wide hearth at Cherry Bernstein's home. The tea hour, conducive to conversation and intimacies, found old friends in the beautiful drawing room of Mrs. Bernstein's home on Thursday. Curtains were drawn against the forbidding winter sky. It was a delightful afternoon, with Mrs. Matteson and Mr. Sanders the central figure.

Such interesting news reaches us from Emma Louise Biedenharn, who is spending a year in London, England, with an occasional visit on the continent. She speaks of the elaborate pageantry and the reverence of the people for their late sovereign that marked the burial of King George V. All the legendary romance, the magic and the traditional pomp marked the procession, according to Emma Louise, who speaks of being completely dazzled by the spectacle, so foreign to life in America. Emma Louise will not return home until late summer, as she is anticipating the wonderful experience of sailing on the palatial steamer Queen Mary when it makes its maiden voyage across the Atlantic. This steamer rivals in beauty and size the Normandie, which holds the world's record for beauty, speed and size.

According to a crazy song that has become the nation's chief pre-occupation, "The Music Goes Round and Round!" Keeping step to this rather primitive music is Dan Cupid. Just heard of another pair who will soon walk to the music of Lohengrin. A popular member of the younger set, just home from a visit in Alabama, is wearing a sparkler on the third finger of the left hand. It positively reeks of romance. Sorry, but the announcement will not be made public until next week.

Speaking of this crazy song hit that you hear wherever you go, when a country as worried as this neglects its troubles to listen in high glee to an explanation of "how the music goes round and round and comes out here," the facts and its causes are worth some investigation. There is a sort of madness in the melody, you must agree.

The holiday of good St. Valentine is in the offing, affording sophisticates an opportunity to lapse into sentimentality without losing face. The world is also full of people who seize this opportunity to give vent to their feelings toward some particular person. Hideous, comic Valentines are like manna from heaven to those who carry a pet grievance in their heart. The insidious thing about sending comic valentines is that the recipient is ever doubtful as to who is the sender.

Often an innocent person is unjustly accused and causes a rift in a lovely friendship. There ought to be a special kind of punishment meted out to the people who take advantage of the beautiful custom of sending loving missives to send "poisoned arrows" through the mails.

Two Visitors Feted

Two charming visitors in Monroe who have been the inspiration of a number of delightful affairs during the past week are Mrs. Wofford Sanders of New Iberia, who is a guest of Mrs. Henry Bernstein and Mrs. Edward Matteson, better known to her girlhood friends as Dolly Hudson, who is visiting her mother Mrs. E. M. Hudson and her brothers, F. G. Hudson and Murray Hudson.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Bernstein introduced Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Matteson to the members of the Thursday club with a beautifully planned tea at her home on Riverside drive. Spring flowers used in effective arrangement created an attractive decorative motif for this lovely occasion. Canapes, individual cakes, coffee and tea were served to the guests during the afternoon.

Friday morning an informal coffee hour was enjoyed before the blazing fire in the Guy Stubbs home on Jackson street, where a congenial group of former friends of Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Matteson exchanged reminiscences.

Mrs. Guy Stubbs and Mrs. Bruce Frizzell were hostesses on this occasion. The guests of honor were presented with corsages of native japonicas and coffee was served from a silver coffee service, with Mrs. Ruby Stewart and Mrs. Murray Hudson presiding. They were assisted by Mrs. Victor Davis, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. Belle Oakley, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Sue Graves and Mrs. James Trousdale.

Friday noon Mrs. H. R. Speed was hostess at a luncheon for Mrs. Sanders, including as her guests Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Mrs. J. R. Wooten and Mrs. Tom Sholars.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Albert Horuff entertained with a theater party complimentary to Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Matteson, followed by an informal tea in her home on North Third street.

Friday evening Mrs. Tom Sholars was hostess at a beautifully planned dinner party honoring Mrs. Sanders. Guests on this occasion were Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Mrs. Ruby Stewart and Mrs. J. L. Keenan.

Interesting Women

Have you ever stopped to think how many interesting women we have in Monroe? In the busy heyday of our hectic lives, it is something of an inspiration to pause occasionally and dwell upon the worthwhile deeds of our contemporaries.

For instance, did you know that Mrs. T. L. Morris, affectionately known to her countless friends as "Miss Lizzie," helped to organize the first hospital in Monroe?

In the late nineties, during the yellow fever epidemic, a young woman, stricken with the dread malady was put off the train, along with her husband, at the old V. S. and P. depot. There was no place for the frantic young husband to take his wife. Homeless and desperately ill, she was placed upon a cot, where she was compelled to rely upon what little assistance was offered by a few brave souls. Word of the tragic plight of the unfortunate couple reached Miss Lizzie, who arranged for the sick woman to be removed to her home. The woman died during the night. Her funeral was held from Miss Lizzie's home.

So strongly was the need for a hospital in Monroe stressed by this tragic incident, that Miss Lizzie, with the assistance of several young physicians, worked toward the goal of acquiring a hospital in Monroe. Through their efforts, the first hospital was established on Jackson street in the sixteen hundred block. The building is still standing. Later the hospital was transferred to the present site of the St. Francis sanitarium.

Speaking of interesting women, we are always reminded of Blanche Oliver. Famed as a raconteur and writer of negro dialect poems, Blanche also possesses merit as a composer of music.

Blanche once taught school in Sterlington, where she whiled away the Saturdays working in the general store, obtaining first hand tales in their own inimitable dialect from the negro customers who thronged the store on those days.

Did you know that Mrs. Jennie O'Kelly Mitchell is writing a history of Ouachita parish? "Miss Jennie," who has done some extensive research work along these lines, has a studio in the rear of her interesting old antebellum home on North Sixth street, where she works to her heart's content on this fascinating project. Miss Jennie is also the possessor of a most interesting collection of beautiful antiques.

Speaking of antiques, one of the loveliest homes in Monroe is that of Mrs. J. R. Wooten on South Grand street, a perfect haven for lovers of antique furniture.

Mrs. Wooten probably owns one of the most interesting collections of antiques in Monroe—mirrors with soft reflections, handed down from generation to generation. There are four-poster beds, sewing tables and rare old volumes; furniture polished to that mellow glow that only age can give to rare old woods, all reminiscent of dainty crinolined maidens stepping off the minuet with sweet dignity and grace.

Did you know that Marion Learned's girlhood was spent in England, where she was presented at court during the reign of Edward VII?

While attending school in Germany as a child, she played with the late kaiser's children. She numbers among her friends persons in all walks and ranks of life.

Beloved by all who know her, Miss Julia Wossman occupies a place in the hearts of all her pupils, as well as all her former pupils. In her quiet and unassuming way, Miss Julia exerts a mighty influence. Endowed with a rare sense of humor and a keen appreciation of the problems that confront children, Miss Julia relates the following anecdote with a smile:

A small boy attending the Barkdull Faulk school, once had occasion to go to the office. Here he was found by one of the teachers, gazing with profound interest at the imposing picture of Abraham Lincoln hanging on the office wall. After several minutes of thoughtful meditation he asked with puzzled mien:

"Is that Mr. Julia's picture?"

Famed Portrait Artist To Be Here Monday

William van Dresser, of New York, famed as one of America's most notable portrait artists, will visit Monroe Monday when he will meet local leaders in art circles who are interested in portraiture. Mr. van Dresser will be accompanied to the city by Mrs. Virginia Thurman Cole, the Provincetown, Mass., artist, who is familiar to Monroe people from her former visits. A reception to the two artists will be held on the mezzanine floor of the Virginia hotel at 1:30 Monday afternoon, when Mr. van Dresser will display some of his portraits done in charcoal and sanguine (red chalk).

Mr. van Dresser, who has been spending a few weeks in Shreveport, where he has done portraits of several leading citizens, is a member of the Grand Central Art Galleries, New York; the American Artists' Professional League of New York, the Southern States Art League, New Orleans; the American Federation of Arts, Washington, and the Art League, St. Louis.

Members of the Monroe Sketch club, the Monroe Fine Arts club, and others interested in portraiture have been invited to meet the artist Monday afternoon and view his pictures.

Miss Adcock Honoree

Miss Nellie Joe Adcock was the honoree of a party given during the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Adcock, of West Monroe, in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

After an enjoyable evening of games, an appetizing plate lunch was served by Mrs. Allen Tyler and Mrs. A. W. Cruikshank. A beautiful surprise birthday cake was presented to Miss Adcock by Miss Christine Henry. The cake, which was beautifully embossed, was made by the young honoree's grandmother, Mrs. T. A. Faison of Ruston.

Paper On Architecture

Those of us who are familiar with the stately, picturesque beauty of the old homes along Bayou Teche, in New Orleans and in Natchez, Miss., will find much to interest them in the following paper prepared by Mrs. Duncan Cook and read before members of the Literary guild at its last meeting.

She said in part:

"We are all familiar with New Orleans and the style of architecture found there. The homes in the garden district there date in general to the period just before the Civil war.

"Along Bayou St. John is found an old residence which is typical of the houses of the earliest period. This house is generally considered a 'source,' architecturally speaking. It is now occupied by a Mr. and Mrs. Schertz, who have only tidied it up somewhat and have not spoiled its charm by well meant renovations. This home recalls the same tendencies which show themselves in Madam John's legacy in Dumaine street.

"On the outskirts of the city lies Metarie—there in an open space against a back ground of live oaks is the Stauffer place, immaculately white, essentially a plantation home, with its brick piers, broad galleries and Greek columns. Obviously it has stood there some hundred years. But it is deceptive. A few years ago this house stood behind the levee miles away. The present owner saw it and desired it for Metarie. After finding it impracticable to have it rolled through the streets she found an architect and contractor who agreed to take it all down and put it together again. A feat which was performed with success.

"A notable feature of the architecture of the south, particularly Charleston and New Orleans, was the common use of ornamental iron work. Many fine examples are to be found in these two cities. Door grills, balcony rails, stair rails, fences, etc., were made of iron. The lovely covered balconies of the last century with railing and lattice designed in beautiful traceries are decorative masterpieces, especially against simple facades.

"Cast iron was the outstanding decorative feature of the classic revival and the most artistic expression of the century. An expression that will stand comparison with the entire field of American decorative art.

"Not far from New Orleans, we find Sarpy plantation, a place which is delightful and one which was at one time beautiful. It is somewhat different in that all the details make for lightness and grace, whereas most plantation homes give the impression of massiveness and dignity.

"Some miles from Lafayette, in the Teche country, is Chretien point, a massively proportioned place built of blood red bricks with great white Ionic columns. Masons from France built this house with the help of slaves who got lumber from the swamps—cypress and oak. They hauled sand for miles from the bayou, they made bricks, and worked steadily for four years, when the house was completed. The place is built in lordly style, with great attention to detail. The great doorways are beautifully constructed, the heavy doors paneled and the woodwork delicately beaded. Every detail shows unsparing care, time and labor.

"Belle Grove, a few miles from White Castle on the west bank of the Mississippi, is one of the most elaborate of our Louisiana homes. Every part of the house has been touched with ornamentation on a grand scale, but so proportioned that it seems to have a lacelike delicacy. The spirit of the Greek revival at a sophisticated stage is abundantly evident, with a suggestion of the empire. The capitals of the Corinthian columns are enormous and are carved from solid blocks of cypress.

"At False River, in a grove of oaks, is Parlange house. It is as French in spirit as the names of its owners. Informality dominates everywhere—an informality combined with a finish and perfection of detail that is really exquisite and perhaps typically Gallic. The house was built over 165 years ago—about the middle of the 18th century—and is entirely of handhewn and mortised construction.

"In Natchez there is a succession of beautiful and interesting homes. The Elms is one of the loveliest specimens of provincial architecture in Mississippi. It's floor plan, low ceilings, narrow window facings, huge iron hinges and paved courts declare its Spanish origin. It was built some time in the latter part of the 1700's.

"Hope Farm, also of the early Spanish type and according to early Spanish custom, is so constructed that carriages might pass beneath the building through an arch.

"Linden, built about 1790, presents a different version of the colonial type that is entirely out of the ordinary. The central portion is two stories and on each side are one-storied extensions. The pillars are more slender than usually seen, and each one made of a solid piece of timber hand hewn and hand polished. The door at Linden is a triumph, with Greek pilasters and a fine example of the fan light, but it is the side lights which attract more admiration. They are inlaid as it were, in a frame carved to fit the alternate diamond and oval panes. The door has been much photographed and has even been reproduced in Hollywood.

"Richmond is one of the most unusual homes, due to the fact that the building incorporates three widely differing types of architecture, each of which reflects an epoch in southern history. The central portion is of provincial Spanish workmanship; the back portion, a plain two-story brick such as seen in Boston in the early 18th century; while the front is a colonial structure with classic portico and entrance.

"I would love to take time to tell you of the beauty and elaborateness of the interiors of some of these homes throughout Louisiana and in Natchez. Of the mahogany stair rails; the beautiful marble fire places—marble imported from France and Italy—black marble, pink marble and the purest white; the silver door hinges and knobs, and many other details, as well as the exquisite furnishings which bear witness to the luxury in which the people of that period lived.

"The building of new homes and the rebuilding of old ones is steadily increasing in the south. We have just about emerged from the decay and decadence which set in after the Civil war, and now half a century later the return of the glory of pre-Civil war days is foreshadowed in the restoration of some of these lovely old homes."

Officers And Directors Are Elected By Monroe Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Gibson Named Head Of Organization

New President Of Group Taught In Schools Of Atlanta, Ga.; Is Admirably Fitted For Honor Conferred On Her

Members of the Y. W. C. A. board held their annual election of officers Thursday morning at the Y. W. C. A., electing Mrs. E. C. Gibson to serve as president for the coming year.

Mrs. Gibson, who has served on the board for the past few years, is admirably fitted for the responsibilities incident to this important chairmanship. After receiving her degree, Mrs. Gibson specialized at Columbia university, New York, later teaching in the public schools of Atlanta, Georgia, where she served as principal for several years. During Mrs. Gibson's residence in Monroe, she has been prominently identified with the club and civic life of the city, taking an active part in all affairs pertaining to the Y. W. C. A.

Other officers elected at this time were Mrs. C. P. Gray, first president; Mrs. J. P. Brown, second president; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Kugler, secretary. Newly-elected board members are Mrs. Clyde Paine, Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. John Theus, Jr., and Mrs. C. V. McGimsey. Miss Sadie Foster was appointed chairman of the residence committee.

The outgoing members of the board are Mrs. Henry Colbert and Mrs. W. B. Clarke. Mrs. Clarke, who has served as president of the board for the past two years, Mrs. Colbert and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale have served continuously on the board since its organization five years ago, and much of the success of the various enterprises sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. has been due to their untiring efforts.

Prior to the election of the officers, a short devotional was led by Mrs. Will Washburn and a short talk made by Mrs. C. P. Gray.

The following resolutions on the recent death of Mrs. J. C. Sadler were read at the conclusion of the meeting:

"Whereas, God has called our friend and co-worker to her reward, and

"Whereas, Mrs. Jessie Cason Sadler was one of the leaders responsible for the existence of the Y. W. C. A. of Monroe, La., whose genius was expressed in every department of its work, the direction of every financial campaign thereby enabling the association to have available funds required for its operation, and

"Whereas, the personal relation that brought her in contact with those to whom the Y. W. C. A. administered gave her a field for the expression of her Christian ideals and fine social instincts, and

"Whereas, her counsel and advice so freely given, her boundless energy and never-failing optimism and her personal direction in its affairs is denied us;

"Therefore, be it resolved by the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. in Monroe, La., that

"First, we thank God for her useful, inspiring life among us;

"Second, this expression of our love for her be entered upon the minutes of this body and

"Third, a copy be sent to her family."

Roberts-Carlisle

In an atmosphere of hallowed sacredness and quiet dignity, Miss Effie Carlisle, second daughter of Mrs. Lucille Mitchell Treffry of Lake Providence, was united in marriage to Mr. Willie Garrett Roberts, son of Mrs. Mattie Roberts of Rolling Fork, Miss.

The ceremony was performed Wednesday morning at eight o'clock at the Methodist church of Lake Providence, with Rev. D. B. Boddie officiating.

Mrs. Ashley Warlick, at the organ, rendered "Melody of Love" as a prenuptial number. The Bridal March from Lohengrin was played for the processional. During the plighting of their troth, "I Love You Truly" was softly rendered, and for the prayer, "Prayer is the Soul's Sincere Desire," was faintly audible. For the recessional, Mendelsshon's wedding march was used.

The bride, without attendants, entered on the arm of the groom and was girlishly graceful in a coat suit of Bagdad blue crepe worn with a white satin blouse. Fullness for the finger length coat was given by inverted pleats in the back, and the full, wrist-length sleeves with short cuffs were ornamented with large gold balls linked by chain and matching those at the throat, where the collar was tied loosely with self material. The handmade turban was of matching shade, and from it fell a short hand-draped veil of darker blue to blend with the kid slippers. A spray of white carnations and asparagus fern was worn as a shoulder corsage.

On leaving the church, the popular young couple were showered with rice and wishes for a long and happy married life.

They left immediately following the service for a motor honeymoon, with stops scheduled in Rolling Fork and New Orleans.

Mrs. Roberts received her education in the schools of East Carroll parish and holds the distinction of being the youngest member of Moses Shelby chapter, D. A. R.

Mr. Roberts is paymaster for the United States Engineer's office, with headquarters in Vicksburg, Miss.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will make their home in Lake Providence.

Y. W. A. Meets

The Gladys Rhodes Y. W. A. met at the home of Miss Helen Carr Tuesday evening for the monthly Bible study, with Mrs. D. P. Gerald, teacher, in charge. After the lesson, a social hour followed and the members took this occasion to present Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald, a bride-to-be, with a beautiful table lamp. Miss Fitzgerald was also the recipient of several other lovely gifts.

Miss Carr, assisted by Miss Odom, served delicious refreshments to Misses Elizabeth and Louise Fitzgerald, Miss Nettie Jackson, Alma Hodge, Helen Key, Sybil Gibbs, Clyde Cox, Kate and Phyllis Flanagan, Merrie Lee Ford, Rosalyn Blackmon, Emma Boughton, Virginia Ann Stulce, Mrs. T. J. Davis, D. P. Gerald and Mrs. L. A. Stulce.

Friends of Mrs. Joe Dillard will regret to learn of her continue illness.

Will D. King, Sr., who has been ill with influenza for the past week, is recovering nicely.

Friends of Mrs. J. Curtis Smith will be delighted to learn that she is recuperating nicely from a recent illness.

Mrs. L. L. Fielder of Hannibal, Mo., is a guest of her niece, Mrs. R. C. Sparks. A number of informal affairs are being given in Mrs. Fielder's honor during her visit.

Friends of Harold Miles will be glad to learn that he is recovering nicely from an operation.

Painters Discussed

An interesting discussion of the work and problems of southern painters was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Wilson at a recent meeting of the Literary guild.

"The subject of southern painters," said Mrs. Wilson, "covers a wide field. There has been but little interest taken in our southern painters, and so, to gain recognition, they leave the south and go north.

"Ellsworth Woodward, president of the Southern Arts league, has done much toward the advancement of art in the South, while Mr. Woodward is not southern born, he is classed and looked upon as a southern painter.

"Born in Bristol county, Mass., in 1861, he came south in 1885 to be assistant professor of art in Tulane university, New Orleans. In 1890 he was made director in the school of art and he remained its director until his resignation in 1931.

"The Newcomb school of art is really his school, having been built under his direction from the very foundation.

"Upon his arrival in the south, Woodward at once appreciated the possibilities of the material at hand for the development of an indigenous art. He did not superimpose his Eastern viewpoint and training upon his students, but planned his course from the material found in the south."

Adrian Brewer, another painter of note discussed by Mrs. Wilson, was born at St. Paul Minn., but is listed in "Who's Who in American Art" from Arkansas. Brewer is noted for his Texas bluebonnet pictures. No other artist has been able to put bluebonnets on canvas like Adrian Brewer.

Other artists named by Mrs. Wilson were William Henry Stevens of New Orleans, Alexander John Drysdale of Georgia, Alberta Kinsey of New Orleans and Marie Atkinson Hull of Jackson, Miss.

Alberta Kinsey and Adrian Brewer are both familiar to lovers of art in Monroe. Both have held exhibitions in this city, painting portraits and landscapes during their visits here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sandel and baby daughter of Houston, Texas, have recently moved to this city and will make their home at 916 Riverfront.

Mr. Willard Fisher, who has been the guests of his parents during the past week, has returned to resume his studies at L. S. U.

Friends of Mrs. Will Mitchell will regret to learn of her illness at her home in West Monroe.

Miss Avis Ponder is planning to leave the first of the week for Baton Rouge, where she will spend the next four months.

Friends of Miss Mary Stuart Kellogg and Miss Rhoda Kellogg will be glad to know that they are recuperating nicely after an illness of several weeks' duration.

Mrs. W. J. Veasey was the guest of Mrs. John A. Sewall in Shreveport during the past week. During her visit in that city, Mrs. Veasey was the guest of honor at Mrs. A. A. Mason's luncheon at the style revue given at the Washington-Youree hotel.

Miss Ilo Jane Boyd of West Monroe left this week for Ruston, where she will be enrolled in Louisiana Tech for the remainder of the winter.

Miss Siney McLaurin of Vicksburg, Miss., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Vaughan Fields, this week. Several bridge affairs of a strictly informal nature have been given in her honor during the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie have returned from New Orleans, where they have been participating in the festivities incident to Mardi Gras. On Saturday evening, they were guests at the ball of Osiris, later attending a supper dance at the Tip-Top inn, Roosevelt hotel.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A hat in the sun is worth two in the shade, judging from size of the models being worn here by smart resorters.

Hats for sunshine hours are twice as large as last season's models and thrice as spectacular.

Crowns are conspicuously absent in almost every model, be it made of leghorn, antelope, starched linen or batiste. Those few in evidence are reduced to absurd remnants of crowns, and everything possible is done to make them look as little like crowns as possible.

The inconsistency of the fashion taste is demonstrated in sophisticated bonnets marching side by side with Peter Pannish caps jabbed haphazardly with perky feathers. A last word in resort styles is a wide-brimmed natural leghorn hat, whose brim is a cross between an enormous pie-crust and a sea-shell.

Shoes are trimmed with bows and hats are laced like boots. A laced-up model, surprisingly like a nun's cap, possesses all the sophistication of 1936.

One chic ensemble is a glorified jockey's cap in sulphur antelope, with wide-cuffed gauntlets and a huge matching bag.

Styles also reach into the past and snatch at old-fashioned frivolities such as the snood, which great-grandmother wore. Those seen here are on the half-a-hat order, with the front part in white panama.

Much interest was manifested in the one-man art exhibit given by Mrs. Maude Mayo in the courthouse during the presentation of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," by the Little Theater.

Mrs. Bill Downing and son, Machel, are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Downing of Shreveport.

Miss Velma Crawford is spending several weeks in New Orleans, where she is the guest of Mrs. J. B. Pollard.

Miss Marjorie Baker of Pineville is the interesting guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. R. Younger, of West Monroe.

David Russell, who has been ill with influenza, is reported to be improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mullins, who have been the guest of friends in West Monroe, have returned to their home in Canton, Miss.

The American Association of University Women will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. David Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Edwards of New Orleans, formerly of this city, were guests in Monroe Friday.

Mrs. C. McDuffie has been the guest of Mrs. A. L. McCook during the convalescence of her sister, Miss Queenie McDuffie, at St. Francis sanitarium.

Mr. Charles Cason of West Monroe has returned to L. S. U. after spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Cason.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson are spending several weeks in New York and other points in the east.

Friends will regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. C. B. Flinn at her home, 216 Ouachita avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Porter and E. A., Jr., of Alexandria, were guests of friends in Monroe Friday and Saturday.

Fluitt Hundley, Jr., has returned to Baton Rouge, where he will resume his studies at L. S. U., after spending the mid-term holidays with his parents in this city.

Mrs. Frank Stubbs is enjoying a delightful visit in New Orleans this week.

Friends of Gilbert Faulk are welcoming his return to Monroe, from Shreveport, where he has been employed for the past several months. Mr. Faulk, who has been transferred to Monroe, will make his residence here in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sandridge and son, Tommie, are spending the week-end in New Orleans.

Miss Mae Faulk and Mrs. W. H. Huckaby have returned from Baton Rouge, where they attended the sessions of the American Legion auxiliary.

Mrs. Sam Orchard has been moved home from St. Francis sanitarium, where she spent two weeks as a result of a serious illness. Her condition was said to be greatly improved. Mrs. Orchard resides on DeSiard road.

State Regent Speaks

Mrs. J. Harris Baughman of Tallulah, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was the guest speaker yesterday at a luncheon given in the private dining room of the Frances hotel.

Mrs. Baughman spoke in interesting manner on the motto of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. C. E. Faulk, chapter regent, presided as toastmistress. Other numbers on the program were greetings from the Abram chapter of Morehouse parish, spoken by Mrs. J. A. Davenport, Sr., of Mer Rouge, and a talk on "Citizenship" by Mrs. L. Slator.

A patriotic color scheme of red, white and blue was accented in every detail of this beautifully appointed affair. Bouquets of godetias and baby breath, intermingled with fern, carrying out the red, white and blue color motif, centered the luncheon tables and a delectable luncheon was served to the following guests:

Mrs. C. M. Flower, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. F. A. Jones, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. J. H. Baughman, Miss Eleanor Faulk, Miss Elizabeth Cosper, Mrs. Earl Barham, Mrs. Eugene Flournoy, Mrs. J. A. Coon, Miss Maida McClendon, Miss Ada Mott, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Miss Grace Carter, Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. Maude Baird, Mrs. E. N. Faulk, Mrs. Harold Engstrom, Mrs. Leo Keenan, Mrs. J. A. Davenport, Sr., Miss Lucile Huffman, Mrs. Jack Hayes, Mrs. George Lester, Mrs. W. E. Leigh, Mrs. E. C. Apperson, Mrs. Flood Madison, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Mrs. Ruby Stewart, Mrs. Wofford Sanders, Mrs. W. H. McGee, Mrs. R. E. Major, Mrs. L. T. Hastings, Mrs. Manning McGuire, Mrs. Bernice Nichols, Mrs. Joe Renwick, Mrs. C. E. Slade, Mrs. J. H. Trousdale, Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, Mrs. Addison Thompson, Jr., Mrs. Eunice Williamson, Mrs. J. R. Wooten, Mrs. John Wooten, Mrs. Ida Williams, Mrs. Guy Stubbs, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Elmer Slade, Mrs. Joe Davenport, Jr., Mrs. D. I. Garrett, Mrs. Lynton Ethridge, Jr., and Mrs. Louis Slator.

Children Entertained

An enjoyable children's party was given Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Fred Willis entertained a few little friends in honor of her little daughter, Betty Byron's second birthday.

Cellophane balls and balloons were presented to the young guests during the afternoon and an interesting feature was the cutting of the birthday cake, a beautiful confection topped with blue and white candles.

Y. W. C. A. PRESIDENT

Mrs. E. C. Gibson was honored by members of the Y. W. C. A. board of directors Thursday morning, when she was elected president of the organization. Mrs. Gibson is prominently identified with both the civic and club life of Monroe, and has at all times taken an active part in promoting the success of the Y. W. C. A.

Younger Set Dances

A gala affair was enjoyed by members of the younger set Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Harrington entertained with a dancing party at the Lakeside Country club, complimentary to Miss Mabel Cole, who celebrated her fourteenth birthday on this occasion.

Bamboo was employed in the decorative scheme, creating a lovely background for the colorful frocks of the young guests who were present on this occasion. Interesting favors of caps, serpentine crepe and confetti were presented to the guests during the evening, accenting the carnival spirit so predominant at this time of the year.

Welfare Work Stressed By P.-T. A. Associations

Accomplishments Of Committees Outlined By Chairman; Donation Acknowledged; Need Of Shoes Revealed

Each local president gave her semi-annual report at the February meeting of the Twin City P.-T. A. council. The reports showed welfare work was the principal phase of the Parent-Teacher program stressed by the units.

Reports from the standing committees were made by Mrs. King Hunt, doll chairman; Mrs. Jason Johnson, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Fred Keller, Mother Singers chairman.

The council acknowledged a donation of $10 from Fort Miro chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The money will be used to aid underprivileged children.

It was suggested that the council hold a Twin City P.-T. A. amateur hour February 28. Mrs. Hunt was named chairman of arrangements.

At the close of the meeting, a nominating committee was appointed. It is composed of Miss Katie Key, Mrs. Harvey McDonald, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Madie Moore and Mrs. Paul Keller.

President's Message

The February message of Mrs. Albert L. Smith of Winnfield, president of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is as follows:

"This month we do honor to those noble souls whose vision and love for all children brought into the realm of possibilities a united parent and teacher power. Our founders—may we, with sincerity and gladness pay tribute to their memory, and may our voluntary gifts on this occasion be our expression of gratitude for the benefits and privileges of service to the cause of childhood.

"If someone should ask you to name the most vital thing in the life of any child what would be your answer? My reply would be health for the child, health for every child. We should remember that a health program deals with the whole child; his mental health as well as his physical health, but we so often overlook this fact in the promotion of our health programs and in our health examinations. The summer round-up offers the best all-round program for a health campagn in the local unit. Each unit in the state is urged to conduct a summer round-up in 1936. Our state summer round-up chairman also strongly urges that you include the tuberculin test for high school students in your health campaign.

"We are expecting splendid results from your enrollment of members, and sincerely believe you will not disappoint us. We are depending on you!

"Then—publicity—If we are to build up better communities, and better state, national and world-wide thought about the child we need publicity, and then more publicity. There is no easier or quicker way to win public favor and cooperation for your child-welfare program than through publicity. Are you giving your community an opportunity to know what you are trying to accomplish for your children?

"Permit me to suggest as a means of keeping alive and flourishing that friendliness which characterizes the 'Spirit of P.-T. A.' that all officers and leaders should be cordial with all members, and avoid cliques. They should see that strangers are made to feel at home and that they meet other members. Find out what kind of work they are particularly interested in and see that they have an opportunity to use their talents.

"Suggestions for February: 1. Send in your Founders' day offering immediately following your Founders' day program to the state chairman of Founders' day, Mrs. E. H. Wellemeyer, St. Rose, La. 2. Register for the summer round-up with your state chairman of summer round-up, Mrs. J. E. Rooks, 329 Columbia street, Shreveport. 3. Appoint your nominating committee so your officers can be elected in March. Send your new president to the convention in April and install her in May. 4. Begin work on your poster and publicity record book."

Extends Greetings

Mrs. Albert L. Smith, president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, extends greetings to the entire membership throughout the state as Founders' day is celebrated in the local unit, the state and the nation. In programs, pageants, luncheons and banquets, the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, through the month of February, pays tribute to the beloved founders of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, of which the state organization is a branch.

Mrs. Smith says:

"To the more than 16,000 members in the 193 local units in the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, I extend greetings and praise for your loyalty and enthusiasm. Our celebration of Founders' day should serve to remind us of the privilege of service and the need of love and understanding of childhood

"May we, with singleness of purpose and unwavering faith, build upon the firm foundation of child welfare laid down for us by those of our state and nation who have given so unselfishly of their time and energy that our work might go on. And as we pay tribute to our national founders, Mrs. Birney and Mrs. Hearst, may we also pay tribute to those of our own state and our local units who are responsible for the organizations which afford us a channel of service.

"We hope Founders' day will bring to many thousands in Louisiana a new vision of the opportunities of service, and encourage others to go forward with greater zeal and enthusiasm."

Swartz P.-T. A.

SWARTZ, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Routine business matters held the attention of the Swartz school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at its January meeting.

The appropriation of funds derived from a recent box supper was discussed and a committee was appointed to arrange a Founders' day program for February.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Powell. Thereupon, the minutes of the previous session were read by the secretary.

Winnsboro P.-T. A.

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The Winnsboro Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers held its regular February meeting with "The School of Tomorrow" as the program theme.

Mrs. C. C. McCarty in developing this topic described the school of tomorrow as one which will afford the fullest development of each child, more guidance, a freer atmosphere, less pressure and more naturalness. Failures will be abolished. There will be an activity program and a larger opportunity for each child to develop his talents unrestrained.

Other numbers on the program consisted of the devotional, given by Mr. Glover; the national president's message, read by Miss Lowrey; and the state president's message, read by Mrs Price. Gloria Adams rendered a piano solo, "The Cricket and the Bumble Bee."

Following the program the local president, Mrs. A. L. Price, conducted a short business session. Mrs. C. R. Adams, room mother for Miss Killian's fourth grade, was highly commended for her special project in making her room 100 per cent in P.-T. A. membership. This is the first time any room has become 100 per cent in membership. This brings the membership total to 189.

Mr. Glover extended an invitation to the P.-T. A. to hear a lecture by Paul C. Young of the Louisiana State university teaching staff Thursday, February 20, at 1 p.m. Mr. Young is making a tour of this section of the state lecturing to high school students on mental hygiene. The subject of his lecture here will be "How to be Happy."

Lace, Sentiment In '36 Valentines; Also, One Says 'You're OK Toots!'

And I love her, too Confound it!
She's My Wife!
Happy Valentine's Day

They're still using hearts and flowers for St. Valentine's day, as is obvious from the samples above.

By Charles Norman

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Nineteen thirty six Valentines are wrapped in sentiment, but here and there, under the lace, is a straight-from-the-shoulder Leap Year proposal.

Also evident among the new cards are expressions of affection for various members of the family. The youngsters have cards specially designed for them, to send to papa and mama.

Here are hearty wishes
The kind that never ends
All because I'm very glad
We two are such good friends.

But, the manufacturers say, it is the revival of old-fashioned sentiment that is most worthy of note. Roses in a heart topped by a lace bow guard the following lines:

In my heart I keep you
Very near and dear—
Loving more and caring more
Each day of all the year;
And in my heart I'll hold you,
Sweetheart, all Life thru'
Happy to be sharing
Each hour and day, with you!

In contrast is a bright yellow card which announces blatantly, with the aid of a trumpet: "You're O. K. Toots!"

One card, done in red checks, has a "sinister" angle:

"Valentine greetings to the woman in my life—"

then opens on a woman in a low-cut evening gown, wearing a mask. Opening another fold, the surprise ending is:

"Got a right to—she's my wife!"

CHURCHES

A meeting of all ministers of the Twin Cities will be held at the First Christian church Monday morning, Feb. 10, at 10 o'clock. Pastors of every group, without regard to denomination, are invited to attend. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for making a religious census of Monroe and West Monroe.

Ps. 15:1-3. Children of God have this greatest of privileges to assemble each Lord's day to honor and worship the Creator of heaven and earth and to show forth the death and suffering of our Savior, Jesus Christ.

UNITY SCHOOL OF CHRISTIANITY
Hotel Virginia

The study of "Lessons in Truth" Sunday morning at 10:15. Devotional services at 11 a.m. Subject, "The Christ Life in Expression." Each one of us is responsible for his own thoughts, feelings and actions. To make them what they should be requires discernment and understanding of fundamental realities. The blind cannot lead the blind. As the tree is known by its fruits, so is man known by his expression. A thought of love and good will sets free the imprisoned energies of mind and body and gladdens his own heart and others. Prayer as taught by outstanding teachers will be studied at 7:30 Thursday evening. The room number for these services will be posted in the lobby. You are invited to attend any or all of the services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

On to Alexandria! The laymen of Red River and Louisiana Presbyteries convene Wednesday, February 12, at 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church. If plans materialize not less than 350 will be present. A program has been prepared, which will provide inspiration and information. Will you go? If so, a way will be provided. We are grouped with Crowley, and this means we must have a large delegation to carry off the honors. The officials will gather Tuesday, February 11, at 6:45 p.m. that the business of the Lord may be transacted. The committee on budget will report and it is essential there be a full representation of elders and deacons. Be on time, please. The worship of the week will be held Tuesday, February 11, at 7:30 p.m. "Creation" is the subject we are to think about. "Building a Church—Jesus Christ, the Leader and Chief Corner Stone," is the subject to which we are to give our thoughts Sunday morning. Having pointed out His will about congregational activities, we are interested in the Person who is our Guide, Master and Redeemer. At the evening hour the topic is "Cain and Abel." The session will be happy to enroll you, if this be the church of your choice, either at 10:45, at the sessional room, or at the close of either worship period.

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth and Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

This Sunday, Septugesima, approximately 70 days before Easter, we pass from the thoughts of the manifestation of Christ to that of the proper effect of this manifestation upon us. Fitly, then, does Lent succeed Epiphany and the holy church gives us these three Sundays before Lent to arrange our lives to enter the season of humiliation. The great design of the services during this pre-Lenten season is to call us away from the joys of Christmas in order to prepare ourselves for the fasting and the humiliation of Lent; from the manner of Christ's coming into the world, to think of our sins, which were the cause of the sufferings of His life. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m. The service of Matins at 11 o'clock with sermon by the rector. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest and pray.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH
Fourth and Vernon Streets
West Monroe
Rev. A. H. Johnson, Pastor

We invite you to come and have fellowship with us. Christians need the blessings of the Lord's day so that the Lord may be able to use them for His glory. In all Christian work there are three elements absolutely indispensable: The spirit of God as the power; the word of God as the message; and the man of God as the instrument. Sunday school, 9:45 a.m., Fred Hayton, superintendent. Morning worship 11 o'clock. The pastor will speak on the subject, "Paul's Confidence in the Lord." Baptist Training union 6:30 p.m., Mrs. McLeod, director. Evangelistic service 7:30 p.m. The subject will be "The Marvelous Grace of God." Monday 7:00 p.m., meeting of Bible doctrine class. Subject, "The Incarnation of Jesus Christ." Tuesday, Woman's Missionary union, 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, prayer meeting and Bible study. Notice the change of night for this week. Friday, 4:30 p.m., young people's organizations. Friday, 6:30 p.m., exposition of the Sunday school lesson by pastor. Friday, 7 p.m., choir practice, Mr. Tullos, director.

"The dearest idol I have known,
Whate'er that idol be,
Help me to tear it from Thy Throne,
And worship only Thee."

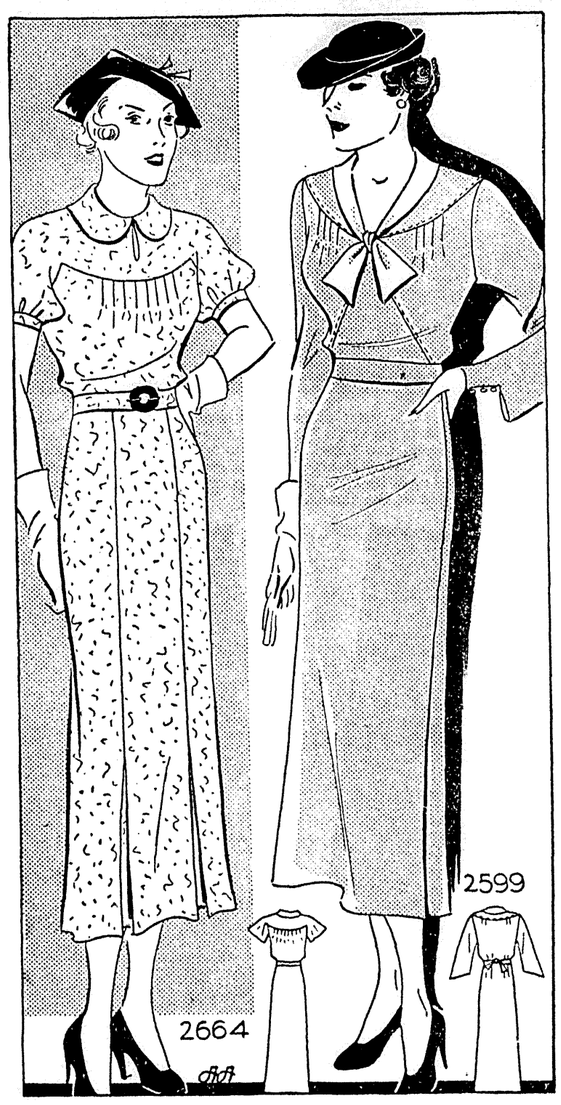
Soft Styling Appeals



PATTERNS 2664 AND 2599

True, isn't it, that slim young things are just as much in search of frocks that flatter as are matrons with not-so-slim figures? Pattern 2664 gives the former the flattery she seeks and an easy nonchalance that makes both frock and wearer "at home" anywhere. Of course she'll choose a print. Would you like to fool your audience. Then choose pattern 2599—a wrap-around of slenderizing lines, flattering alike to matron and expectant mother for whom it provides a complete and adjustable front wrap. Try novelty crepe or sheer with a touch of contrast near the face!

Pattern 2664 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 5-8 yards 39 inch fabric. Price 15c.

Farmerville

Mrs. John W. Taylor's beautiful colonial home was aglow with lights, making one forget the dreary afternoon Friday, when Mrs. M. Stein Baughman entertained at bridge. The living suite was decorated with red carnations and the valentine effect was carried out in the refreshments as well. She was assisted by Mrs. Taylor, Miss Hilda Fuller, Miss Faye and Miss Ellyn Baughman.

After many interesting games of bridge, a beautifully appointed tray centered with a red carnation in a bud vase, consisting of a delicious salad course, followed with parfait, was served. Those who cut and won these vases were Mrs. F. Boughton, Mrs. Wallace Abat, Mrs. H. G. Fields, Mrs. Lester Hartman, Miss Stella Davis and Mrs. Mike Smith. Mrs. J. Y. Green won high score and Mrs. A. C. Dykes second high. Mrs. Abat and Miss Florinell Francis, guests in the city, were each presented with a lovely gift.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Baughman were Mrs. Wallace Abat of New Orleans, Miss Florinell Frances of Baton Rouge, Mesdames Duke Selig, Herbert Warner, F. Boughton, H. G. Fields, J. Y. Green, Lester Hartman, A. C. Dykes, Omah Muckleroy, Edward Everett, Jr., Broadus Turnage, Mike Smith, Killgore Andrews, Ben Lee, Hall Terry, Dent Colvin and Misses Virginia Smith, Stella Davis, Lillian Edwards, Butterfly Wallace and Dorothy Terral.

Mrs. Herbert Green departed the first of the week for Auburndale, Fla., where she will spend the remainder of February with her sister, Mrs. I. F. Derks.

Mrs. A. Z. Rick and little daughter of Longview, Texas, are spending several days in Farmerville with Mrs. M. W. Ramsey and Mrs. Bruce Luzader.

Mrs. Wallace Abat has returned to her home at New Orleans after spending several days here with her sister, Mrs. A. C. Dykes. A number of informal parties were given in her honor during her stay here.

Great Cast In Tuneful New Film

Warner Baxter, Jack Oakie And Alice Faye Head List Of Stars

BENEATH the glittering color, the haunting tunes, comedy and gay dance routines which adorn "King of Burlesque," the Fox picture which opened at the Paramount theater, is a fascinating love drama which will elicit the same enthusiastic response from you that it got from the opening day audience.

Presenting Warner Baxter, Alice Faye and Mona Barrie in the leading dramatic roles, this happiest of the new musical shows boasts an all-star cast of talented performers.

The story of "King of Burlesque" delves back-stage into the life and loves of the people of the theater. Warner Baxter is the leading personality, an impresario who has brought the technique of the 14th street burlesque to an enraptured Broadway.

Ably supervised by the versatile Kenneth McGowan, the picture presents a gay series of hi tunes from the pens of Ted Koehler and Jimmy McHugh. "Lovely Lady," "Shooting High," "Spreadin' Rhythm Around" are the entrancing names of some that will set you humming.

Arline Judge, the pert little comedienne; Gregory Ratoff, Fats Waller, Nick Long, Jr., Kenny Baker and the Paxton sisters are only a few of the names in the cast that make "King of Burlesque" the gayest, liveliest musical entertainment of the year.

Warner Baxter, Jack Oakie and Alice Faye looking over the expense sheet in a scene from the musical drama "King of Burlesque," the attraction at the Paramount theater today and Monday. Here's the 1936 musi-colossal smash with the 1946 pace. Crowded with stars and songs, ablaze with color and spectacle, vibrant with heart-warming drama and resplendent with girls and beauty.

In Eugene O'Neill's great drama of American family life, "Ah Wilderness," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday, Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore make their first appearance together since "Grand Hotel." Beery is seen as the good-natured inebriate, Sid, his most loveable screen role, while Barrymore is cast as Nat Miller, head of the family.

Joel McCrea, Miriam Hopkins, Helen Westly and Katherine Alexander in a scene from the breath-taking romance, set to the throbbing tempo of New York's fashionable, wealthy and thrill-seeking set, "Splendor," the attraction coming to the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. The supporting cast includes Paul Cavanagh, Billie Burke, David Nivin and Ruth Weston.

Three Mile Inn Engages Meroff Band

Versatile Orchestra And Entertainment Stars Here Tuesday

Benny Meroff and his orchestra, most versatile band in America, will play a one-night engagement at Three Mile Inn next Tuesday. This is Benny's second appearance at Three Mile Inn and has been arranged in response to a demand by those who saw him in November and others who were unfortunate enough to miss him and have requested a second opportunity.

Benny set an all-time record in the show business when he was brought into the Granada theater, Chicago, for two months and remained five years. This brought him national fame and led to his teaming with Eddie Cantor on tour and also with Eddie on the Chase & Sanborn radio hour.

The outstanding feature of Meroff's band is an hour and a half floor show, with Jack Marshall, trombone comedian, Florence Gast, Babs Laval, Peter Ray and the McCarty sisters.

Jack Marshall gives imitations on the trombone of aeroplanes, trains and animal calls, even playing the trombone without his hands. Today he is considered the most unusual character comedian and the most sought man in bands.

Florence Gast, a bashful girl, puts over a novelty act in a manner that "takes." The McCarty sisters, three sweethearts of the air, play hostess to each new number and introduce the opening bars in their own inimitable manner.

Babs Laval, dancer extraordinary, presents one of the most eccentric contortionistic numbers ever performed. Peter Ray, who taps on his toes, brings down the house everywhere he appears. And Jeffery Gill, honey-voiced tenor, has a voice to thrill you!

Benny Meroff himself is the most versatile member of his extraordinary band. He juggles hats, balls, Indian clubs, does wire-walking, plays every instrument in the band, sings and dances.

Benny Meroff was literally born with music in his ears; his father was a great violinist and concert maestro of the Cleveland Symphony, and his mother was known as a great Russian dancer. Benny started in show business at the age of seven and has followed it continuously for twenty-six years, having reached his place at the top through sheer ability.

Jack Angell, manager of Three Mile Inn, feels gratified in being able to obtain for Monro eone of the acknowledged superlative attractions in the show world.

Advance sale of tickets will be handled by the New South Drug store.

The three vampire bats of the London zoo have whipped blood in their diet. Half a pint of horse blood, whipped with an egg beater, is fed to them nightly.

The excitement of battle, the tenderness of romance and the warm clasp of friendship fill the gusty scenes of the new Zaryl F. Zanuck production, "Professional Soldier," playing at the Capitol theater today and Monday. Adapted from the rollicking Damon Runyon story, it stars Victor McLaglen, winner of the outstanding performance of 1935, and Freddie Bartholomew, the boy actor who has captured American hearts in less than a year. Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen provide the romance.

Do you enjoy the amateur hours on the air? Of course, everyone does. Playing at the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday is the hysterical tale of would-be radio celebrities, called "Millions in the Air," starring John Howard, Wendie Barrie and Robert Cummings. It's crammed with singable melodies and packed with good dancing, it's fast moving and screamingly funny, with romancing by Howard and Miss Barrie. Eleanore Whitney, world's fastest tap dancer and her brilliant "Tap-Happy" routine is a feature.

"Diamond Jim," the colorful romantic screen biography of James Buchanan Brady, the man who made the gay nineties gay, has been booked for showing at the Capitol theater Thursday and Friday. Edward Arnold is starred with Jean Arthur and Binnie Barnes featured. "Diamond Jim" brings to the screen the Gibson Girls with hour glass figures, gorgeous gas lit cabarets, one lung buggies and tandem bikes, laughter, song and boisterous drama of those carefree days when "Diamond Jim" flung his money to the winds.

FARM MEETING HELD

EROS, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—A group of farmers from Jackson and Lincoln parishes attended a meeting in the Simsboro agricultural room at which R. W. Kemp, agricultural teacher of Eros, spoke on nursery work and advocated the growing of fruit trees in this section. The soil and climate of the two parishes, Mr. Kemp said, were well suited to grow peaches, pears, grapes, figs and apples.

Half of Australia's population of 6,350,000 lives in capital cities and another 15 per cent in provincial towns. The remaining 35 per cent provide more than half the produce of the commonwealth.

New Runyon Adventure Story Here

Vic McLaglen, Freddie Bartholomew In 'Professional Soldier'

TRUE friendship that proves itself under a hail of fire and in the face of gay adventure is the theme of the dashing, colorful and exciting 20th Century picture, "Professional Soldier," which opens today at the Capitol theater, to present Victor McLaglen and Freddie Bartholomew in their first co-starring role.

With a fascinating Damon Runyon yarn for its basis, the gusty writing of Gene Fowler and Howard Ellis Smith in the script, this grand adventure picture tells the amazing story of a little king and a blustering soldier of fortune who become pals in peril.

It all starts out as a carousing adventure with the none too scrupulous McLaglen agreeing to kidnap the king of a little European state for a price. He is in the pay of revolutionaries.

McLaglen and his assistant, played by Michael Whalen, carry out their part of the bargain, even though they lose their taste for it when they discover that the monarch is a stripling. They also carry away Gloria Stuart, who breaks in on them in the middle of the crime.

In a mountain hideaway, the king and the soldier strike up a fast friendship. McLaglen trains the lad in games in which he soon becomes more proficient than his instructor, and tells him horrific tales of bloodshed. Everything goes well, even the blossoming romance between Whalen and Miss Stuart, until a royalist plot carries the king back to his palace and McLaglen to a cell to wait death.

But the royalists themselves plot to do away with the king. In the thrilling, nerve-scraping climax, McLaglen stages a jail break and a one-man war that outstrips even his colorful lies, bringing the story to its happy close.

Under the spirited direction of Tay Garnett, the stars give sterling performances that top even the best of their previous spectacular roles

PRINTING DEPARTMENT IS RE-ESTABLISHED AT TECH

RUSTON, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Having been put out of operation by the fire that destroyed the administration building at Louisiana Tech on January 6, the printing department of the college this week had some news of its own to report.

The printing department has been reestablished in a basement room of the engineering building, and this week's issue of The Tech Talk, college newspaper, gave the first "impression" of what the print shop can do.

The "pride of the plant" is a new type-setting machine equipped to set seven different sizes of head-line and body type, with four of the faces being available in bold or italic as well as light face.

When the printing department is permanently located in the new administration building, another type-setting machine will be obtained.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR IS HELD

Members Of Sterlington Troop Signally Honored At Ceremony Here

Members of Boy Scout Troop 67 of Sterlington were accorded signal honors at a special court of honor held Friday night in the auditorium of Ouachita parish high school. William Trezevant was invested with the coveted eagle badge, in an impressive ceremony. Four other eagle scouts of the troop, Mack McInnis, Buford J. Goss, Eugene Tull and John W. Wilhite, were given certificates showing they are entitled to wear bronze palms on their eagle badges. The four were made eagle scouts six months ago.

At the opening of the court of honor members of the Sterlington troop presented an episode of a play which the troop is giving over the radio in celebration of the 21st anniversary of scouting in this country.

Dean C. C. Colvert, president of the court of honor, presided at the ceremonies, and was assisted by Scout Executive Olan Black, Rev. Ernest Holloway, Rev. V. C. Grasse, Berney Oakland, Parker McComb and Fred Williamson.

DUBACH TRUCK GROWERS DISCUSS TOMATO PROJECT

DUBACH, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Truck growers of Dubach and vicinity held a meeting in the Dubach state bank building February 1, at which much enthusiasm was expressed regarding the tomato and potato growing project sponsored by the Lions club of Dubach.

Agricultural Agent Thomas of the Rock Island railroad, which is promoting an agricultural campaign throughout the territory of its system, was present.

From all indications, the truck crop in the vicinity is off to a good start with plants for the tomato crop being in hot-beds and in some instances already up.

The campaign is attracting a wide interest among farmers, who are cooperating with the Lions club in its efforts to increase farm revenues in their section.

Mr. Thomas, who has canvassed most of the north Louisiana farm sections within shipping radius of the Rock Island, says that truck farmers of Lisbon community, who have been hauling their produce to Homer for shipment, have expressed a desire to use Dubach for a shipping point, which, he said, would create enough business for that point to justify the erection of a loading shed. Clay growers, likewise, have indicated a desire to use Dubach for a loading point, instead of Chatham, he said.

Because of its fertile soil and almost inexhaustible mineral and other natural resources, Mexico is known as the "Storehouse of the World."

HAS FLAG OF HIS OWN

Well may John Nance Garner regard this flag with interest and pride as his teeth clench down on his cigar. It's his flag, the first time in 150 years that a vice president of the United States has had a flag of his own. The banner is white, with blue stars, while the presidential flag is blue with white stars.

CHAPTER XXXII

Scott lifted his glass from the tray. Paula was showing herself to be game, all right. She hadn't whimpered or made a plea for sympathy when he told her he knew the truth.

Then, like a flash, came the premonition. Was she, through? Could you trust an emotional woman in a state like this?

It may have been Paula's expression that warned him. There was a glow of triumph and tragedy in her eyes. Scott dashed his glass and its contents to the floor. As quickly, Paula put her lips to her own glass, but Scott's hand shot out, knocking it aside. Paula crumpled, sobbing. They were jerking sobs that sounded horrible and pitiful.

Scott lifted her and called to Charlotte loudly. Together they worked swiftly. He was fairly certain that Paula had not swallowed any of the poisoned drink, but he could not take chances. They worked over her exactly as though she had taken a fatal quantity.

An hour later Scott talked frankly with Charlotte. There had been no need for explanations. Charlotte's horrified glance at the broken glasses and trail of liquor on the floor had told her the story.

It was Charlotte who located the poison tablets and dropped them into the fire, while Scott watched gravely.

Quieted by a sleeping powder, Paula at last dropped into sleep. Her face was pale on the pillow. A thin hand gripped the dainty lace coverlet convulsively.

Scott stayed, quietly watching as she slept, waiting for any unnatural reaction. Across from him sat Charlotte, her eyes scarcely moving from Paula's face.

Scott said in a low tone, "I can trust you, Charlotte. No one must know of this—or the other. Soon we'll get Miss Paula away where she can be treated and cured.

"You can trust me, Doctor Scott," the housekeeper said. "She's like my own. You know I've been with her since she was 12 years old."

Scott remembered. He was thinking that Paula had never known real home life. Charlotte had been the maid of Paula's frivolous young mother, and had assumed full charge when the young mother died. Paula's father was somewhere, but he had been divorced by Paula's mother and remarried before her death. Paula's money had been inherited from her mother.

Poor Paula, Scott thought, compassionately, stretching out for happiness with her eager, restless hands. When it eluded her, she had tried to smash things for both of them.

He was as certain as though he had analyzed the drink Paula had handed him that it also had contained poison. But he felt only pity for the distraught creature, lying motionless on the bed, as though she were in that deep sleep of complete forgetfulness for which she had longed.

At dawn a nurse arrived to take charge. She, of course, must know of her patient's attempt at suicide to be on guard.

She would know the rest, without being told as soon as she had been on the case a few hours. But Miss Maddox was trustworthy, one of that gallant army in whom so many tragic truths are safely buried.

Scott let himsef into the apartment and looked around. The place had a solemn air. Must be his own state of mind, he told himself. It was natural to feel that way after such an ordeal as he had been through.

He switched on a light in the bed room and the tumbled, empty bed met his eyes. There was a note pinned to the pillow, with Dana's name affixed in a shaky scrawl.

Scott read the note, smiling grimly over its childish sound; "I'm going to Grandmother's to stay, Scott. I'm going while I can leave with some dignity. Please don't ask me to come back. I don't want to—ever. Dana."

His first wild impulse was to get Dana on the telephone to tell her what a darn little fool she was. And then get a cab and fetch her home immediately.

But it was 5 o'clock now. There'd probably be a commotion. Dana's grandmother was a Tartar, if he had ever seen one. No it would be best to wait until Dana had calmed down. After some sleep, she would be sorry and probably call to apologize. She owed him an apology for her lack of faith and her attitude, which was certainly poor sportsmanship. She couldn't have known where he had gone. Even if she had suspected, she might have given him the benefit of doubt and waited for his story.

Gradually Scott worked himself into a rage. Dana had been fearfully unjust, she had been a poor sport, but he loved her. He loved her terribly. And he'd forgive her—tomorrow.

She would be awfully sorry that she had failed him when she thought things over. Dashing back to her grandmother's the first time she got really angry with him.

In spite of these thoughts Scott was wretchedly unhappy. It was not until the light was streaming broadly into the room through the windows that he fell into a deep sleep of exhaustion . . .

Dana's grandmother had answered the doorbell. In the early morning shadows a taxi bulked. A taxi driver stood holding a suitcase. Dana's stricken eyes were lifted to Mrs. Cameron's.

"Here, I'll take that suitcase," Mrs. Cameron said, assuming charge. "Have you taxi money, child?"

"Yes, of course," Dana said. She paid the driver and he was off in the gloom.

"I've come to stay, Grandmother," Dana said simply.

"Yes, I knew that." She scrutinized Dana keenly, noting her eyes, shadowed from fatigue and reddened from weeping.

"Don't ask me why," Dana said, "because I won't tell you. It was unbearable and so here I am!"

There was a light of satisfaction in Mrs. Cameron's eyes. "I suspected you'd come to it, child. And I'm happy you had the gumption to realize it before you lost your beauty slaving in the kitchen.

"Whatever the reason, you've made the break. You must never go back to him."

"No," Dana said. Her heart was like lead. And yet it felt bursting with emotion. "I couldn't go back, Grandmother. I'd never have come if I hadn't realized I couldn't go on."

Their voices brought Miss Carewe and Nancy. Aunt Ellen patted Dana awkwardly. Dana knew she was sorry for her, and she suspected that Aunt Ellen was sorry for Scott, too.

It was hard to know how Nancy felt. Her dark eyes looked wisely into Dana's. Her voice was cool and calm. "So you've left Scott! That's that. Now we've got to make the best of it. I don't believe Scott would want you back anyway, after humiliating him."

No, Dana thought, miserably, "He wouldn't want me back." Because she had humiliated him by leaving him. And because, most of all, he was infatuated with Paula.

But this was a secret that would die with her. She'd never, if she lived to be a hundred, admit that she hadn't been able to hold her husband.

It was dreadful thinking about living to be a hundred. All those years without Scott. Dana looked so crushed, such a woebegone little figure that Aunt Ellen could scarcely bear to look at her. Tears stung her eyelids. She wondered if the poor child knew what she was about. It was a serious thing, leaving a husband. Giving up a sweetheart. Aunt Ellen knew. Scott's grandfather had been proud and had never asked her to reconsider, though he had loved her deeply.

Nancy had decided: "Dana's weak. She couldn't stand being poor, so she pulled out."

Mrs. Cameron was first to break the circle. She got up, pulling her robe about her. "We'll all take cold sitting here," she said firmly. "Dana looks dead on her feet. She must get some sleep."

Secretly she was girding her resources for battle. She said to herself "The silly child is still in love with him. It's written all over her face. If he tries he might be able to persuade her to go back to him. But she'll stay here if I can keep her!"

After breakfast Dana sat in the vicinity of the telephone, fully expecting it to ring. But the morning hours wore away and there was no call from Scott.

He was showing more judgment, Mrs. Cameron thought, than she had expected. Maybe he, too, had decided it was impossible for them to make a success of their marriage.

If that were so, the plan she had in mind, could be speedily carried out.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

FERRIDAY, La., Feb. 8—(Special)—Mrs. Bessie Yarbrough, of St. Joseph was quitely married to George Burbank of Hammond Saturday at the Presbyterian manse in Ferriday, with Rev. Charles G. Bruce officiating. Misses Grace Peterson and Edna Bondurant and Mrs. Yarbrough's daughter, Miss Sue Howard from St. Joseph, accompanied the bridal party to Ferriday for the ceremony. After a short bridal trip to New Orleans they will make their home in Hammond. Both are well known in this section.

COOPERATIVE EXCHANGE ORGANIZED IN LINCOLN

RUSTON, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—J. A. Shealy, county agent, and J. L. Lee, farm specialist of Louisiana State university, extension department, have finished organizing the Lincoln Parish Cooperative Exchange, Inc., for the benefit of Lincoln parish farmers, to be in operation this year.

All requirements having been met, the membership elected the following as the first board of directors: R. P. Vernon, Ruston; Lamar Cargill, Ruston; J. C. Dowling, Simsboro; C. E. Vining, Choudrant; W. A. Colvin, Dubach; W. C. Barnett, Hico; J. E. Deloney, Hilly. These directors elected C. E. Vining as president, and J. E. Deloney, vice-president. At another meeting T. W. Shields was elected secretary-treasurer and general manager. The object of this organization is to buy and furnish to farmers fertilizers, feed stuffs, and other farm needs at the lowest possible figures, so as to enable them to produce crops at the least possible cost.

NEW ENROLLMENT RECORD IS ESTABLISHED AT TECH

RUSTON, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Establishing a new winter semester enrollment record at Louisiana Tech, 1,106 students had registered at the close of the first week of the new term Saturday, according to figures announced by W. L. Mitchell, dean of men, and Miss Alma Burk, dean of women.

With 246 students enrolled in the high school and elementary grades in the Teacher-Training school on the campus, the campus population totals 1,352.

The registration period for the college will continue through Tuesday, February 11, Mrs. Ruby B. Pearce, registrar, stated.

JONESVILLE BOY WORKING WAY THROUGH UNIVERSITY

JONESVILLE, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Fred Yancey, Jr., son of F. S. Yancey, local farmer and merchant, and a sophomore at Louisiana State university, was awarded a working scholarship at the university last year, and due to his good work and character he received another this year from the national youth administration in cooperation with the Louisiana State university.

Yancey graduated from the Block High school in 1934 with a fine scholastic record and was a member of the high school basketball team. He entered the university in the fall of 1934, where he has since continued the excellent work that he did in high school.

Yancey has practically paid his way through the semester of 1934-35 with the money he earned from his working scholarship. His work is under the direction of J. R. Austin, who has charge of the poultry research. The young man has complete charge of the poultry station at night.

How Are Your Tires?

SAFETY PICTURE NO. 12
FIND THE MISTAKES AND ENTER CONTEST

With the help of your parents, teacher, or some other grownup, find four safety mistakes in this picture and list them on the blank lines.

Listed below, and indicated by numbers which I have written on the pictures, are four mistakes dangerous to human safety that I find illustrated in the above drawing:

NO. 1 .....

NO. 2 .....

NO. 3 .....

NO. 4 .....

Almost equal in importance to brakes are the tires on your car. If the tread is worn to where they are slick . . . if there are breaks in the sidewalls . . . you are liable to have a sudden blowout and blowouts usually result in accidents . . . or DEATH!

Tires are very inexpensive these days and they certainly are a worthwhile investment for ANY car.

RULES

1—Find the mistakes in each picture, as they are published in The Sunday News-Star—World.

2—After all of the pictures have appeared and you have found four mistakes in each one of them, write a "Safety Slogan" of not more than 12 words.

3—Send the 26 drawings with the mistakes listed and your "Safety Slogan" to the Safety Contest Editor of The News-Star—World.

FILM STAR TO JUDGE BEAUTIES

Claudette Colbert To Choose Six Prettiest Girls At Tech

They have to nominate some candidates for the annual beauty contest of the institution. After that job is done, photos of the entrants will be sent to Claudette Colbert, noted motion picture actress, who has agreed to select the six prettiest.

Jean Craighead of Athens, editor of the Lagniappe, student annual, which sponsors the beauty selections, wired Miss Colbert the other day and asked her to be the final judge. The movie star replied that she would be "very happy" to make the selections.

Girls to be entered in the contest will be nominated through petitions bearing the signatures of 15 students. Each petition must be accompanied by a glossy 8x10 picture of the entrant, to be submitted when the entry blank is filed with the Lagniappe editor. Under this arrangement, it was pointed out, any girl may be named as a beauty candidate, without respect to sorority or group membership. The plan does not place any limit upon the number of candidates that may be entered.

The deadline for nominations to be filed was set by the Lagniappe editor at 5 p.m., Wednesday, February 12.

It is estimated that the value of products sold by British motor car manufacturers in 1936 will approximate 50,000,000 pounds.

FLYING TANK VISIONED AS NEW WAR MONSTER

RAINY WEATHER MAKES ROAD TRAVEL DIFFICULT

BERNICE, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—Continued sleet and snow, with heavy rains between, have made all roads leading out of town bad, except the paved highways. School buses are having difficulty getting children to and from school, often sticking two or three times each way. Mail carriers are also having lots of trouble, requiring twice as long as usual to make the trip. Log trucks are having to wait for better conditions. Streams are swollen and out of banks.

England has two of the fastest battle cruisers in the world, the Repulse and the Renown, each having a speed of more than 31.5 knots.

MEMORY OF DEAD WILL BE HONORED

Special Services Planned For Mrs. J. C. Sadler, S. M. Collins

Members of the First Methodist church will today pay tribute to the memory of two of their most prominent fellow workers who have died recently, Mrs. J. C. Sadler and Sam M. Collins. The special service will be held at 10 a.m. in the church auditorium.

Rev. R. W. Vaughan, superintendent of the Methodist orphanage at Ruston, a long-time friend of both, will deliver the chief address of eulogy. There will be other short talks and Mrs. Clyde Sanders will sing several selections. The Sadler Bible class quartette will also take part in the program.

Mrs. Sadler was teacher of the Sadler Bible class and was also prominently identified with other work of the church. She also was a member of the executive board of the orphanage at Ruston. Mr. Collins was superintendent of the Sunday school for many years and also served long on the board of stewards of the church.

At a recent meeting of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association, of which Mrs. Sadler was an active member and officer, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to remove from us a valued officer and worker, Mrs. J. C. Sadler;

"And whereas, Mrs. Sadler had always been a faithful, devoted and untiring worker of this association;

"And whereas, she was ever interested in and mindful of the sick, the poor and needy and underprivileged;

"And whereas, her entire time was spent in the interest of the community uplift;

"And whereas, we have lost a loyal friend, and the community has lost a magnanimous citizen;

"Therefore be it resolved, that we express our grief and sympathy to the family; and to the community; and that we spread a copy of the resolutions of sympathy upon the minutes of this association."

The resolution was signed by Mrytle E. Rodgers, Mrs. W. M. Harper and Dr. G. M. Snellings, members of the association's resolutions committee.

PRESS MEETING PLANS ANNOUNCED

North Louisiana Division To Convene At Bastrop Saturday

BASTROP, Feb. 8.—(Special)—With Clayton T. Rand, prominent Mississippi publisher and vice president of the National Editorial association as the featured speaker, an elaborate program has been arranged for the annual convention of the North Louisiana division of the Louisiana Press association to be held in Bastrop Saturday. Between 50 and 100 newspaper people from all parts of North Louisiana are expected to attend the convention, which will be presided over by F. A. Leaming, publisher of the Mansfield Enterprise and president of the North Louisiana division.

Headquarters for the convention will be at the Louisiana hotel and registration will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, with the first business session scheduled for 10 o'clock. The address of welcome will be delivered by Mayor J. R. Ludlum and the response will be given by Mrs. C. L. Breazeale, publisher of the Natchitoches Enterprise.

Plans for the annual convention of the Louisiana Press association, to be held in Shreveport next May, will be discussed at the meeting by Miss Estelle Tannehill, publisher of the Winnfield News-American and president of the state association, and Dolph Frantz, editor of the Shreveport Journal.

At noon Saturday the newspaper people will be guests at a chicken barbecue to be given by the Bastrop Kiwanis club. Among the other speakers on the program will be Don Eck of Chicago, representing the Washington Press association, who will discuss ways and means of increasing newspaper revenue; W. B. Gladney, Bastrop, president of the Louisiana State Bankers association, who will discuss bank advertising; M. G. Osborn, director of the journalism department of Louisiana State university and others.

The convention will come to a close Saturday afternoon with the selection of the next meeting place and election of officers.

The complete program as announced Saturday by Isaac Chapman, Bastrop, secretary of the North Louisiana division, is as follows:

10:00 a. m.—Opening business session, courthouse.

Opening remarks—F. A. Leaming, Mansfield, president North Louisiana division.

Appointment of committees:

Address of Welcome—Mayor J. R. Ludlum.

Response—Mrs. C. L. Breazeale, Natchitoches.

LASALLE PARISH FIXES WARD BOUNDARIES AGAIN

JENA, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—At a recent meeting the police jury of LaSalle parish voted to reestablish the boundary line between wards one, two and seven. The budget for the coming year was amended by reducing the contingent reserve fund $1,500 and adding $1,000 for election claims and increasing the allowance of the parish health unit by $500. The budget was thus finally approved. A resolution was passed appealing to United States Senator John H. Overton and Congressman Cleveland Dear of this district to do all within their power to hasten the passage of the seed loan act by congress. The police jury voted to pay persons to kill wolves in this parish. Four dollars was the price set on the heads of the old wolves and two dollars was set on the heads of young ones. One hundred dollars was appropriated from the contingent reserve fund to be used to pay the bounty. The ordinance, however, does not become effective until Catahoula parish passes a similar one.

WOODMEN INSTALL

JENA, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—The following officers were installed at a recent meeting of the Urania chapter of the Woodmen of the World which was attended by the largest gathering ever to attend a meeting of this lodge: I. E. Harris, C. C.; C. W. Harris, A. L.; L. D. Cook, escort; R. G. Bayne, banker; C. M. Newsom, financial secretary; F. J. Wilson, watchman; E. D. Golden, sentry; W. C. Proctor, E. L. Stephens and H. M. Cook, auditors. Installation ceremonies were presided over by District Deputy M. H. Eckard.

LEGION HALL CUSTODIAN APPOINTED AT FERRIDAY

FERRIDAY, La., Feb. 8.—(Special)—R. Porter has been appointed as hall custodan of the Gray McCearley post number 148 by Post Commander George Abat and Adjutant W. M. Barnard. Officers of the post complained that some of the citizens and organizations of Ferriday had abused the privileges of using the hall. They pointed out that some of the organizations had refused to turn back the keys to the proper authorities, and in some cases had broken into the building. In the future it will be necessary to obtain permission from the commander or adjutant for use of the hall, and Mr. Porter has been instructed not to let any one open the building without a written permit.

VOTE FOR . . .

J. Porter Burgess

Candidate For Re-Election as

REPRESENTATIVE OF OUACHITA PARISH

A TRUE FRIEND OF LABOR

I wish to thank my many good friends for their active support in the first primary, and solicit your continued loyalty and support in the second primary, in which I am a candidate.

When I asked for your vote four years ago I promised to reduce taxes so as to be felt in your pockets.

You elected me and I started my fight to reduce the tax burden of Ouachita Parish citizens. I ask you to review this record of four years' service.

You will find in my record that I have been a true friend of labor and that I have been a representative of the masses and I pledge you the same earnest and efficient representation the coming four years.

I am the endorsed candidate of the administration that will serve you during the next four years. I am in complete sympathy with the elected officials and will assist them in carrying on the program of the Late Senator Huey P. Long and the late Governor O. K. Allen.

I have been endorsed by:
The Late Senator Huey P. Long.
The Late Governor O. K. Allen
Richard W. Leche, Governor-Elect
Earl K. Long, Lt.-Gov.-Elect
Allen J. Ellender, Senator-Elect.

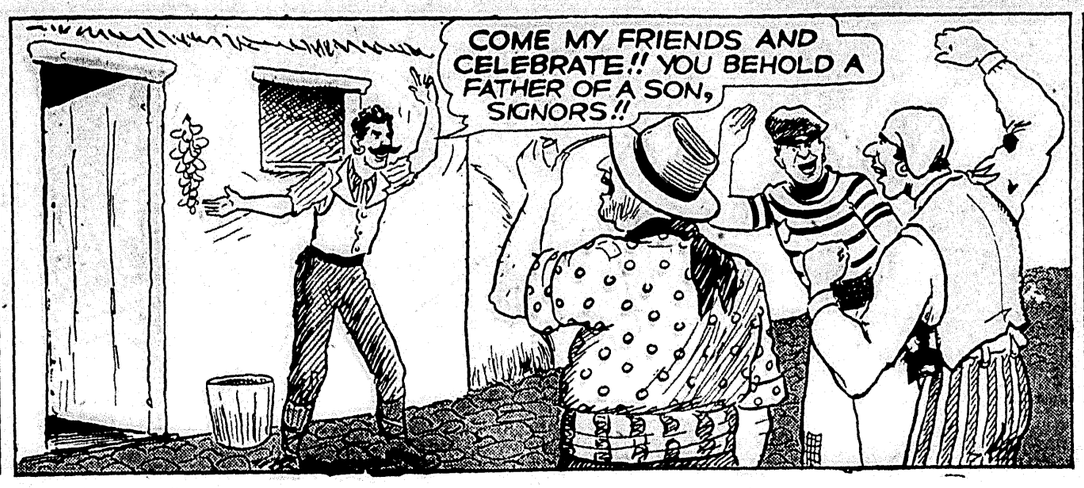
ON OCTOBER 25TH 1906 THERE OCCURRED IN SEQUALS, PROVINCE OF UDINE, ITALY AN EVENT OF GREAT IMPORTANCE. NOT AN EARTHQUAKE, NOR A VOLCANIC ERUPTION, NOR EVEN A TIDAL WAVE, BUT THAT WHICH WAS ONE DAY TO PUT SEQUALS ON THE MAP.



BECAUSE IN THE MODEST HOME OF SIGNOR SANTE CARNERA WAS BORN A HEALTHY, YOWLING BAMBINO WHOM THE MAMA GIOVANNA, NAMED "PRIMO" OR (THE FIRST.)

SOCIETY NOTES

SOCIETY WAS DEEPLY HONORED TONIGHT BY HER MAJESTY QUEEN MARGARET OF DEMENTIA. WHEN SHE APPEARED IN ALL HER REGAL SPLENDOR AT A RECEPTION.

OKAY TOOTS-- I'M ALL READY. NOW LET'S REALLY SEE THIS BURG!

YES MAM--- YER MAJESTICK.

BUT, YOUR MAJESTY, YOU MUST ALLOW ME TO ACCOMPANY YOU WITH THE BODYGUARDS.

GO TO BED COL. ICHBIKOFF. I'VE GOT THE SWELLEST BODY-GUARD IN THE WORLD.

WHAT A RELIEF TO GET AWAY FROM THEM. NOW--- I WANT TO SEE A NIGHT CLUB!

UH--YES'M---

WHO THE DEUCE IS THAT WITH JOE PALOOKA?

HE LOOKS AS THOUGH HE'LL DIE ANY SECOND.

PROBABLY THE WIFE OF SOME FRIEND. WHAT A COMMON LOOKING THING SHE IS.

THAT WAS GREAT! NOW LET'S DO BROADWAY. I WANT TO SEE THE FLEA CIRCUS!

AWRIGHT--I SEEN 'EM BEFORE. THEY CARRY FLAGS AN' PULL CHARIOTS, AN' RUN RACES AN' EV'RYTHING.

WERE'NT THOSE FLEAS AMAZING? ALMOST HUMAN!

OH LOOK--RUDY VALLEE'S PLAYING ACROSS THE STREET--- LET'S GO THERE!!

ISN'T RUDY GORGEOUS? I'M GOING TO HAVE HIM COME TO DEMENTIA AND PLAY AT MY PALACE.

YES'M--HE'S A FRIEND A MINE. SWELL FELLA RUDY IS.

YER MAJESTICK??

EEEEEHHH!

HEY!

HEY!

MUST BE A VISITING BUYER. SOME GO GOOFY WHEN THEY HIT NEW YORK.

JOE--- QUICK!

GRACIOUS SAKES---

YES YER MAJESTICK. IT'S THE ONE WHICH PULLED THE CHARIOT I THINK.

BY HAL FORREST

TOMMY WAS FORCED TO DIVE HIS PLANE UNDER A BRIDGE TO AVOID A COLLISION!- JUST AS HE FLEW UNDER THE STRUCTURE A SPEEDING EXPRESS TRAIN APPEARED AT THE OTHER SIDE OF IT—

GREAT BALLS OF FIRE!

NC1040

WITHIN INCHES OF DEATH, TOMMY ZOOMS STEEPLY-

THAT WAS THE CLOSEST SHAVE I EVER HAD!

MEAN WHILE— IN THE UNDERGROUND LABORATORY OF CRANDELL'S SECRET HANGAR—

I CANNOT IMAGINE WHAT HAS DELAYED TOMMY AND BETTY-LOU-

PSHAW!..I'VE LEFT MY LIVER PILLS IN MY COAT UPSTAIRS—

--AND IT IS TIME TO TAKE THEM--I SHALL SET THE CONTROLS AND LET THE STRATOS-SHIP CIRCLE UNTIL I RETURN—

AN AUTO!--IT JUST DROVE UP!---- I... WONDER—?

HAL FORREST-

AS WE DRAW AWAY FROM THE CHICAGO RANGE BEACON IT IS NECESSARY TO INCREASE THE VOLUME CONTROL! THAT CONTINUOUS "T" SIGNAL WE HEAR--MEANS WE'RE "ON COURSE!"

NOW WE'LL TUNE IN THE GOSHEN BEACON ON 320 KILOCYCLES! THE "A" SIGNAL SOUNDS LOUDEST--WHICH INDICATES WE'RE NORTH OF GOSHEN COURSE

AND WE LOCATE CLEVELAND WITH THE VOLUME CONTROL BARELY OPEN- AND FIND THE BEACON AS WE PASS OVER THE "CONE OF SILENCE!"

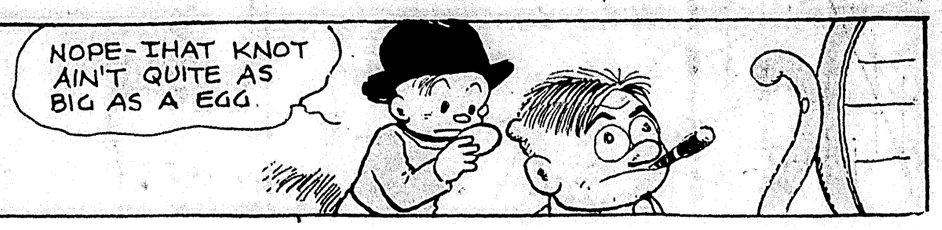
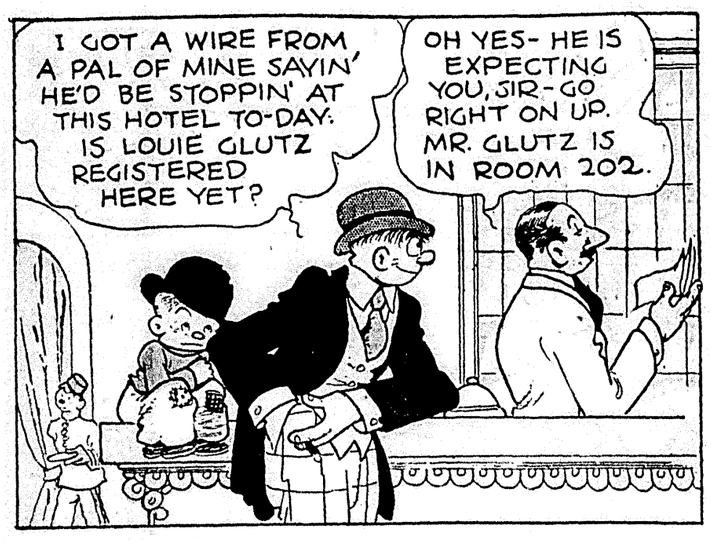
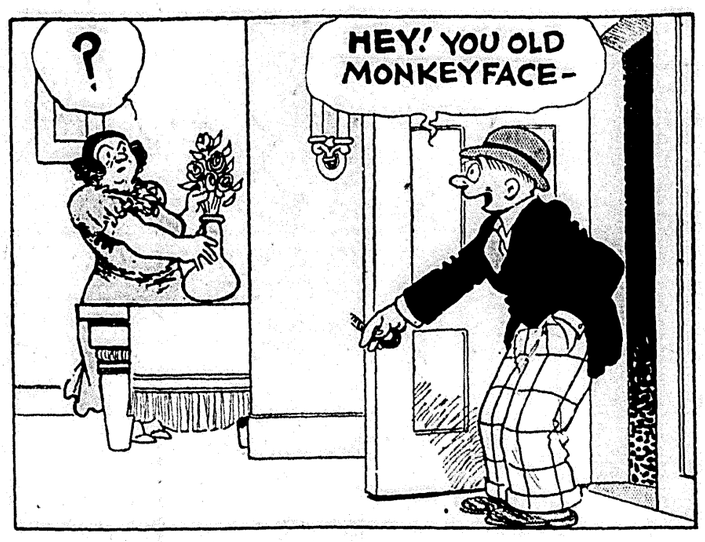
MOON MULLINS

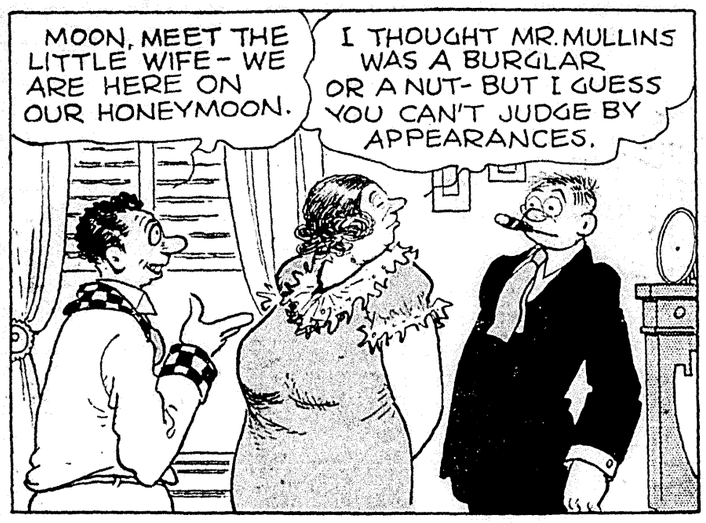
by Frank Willard



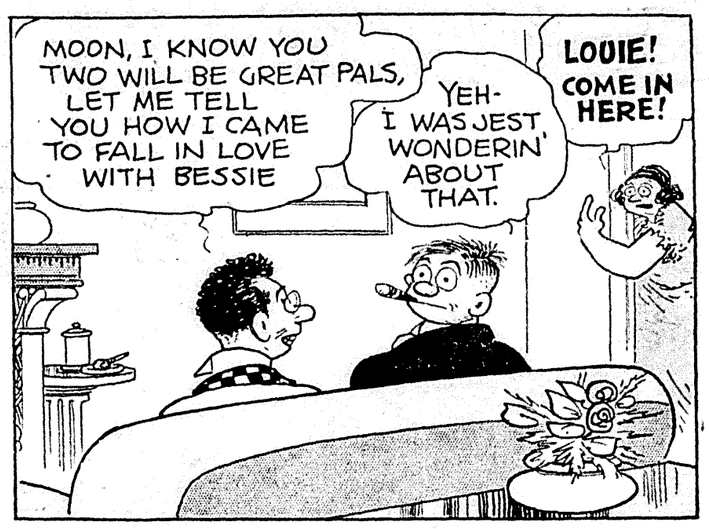


I GOT A WIRE FROM A PAL OF MINE SAYIN' HE'D BE STOPPIN' AT THIS HOTEL TO-DAY. IS LOUIE GLUTZ REGISTERED HERE YET?
OH YES- HE IS EXPECTING YOU, SIR- GO RIGHT ON UP. MR. GLUTZ IS IN ROOM 202.



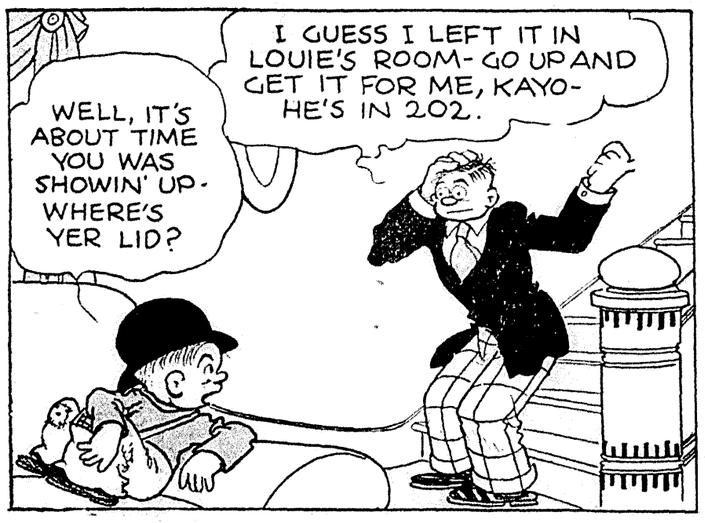


MOON, MEET THE LITTLE WIFE- WE ARE HERE ON OUR HONEYMOON.
I THOUGHT MR. MULLINS WAS A BURGLAR OR A NUT- BUT I GUESS YOU CAN'T JUDGE BY APPEARANCES.



MOON, I KNOW YOU TWO WILL BE GREAT PALS, LET ME TELL YOU HOW I CAME TO FALL IN LOVE WITH BESSIE
YEH- I WAS JEST WONDERIN' ABOUT THAT.
LOUIE! COME IN HERE!

MOON, BESSIE SAYS WILL YOU COME BACK LATER. SAY ABOUT SEVEN O'CLOCK AND EAT WITH US.
OKAY- BUT MAKE IT SEVEN-THIRTY- I GOT TO BE HOME FOR SUPPER AT SIX.



SO THAT'S WHAT'S TAKIN' YOU SO LONG! EAVESDROPPING, EH? GO DOWNSTAIRS!
YOU OUGHTA BE ASHAMED OF YOURSELF.
WELL YOU'D BE ASHAMED OF YOURSELF IF YOU'D OF HEARD WHAT THEY WAS SAYIN' ABOUT YOU.

I'M AFRAID HE HEARD YOU TELL ME TO GET RID OF HIM, BESSIE- AND YOU KNOW MOON IS AN OLD FRIEND.
WELL, IF THAT'S THE KIND OF FRIENDS YOU ENJOY- WHAT A PICNIC YOU'D HAVE IN A INSANE ASYLUM.

WELL, TELL THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR AND CLERK THAT IF THAT PEST COMES AROUND HERE AGAIN TO SAY THAT WE'RE OUT.
OKAY- I'LL BE RIGHT BACK, BESSIE.
Feb9.

WELL, YOU CERTAIN'Y LEARNED ME A LESSON, MOON. NOW I KNOW WHAT CAN HAPPEN TO ANYBODY WHICH IS DUMB ENOUGH TO LEAN AGAINST THE WRONG SIDE OF A DOOR AND LISTEN TO PEOPLE TALK-
OH DRY UP!

DICK TRACY

CHESTER GOULD

ALL RIGHT - EASY, BOYS! 'T'S TRACY - THEY WERE GOING TO TAKE HIM FOR A RIDE.

THE AMBULANCE AND PATROL WAGON WILL BE HERE IN A MINUTE TO PICK UP THESE BIRDS.

-PAT AND I WILL STAY RIGHT HERE TILL THEY'RE LOADED — AND COME IN WITH THEM, CHIEF!

DICK . . . IT'S ME..TESS! I WAS DRIVING THE OIL TRUCK THAT HAD THE G-MEN HID INSIDE. CAN YOU HEAR ME, DEAR?

AND, DICK- THIS IS JUNIOR! I WAS UP IN THE CAB OF THE TRUCK WITH MISS TESS. BOY, DID WE PUT ONE OVER ON THAT FAMON GANG!

HE - HE DOESN'T HEAR A WORD WE'RE SAYING.

STEP ON IT, CHIEF! WE'VE GOT TO GET TO THAT HOSPITAL IN TIME!

KEEP THEM COVERED, BOYS. I'LL CLIMB IN THEIR CAR AND TURN IT AROUND. THEN I'LL FOLLOW YOU IN BEHIND THE PATROL WAGON.

HEY! ARE YOU BIRDS TRYING TO BE FUNNY? WHO'S GOT THE KEY TO THIS CAR?

THAT CAR DON'T USE A KEY.... YOU JUST PULL —

STAND RIGHT WHERE YOU ARE- YOU GUYS!

DON'T SHOW ME WHAT TO DO— TELL ME!

NOW STAY RIGHT OVER THERE, YOU RATS! ONE MOVE TOWARD THAT CAR AND—

OKAY- OKAY- KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON.

OH YEAH -- I SEE IT.

OW! OW!

A MACHINE-GUN!
